I. INTRODUCTION

This is a case of factual innocence and gross prosecutorial misconduct violating petitioner's right to due process and a fair trial. Newly discovered evidence proves that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania intentionally manufactured and presented false evidence, and suppressed impeachment and exculpatory evidence, in order to convict Major Tillery for a murder he did not commit.

In 1985, petitioner, Major Tillery, was convicted of first-degree murder for the shootings of Joseph Hollis and John Pickens on October 22, 1976 in a poolroom in North Philadelphia, following which Joseph Hollis died. Tillery was sentenced to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole. He is now 69 years old and has been imprisoned for almost thirty-seven years, approximately twenty of which were spent in solitary confinement.

No physical evidence linked Tillery to the murder. None of the evidence recovered from the poolroom was linked to him. The central evidence against Tillery was the testimony of Emanuel Claitt, a serial, professional jailhouse informant who became an alleged eyewitness to the shootings while incarcerated, four years after the shootings took place, in 1980. The Commonwealth's other fact witness, Robert Mickens, was allegedly a lookout on the street and heard shots from inside the poolroom.

In the sworn declarations attached to this Petition, Claitt and Mickens both state, for the first time, that their trial testimony was entirely false, that their testimony was scripted and coached by the Commonwealth, and that neither were in or near the poolroom where the shooting took place on October 22, 1976. Nor do they have any personal knowledge of the shootings of Hollis and Pickens, or the events allegedly leading up to the shooting.

As detailed in their declarations and in this Petition, Claitt and Mickens were coerced into providing their testimony with threats of prison time on open charges. The Commonwealth concealed this coercion, along with multiple plea deals offered to both witnesses. Furthermore, the Commonwealth completely suppressed the existence of a set of open robbery charges for Claitt, whose dates closely track the dates of Tillery's case and which the Commonwealth eventually dismissed.

Claitt and Mickens corroborate each other regarding the practices employed by homicide detectives and prosecutors to obtain their false statements and present their perjured trial testimony. As they both relate, Detectives Lawrence Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert, among others, permitted Claitt and Mickens to have private sexual visits with girlfriends in the Police Administration Building (PAB) interview rooms. This is not the first time that Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert have been found engaging in identical misconduct. Commonwealth v. Lester, 572 A.2d 694 (Pa. Super. 1990) (voluntary manslaughter; reversal and new trial).

Petitioner is factually innocent of the crimes for which he was convicted. The declarations of Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens nullify the entirety of the evidence against Tillery at trial. They show that the Commonwealth committed gross prosecutorial misconduct and convicted him with intentionally manufactured, perjured testimony. He prays this Court, in the interests of justice, to:

- 1) Grant him an evidentiary hearing and discovery;
- 2) Reverse his conviction;
- 3) Bar re-trial, and
- 4) Order his immediate release.

II. ELIGIBILITY AND BASES FOR RELIEF

1. Petitioner's claims are based on his actual innocence, and on violations of his right to due process of law under the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. As such, Mr. Tillery is eligible for relief under the federal habeas corpus statute.

III. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

2. Petitioner, Major G. Tillery ("Tillery") was arrested and charged with murder in the first degree for the shooting death of Joseph Hollis, criminal conspiracy, possessing instruments of crime generally and aggravated assault under Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania docket number CP-51-CR-0305681-1984. His trial took place from May 2 - May 29, 1985. On May 29, 1985, Tillery was convicted on all counts. On December 9, 1986, Tillery was sentenced to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole on the first degree murder conviction, to run concurrently with a 1-2 year sentence on possession of instruments of crime generally and concurrently with a 5-10 year sentence on criminal conspiracy. A 5-10 year sentence on aggravated assault was to run consecutively to the life sentence. Tillery was represented at trial by attorney Joseph Santaguida.

3. On direct appeal, the Superior Court of Pennsylvania affirmed Tillery's conviction on May 30, 1999. Commonwealth v. Tillery, No. 3297 Philadelphia 1986, 563 A.2d 195 (Pa. Super. 1989) (unpublished memorandum), allocatur denied, Commonwealth v. Tillery, 593 A.2d 841 (Pa. Mar. 5, 1990).

Exhibit "P". Tillery was represented on his direct appeals by attorney James S. Bruno.

4. Petitioner filed his first PCRA petition in the Court of Common Pleas (CCP) of Philadelphia County on September 20, 1996. The petition claimed ineffective assistance of trial counsel, Joseph Santaguida, on the basis that Santaguida had an actual conflict of interest because he had previously represented John Pickens, one of the alleged victims in Tillery's case, during the Commonwealth's case against Tillery's alleged co-conspirator, William Franklin. The CCP denied the petition on timeliness grounds on January 13, 1998.

5. The Superior Court of Pennsylvania affirmed on appeal on April 21, 1999. Commonwealth v. Tillery, No. 523 Philadelphia 1998, 738 A.2d 1055 (Pa. Super. 1999) (unpublished memorandum), allocatur denied, Commonwealth v. Tillery, 742 A.2d 674 (Pa. Aug. 18, 1999). Exhibit "R". Petitioner was represented on his first PCRA petition by Richard P. Hunter.

6. Petitioner filed a pro se petition for habeas corpus relief in this Court on December 22, 1999. Tillery v. Horn, 2:99-cv-065160-BWK (E.D. Pa.). This petition also alleged ineffective assistance of his trial counsel, Joseph Santaguida, as the first PCRA petition had.

7. Initially, the District Court affirmed the magistrate judge's report and denied a hearing on October 30, 2000. The Court of Appeals granted a certificate of appealability on February 28, 2002 and clarified that its remand was for the purposes of a hearing on August 21, 2002. Tillery v. Horn, No. 00-3818 (3d Cir. 2002). Evidentiary hearings were held on April 23, 2003 and May 28, 2003, during which Tillery and Santaguida both testified. The District Court then denied relief on July 29, 2003. Exhibit "S".

8. Petitioner was represented in the District Court by Edward H. Wiley, who was appointed following remand from the Court of Appeals (No. 00-3818) on August 21, 2002.

9. Following the denial of relief on July 29, 2003, the Court of Appeals affirmed the District Court on July 29, 2005. Tillery v. Horn, 142 F. App'x. 66 (3rd Cir. 2005) (No. 03-3616). Exhibit "T". Tillery was represented in the Court of Appeals by Michael J. Confusione.

10. On August 13, 2007, Tillery filed a second PCRA petition pro se in the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County, with a Brady claim based on court records, including trial testimony in other cases, which provided information that Claitt was promised a sentence of "less than 10 years" and that Mickens had obtained parole assistance. Exhibit "U". The petition was dismissed by the Court of Common Pleas on September 9, 2008 on timeliness grounds.

11. The Superior Court of Pennsylvania affirmed on appeal on July 15, 2009. Commonwealth v. Tillery, 981 A.2d 937 (Pa. Super. 2009) (unpublished memorandum), allocatur denied, Commonwealth v. Tillery, 985 A.2d 972 (Pa. Dec. 9, 2009). Exhibit "V".

12. On June 15, 2016, Tillery filed a third PCRA petition pro se in the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County. Exhibits "W", "X". This PCRA petition was dismissed by the Court of Common Pleas on September 26, 2016 on timeliness grounds.

13. The Superior Court of Pennsylvania affirmed on appeal on June 11, 2018. Commonwealth v. Tillery, 193 A.3d 1063 (Pa. Super. 2018) (unpublished memorandum), allocatur denied, Commonwealth v. Tillery, 201 A.3d 729 (Pa. Feb. 6, 2019). Exhibits "Y", "Z". Tillery's Application for Reconsideration of the Denial of Allowance of Appeal was denied on May 1, 2019. Tillery was represented by Stephen P. Patrizio on the appeal.

14. Petitioner remains imprisoned at SCI Chester, serving a sentence of life without the possibility of parole.

IV. RELATED PENDING LITIGATION

15. Petitioner's alleged co-conspirator, William Franklin ("Franklin"), was tried from November - December 1980 for murder in the first degree, criminal conspiracy, possessing instruments of crime generally and aggravated assault under Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania docket number CP-51-CR-0527851-1980. On December 5, 1980, Franklin was convicted on all counts. Franklin was sentenced to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole on July 7, 1982.

16. Franklin filed a PCRA petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County on July 18, 2016, docket number CP-51-CR-0605611-1980. Franklin's petition was also dismissed by the Court of Common Pleas on September 12, 2017 on timeliness grounds.

17. The Superior Court of Pennsylvania reversed on appeal and remanded to the PCRA court for an evidentiary hearing on November 16, 2018. Commonwealth v. Franklin, 201 A.3d 854 (Pa. Super. 2018) (unpublished memorandum) (Exhibit "AA").

18. Both Tillery's and Franklin's PCRA petitions and subsequent appeals were based on Claitt's declaration,¹ and made the same argument: for purposes of the timeliness exceptions to the PCRA, 42 Pa. C. S. § 9545(b)(1)(i) and (ii), due diligence does not require the petitioner to seek out and interview Commonwealth witnesses known to have committed perjury at trial, nor is the petitioner required to make the unreasonable assumption that the Commonwealth improperly permitted those witnesses to commit perjury. Commonwealth v. Medina, 92 A.3d 1210 (Pa. Super. 2014); Commonwealth v. Davis, 836 A.2d 125 (Pa. Super. 2003), Commonwealth v. Loner, 836 A.2d 125 (Pa. Super. 2003); Commonwealth v. McCracken, 659 A.2d 541 (Pa. 1995).

V. STATEMENT OF FACTS

A. Background

19. A summary of the events of October 22, 1976, explaining the role of Emanuel Claitt ("Claitt"), was provided by the Superior Court of Pennsylvania on his direct appeal.

"The facts of this [case] have a rather long and tortuous past. At approximately 10:00 p.m. on October 22, 1976, Philadelphia police received a call to [an] address at Huntingdon and Warnock Streets in North Philadelphia. At that corner, they broke down the locked door of a poolroom operated by William Franklin and discovered the dead body of John Hollis [sic]. A medical examination later revealed that Hollis died of a gunshot wound to the trunk of his body. Inside the poolroom, the police found live and spent .38 caliber ammunition and a set of car keys. Around the corner from the poolroom at 2527 North 11th Street, police officers found John Pickens bleeding from a gunshot wound. He was treated at a hospital and survived his injuries. Both Pickens and Hollis were shot by different guns.

For more than three years, the shooting of Pickens and Hollis remained unsolved. However, in the spring of 1980, police detectives investigating the homicide of Samuel Goodwin visited a Philadelphia prison to determine if Emanuel [sic] Claitt, an inmate who had known Goodwin, could provide any information about Goodwin's death. The information Claitt provided went far beyond the Goodwin case. Claitt described in detail the operation of what he labeled the "black mafia", a crime syndicate run by black Muslims in Philadelphia. His information described a vivid picture of the events culminating with the shootings of Pickens and Hollis.

[The Superior Court's summary of Claitt's testimony is reproduced infra.]

Based on Claitt's information, the police obtained a warrant on May 23, 1980 for appellant's arrest. However, for three years the police were not able to serve the warrant because appellant could not be located. A detective in California finally arrested appellant in November, 1983. Appellant was returned to Philadelphia on December 8, 1983, to stand trial for the aforementioned charges."

- Commonwealth v. Tillery, No. 3297 Philadelphia 1986, 563 A.2d 195, pp. 2-5 (Pa. Super. 1989) (unpublished memorandum) (Exhibit "P").

B. Besides Emanuel Claitt's Testimony, No Direct Evidence Exists Against Tillery

20. As the Superior Court acknowledges, the case rested entirely on Emanuel Claitt's testimony.

21. No physical evidence from the scene, of any sort, was presented as evidence against Tillery.

22. No fingerprints were taken at the scene of the shooting. NT 10:83.²

23. The "set of car keys" described in the Superior Court's summary (Id., p. 2) were actually identified at the scene. The keys belonged to Fred Rainey, who was known to the Philadelphia police. Despite this, Rainey was never charged for the shootings. NT 13:12.

24. Eighteen hundred dollars was recovered from the scene of the shooting. The money was later released to Alfred Clark. NT 13:31.

25. Alfred Clark, who Claitt described as "the leader of the North Philadelphia branch" of the Philadelphia "black mafia", was detained by police in a car stop shortly after the shooting. Clark was never charged, either. NT 13:43-44.

² Petitioner indicates trial transcript pages in the format NT xx:yy. The number following NT (xx) is the date, in May 1985, of the testimony. The number following the colon (yy) is the page number.

26. A large plastic bag containing drugs, coats, a hat and glasses were also found in the poolroom. None of this evidence was linked to Tillery. NT 13:8; 13:33.

27. The surviving victim, John Pickens, made a statement to a homicide detective while in the hospital, and also made a written statement. Exhibit "E". Pickens stated that "Dave" and "Rickie" committed the shooting. No charges were brought against Tillery, nor were they brought against anybody else, as a result of Pickens' statement. NT 13:56-57. Pickens did not name Tillery, and affirmatively denied that William Franklin, Tillery's alleged co-conspirator, was involved when shown Franklin's police photo.

28. Pickens was not a witness at William Franklin's trial in November-December 1980. Nor was he a witness at Tillery's trial in May 1985. The Commonwealth never subpoenaed Pickens as a witness at Tillery's trial at all.³

Petitioner later learnt that, during William Franklin's trial, Santaguida had advised John Pickens not to testify on Fifth Amendment self-incrimination grounds. During Franklin's trial, Santaguida had stated that Pickens could not be located.

29. Despite the existence of physical evidence linking other individuals to the shooting, the detention of Alfred Clark shortly afterwards, and the failure of John Pickens to identify either Tillery or Franklin, no individuals were charged and the case remained "unsolved" until April/May 1980, when homicide detectives questioned Claitt, who was in jail for a parole violation and had 28 open charges against him. It was only after Claitt made a written statement, on May 20, 1980, that an arrest warrant was issued for Tillery.

30. Between January 1980 and May 1985, Claitt provided information to and/or testified for the Commonwealth against six other defendants: William Franklin, Fred Rainey, Robert Lark, James Brand, George Rose and Larry Frazier.

31. Petitioner's arrest took place more than seven years following the original shooting. His alleged co-conspirator, William Franklin, was tried five years before Tillery, in November-December 1980.

Santaguida's advice to Pickens not to testify on the basis of self-incrimination was the basis for Tillery's first PCRA petition and first federal habeas petition, which claimed ineffective assistance of counsel and an actual conflict of interest. Exhibits "Q", "S", "T". These claims are not raised in the instant petition. However, Petitioner explains this history to emphasize that he assiduously pursued the issue of presenting Pickens, at his own trial, as an exculpatory witness.

32. The prosecutor at Tillery's trial, Barbara Christie, secured Robert Mickens ("Mickens"), also a jailhouse informant, to testify as a corroborating witness. He alleged role was as a lookout on the street at the time of the shootings; he testified that he spoke with Tillery outside the poolroom and heard shots while standing watch outside.

33. The evidence against Tillery consisted entirely of the testimony of Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens. The only direct evidence supporting the Commonwealth's claim that Tillery committed the shooting came from Emanuel Claitt.

C. The Declarations of Emanuel Claitt

1. Claitt's Trial Testimony

34. The Superior Court's summary of Claitt's testimony follows. As discussed following the summary, Claitt's testimony is false, and the summary is also an inaccurate summary of the trial testimony in several respects. Tillery does not concede the veracity of these facts; he reproduces this summary solely to provide context for the declarations which follow.

"Claitt testified that from 1976 until 1980, he engaged in drug dealing and extortion as a member of the Philadelphia "black mafia". The organization divided the city into sections for business purposes. Alfred Clark was the leader of the North Philadelphia branch. He held the rank of first lieutenant and had 'the last word for all business in the city. Sylvester White directed the West Philadelphia branch. John Pickens also dealt drugs in West Philadelphia. During the [1970s], appellant held the rank of first lieutenant and 'had control of the entire city as far as methamphetamines is concerned . . . ' Claitt received his heroin supply from Clark and his methamphetamine supply from appellant. Clark and appellant were partners in the heroin and methamphetamine trade. Claitt characterized appellant as Clark's 'right hand man'.

On the night of October 20, 1976, Claitt, Clark, appellant, James Ravenell and [Fred] Rainey met at the home of Dana Goodman at 59th and Woodbine Streets to discuss a disagreement between Goodwin and Pickens over drug selling in West Philadelphia. Pickens arrived with Hollis and argued with Clark about a transaction in which Clark disposed of drugs claimed by Pickens at the expense of Pickens. During the argument, Hollis called Clark a 'gangster'. He then grabbed Clark by the collar, took out a pistol, slapped Clark in the face with the gun and pointed it at Clark as if he were about to shoot. Pickens stopped Hollis from firing the weapon, but appellant said that Hollis 'would have to die for what he did'. Although White was not present, Clark said he would talk to him and arrange a meeting at Franklin's poolroom to settle the dispute.

Thereafter, a group consisting of Clark, Claitt, Rainey, Ravenell and appellant met White at a mosque at 13th Street and Susquehanna Avenue in North Philadelphia. The group then drove to Franklin's poolroom. When they arrived at the poolroom, appellant accused White of setting up the earlier incident and demanded a meeting on Friday, October 22, 1976, to which White was to bring Pickens and Hollis. White agreed to the demand.

On the evening of Friday, October 22, 1976, Clark met the group outside the mosque. Clark made everyone surrender their weapons because a peaceful meeting was planned. The group then drove to the poolroom at Huntingdon and Warnock Streets. When they arrived, Clark instructed Claitt to remove two more guns from the group and then guard the door. Additionally, appellant arranged for one of his couriers, Robert Mickens, to watch outside the poolhall for police.

Inside the poolhall, appellant and Franklin sat at opposite ends of a table. Appellant told Hollis to apologize, but Hollis refused. Following a nod to Franklin, Appellant reached under the table and pulled out a gun. Franklin also reached under the table and pulled out a weapon. Appellant then shot Hollis in the back. When Pickens protested, appellant shot Hollis again and Franklin then shot Pickens. Pickens proceeded to run through a locked door shattering the glass.

William Arnold arrived immediately after the shootings and discovered Pickens holding his stomach. Pickens had collapsed from the wound. Arnold helped him to a house at 2527 North 11th Street where the police found him."

- Commonwealth v. Tillery, No. 3297 Philadelphia 1986, 563 A.2d 195, pp. 3-5 (Pa. Super. 1989) (unpublished memorandum) (Exhibit "P").

35. Claitt testified at trial that he first spoke to police in "Spring 1980". NT 14:8. He later narrowed this timeframe to April-May 1980. NT 14:78. He testified that sometime after March 18, 1980 and before May 20, 1980, he was questioned by a homicide detective named Brassey regarding the murder of Samuel Goodwin. NT 14:11-14. He was told that he was under investigation for the murder, "and [Goodwin's] death, like, somewhat touched me, you know." NT 14:13. Claitt "felt kind of bad about [the detective] accusing me of that." Id.

36. On May 20, 1980, Claitt gave a written statement to Detective Lawrence Gerrard, inculcating Tillery and William Franklin. NT 15:8. He testified that he made no agreement with the police prior to making that statement. NT

14:10-11, 78; 15-11. He specifically denied that there was any agreement for leniency on open cases, and also denied that he discussed any sort of leniency on open cases with his attorney. NT 15:13-14. He was impeached with a statement from Franklin's trial, in which he had been asked whether he was hoping for a deal and had responded "[e]ventually I was looking for something." Claitt denied this testimony from Franklin's trial; he testified that he never hoped for any deal when he made his statements to police. NT 15:11.

37. Under cross-examination, Claitt eventually admitted that his attorney was "sure that my punishment would be tempered with some type mercy behind me coming forth." NT 15:14.

38. Petitioner has unable to obtain a copy of Claitt's May 20, 1980 written statement. Further discovery will be necessary to locate a copy.

2. Claitt's Declaration of May 4, 2016

39. Emanuel Claitt made a verified declaration, under penalty of perjury, on May 4, 2016. Along with Robert Mickens' declaration, it led to the filing of Petitioner's third PCRA petition. It states:

"I submit this declaration stating that I lied when I testified at the trial of Major Tillery in May 1985 for the murder of Joseph Hollis and attempted murder of John Pickens on October 22, 1976.

I wasn't in the pool hall when Joseph Hollis was shot and killed and John Pickens shot and injured.

I wasn't anywhere near Joseph Hollis and John Pickens when they were shot.

I lied when I testified that Major Tillery and William Franklin were in the pool hall and shot Hollis and Pickens.

I was in prison in 1980 on serious charges and I was approached by Philadelphia detectives Larry Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert. They threatened to charge me with the murder of Samuel Goodwin. I had eight or nine open cases, at least three of them were felonies with a lot of years of prison time.

I was threatened about the murder of Samuel Goodwin. The detectives really wanted information to get Major Tillery for murder.

Detectives and prosecutors ADA Lynn Ross and Barbara Christie promised if I said that Major Tillery and William Franklin were the shooters in the 1976 murder of Joseph Hollis and the attempted murder of John Pickens I wouldn't get state time in my many pending criminal charges and I wouldn't be charged in the murder of Samuel Goodwin, that I had nothing to do with.

I was threatened that I would get maximum prison time if I didn't cooperate to get Tillery and Franklin.

I was also allowed to have sex with my girlfriends (four of them) in the homicide interview rooms and in hotel rooms, in exchange for my cooperation.

Detectives Larry Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert, and Lt. Bill Shelton with the knowledge and direction of ADAs Lynn Ross, Roger King and Barbara Christie, promised me leniency, threatened me and allowed me private time for sex with girlfriends in the homicide interview rooms and hotel rooms.

Major Tillery couldn't be found when the prosecution wanted to arrest him. So Franklin was tried in December 1980 and I falsely testified against William Franklin at his trial for the 1976 murder of Hollis and attempted murder of Pickens. In truth, I wasn't in or near the pool hall when the shootings happened.

After Franklin's trial I tried to recant but Lt. Shelton threatened me and said I would be framed for another murder.

At Major Tillery's trial in 1985, I testified about a meeting and an argument that supposedly took place on October 20, 1976 between Alfred Clark the leader of North Philadelphia drug selling and those in charge of drug selling in West Philadelphia, including Joseph Hollis and John Pickens. This argument supposedly took place in the home of Dana Goodman. I testified that Major Tillery was there and after an argument and pistol slapping of Clark by Hollis, Major Tillery said that 'Hollis would have to die for what he did'.

This was not true. I was not at any such meeting and I didn't have any personal knowledge of this supposed argument and threat made by Major Tillery.

I also testified at Major Tillery's trial that after the argument in Goodman's house a group that included me as well as Clark and Major Tillery met at a mosque in North Philadelphia and drove a few blocks to a poolroom owned by William Franklin to demand Sylvester White, the head of the West Philadelphia drug selling, arrange a meeting with Hollis and Pickens.

None of this testimony was true. I had no involvement, if any of this actually happened.

I falsely testified that on October 22, 1976, I was standing by the door inside the pool hall during the meeting to prevent anyone from entering or leaving and that both Franklin and Pickens were in the pool hall.

I lied when I testified that I heard gunshots in the pool hall, saw Pickens and Hollins [sic] shot and that Major Tillery and Franklin were in the pool hall and that they were the shooters.

At Major Tillery's trial I was forced by ADA Barbara Christie to testify about the 'black mafia' and that they were run by Black Muslims in Philadelphia.

Before Major Tillery's trial, detectives instructed me to persuade Robert Mickens to become a witness against Major Tillery.

I was put in a police van to ride alone with Mickens back and forth from homicide up to the county holding prison on State Street, to make it clear to Mickens that he really had no choice, except to testify against Major Tillery.

I knew Robert Mickens before this and lied at Major Tillery's trial when I testified that I had never met or spoken with him.

I also falsely accused Major Tillery of placing a fire bomb on the front porch of Frank Henderson on Church Lane.

Everything I testified to at Major Tillery's trial and William Franklin's trial about witnessing an argument between Alfred Clark and Joseph Hollis, threats made by Major Tillery against John Pickens and the shootings at the pool hall a few days later was false.

My testimony was made up while being questioned by homicide detectives Gerrard and Gilbert and being prepped by ADAs Ross, Christie and King to testify against Major Tillery and William Franklin.

Detectives Larry Gerrard, Ernest Gilbert and ADAs Barbara Christie, Len Ross, Roger King interviewed me, and worked over my testimony to make sure Major Tillery and William Franklin were convicted of murder and attempted murder.

In exchange for my false testimony many of my cases were not prosecuted. I got probation. I was sentenced to just 18 months for fire bombing and was protected when I was arrested between the time of Franklin's and Tillery's trials.

After Major Tillery's trial I was told I hadn't done good enough, that I 'straddled the fence'. In 1989 I was convicted of felony charges and spent 13 1/2 years in prison for something I didn't do and [for which I was] framed by the ADA.

In 2014 I was given help by the prosecution in getting all my bond judgments dismissed on cases going back over 23 years.

I am now giving this verified declaration because I want to free my conscience. I need to be able to live with myself. It is vital I correct this.

I testified falsely against Major Tillery and William Franklin because I was threatened by the police and prosecutors with a murder prosecution for a crime I didn't commit. I was promised no state time for crimes I did commit if I lied.

I am ready to testify in court for Major Tillery and William Franklin and tell the truth that I lied against them at their trials, coerced by police and prosecutors."

3. Claitt's Declaration of June 3, 2016

40. Emanuel Claitt made a supplemental verified declaration, under penalty of perjury, on June 3, 2016. It states:

"I submit this supplemental declaration about my false, manufactured testimony against Major Tillery and William Franklin in the November 1980 and May 1985 trials for the murder of Joseph Hollis and attempted murder of John Pickens on October 22, 1976.

The police detectives and prosecutors I met with knew I didn't have any personal knowledge that Major Tillery and William Franklin were involved [in] or part of those shootings. They manufactured the lies I gave against Tillery and Franklin and coached me before the trials.

It was clear they knew I didn't have any direct knowledge of the shootings at the poolroom on October 22, 1976, that I wasn't there then or at the argument at Dana Goodman's house or meetings before the October 22, 1976 shootings.

For example: In our meetings I said ["]you know I wasn't there - you have to fill in the blanks.["] Detectives Gerard [sic], Gilbert, Lubiejewski, Lt. Shelton and ADA Ross would tell me, "you've got to say it this way." I was told "we've got to bring him down - you've got to help us." That meant I should lie. Barbara Christie told me: "You're the best. You should have been a lawyer." That meant I knew how to lie.

The prosecutor against William Franklin in 1980 was Lynn Ross. I met with him as well as ADAs who worked with Barbara Christie soon after I met with Lt. Bill Shelton and Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert and Lubiejewski. I met with ADA Roger King who also had me lie in another case.

I was coached by ADA Barbara Christie before Major Tillery's trial. She was worried about my first statement that John Pickens had gone through a glass door, She coached me to testify about a second door leading out of the poolroom and that it had been a glass door.

ADA Christie coached me how to answer the defense attorney's questions about whether I had plea deals or any agreements for leniency in sentencing for all the charges I faced back in 1980 when I first gave a statement about the shootings of Hollis and Pickens and since then.

ADA Christie coached me on this like ADA Lynn Ross did before I testified against William Franklin.

Back in 1980 when I testified at Franklin's trial I lied when I said that the only plea agreement was that my sentences on three cases would run concurrently. But I had been promised the DA's recommendation to receive no more than 10 years. In fact I got one and a half-years [sic].

When I was questioned about this at Major Tillery's case I repeated the lie that I had no plea deal about length of sentencing. ADA Christie knew that wasn't true.

I was scheduled to go to trial on my robbery case soon after the Tillery trial was over. ADA Christie coached me to stick to saying that the robbery case was 'open' and that there were no agreements about leniency and sentencing.

She coached me to just say I knew the judge would be told about my cooperation in Major Tillery's case and other cases. That's what I stuck to. But my testimony that there was no plea deal was a lie and ADA Christie knew that. She told me the robbery charge and other charges would be nolle prossed. And they were.

It was also a lie, known to ADAs Ross, Christie, King that Major Tillery and George Rose were involved in bombing/firebombing in 1979 and 1980 that I testified to in August 1985.

It was also a total fabrication that Major Tillery pulled a gun on me and threatened to shoot me in Philadelphia in early 1983.

I wasn't willing to tell the truth about the lies I testified to at these trials and that my false testimony was manufactured by the ADAs and police until now. It has taken me all these years to be willing and able to deal with my conscience and put aside my fears of retaliation by the police and prosecution for telling what really happened at those trials.

I am now ready and willing to testify in court for Major Tillery and William Franklin and tell the truth that I lied against them at their trials, coerced by police and prosecutors."

41. Emanuel Claitt subsequently affirmed the contents of both declarations in a video recording dated August 3, 2016. A copy of the recording is appended to this petition. Exhibit "C".

42. Emanuel Claitt now states that the entirety of his trial testimony was false. The Commonwealth manufactured all of Claitt's substantive testimony, including the events of October 22, 1976, the meetings leading up to the shooting, as well as Tillery's alleged attack on Claitt after the trial of William Franklin, which was invented to ascribe a retaliatory motive to Tillery.

43. Claitt was also instructed to lie about his plea agreements with the Commonwealth. He testified that he had no deal regarding his open charges, when in fact the robbery charges from his arrest of April 13, 1983 were later dismissed, and his robbery charges from May 1980, which were never disclosed to the defense at all, were also later dismissed. Claitt also made an undisclosed deal with the Commonwealth to receive reduced time on the charges to which he pled guilty on November 28, 1980. These charges and deals are detailed below in Part G of this Petition ("Plea Agreements and Open Charges Suppressed by the Commonwealth").

44. Claitt also testified, falsely, that he had no meetings with Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie except prior to Tillery's trial. In fact, ADA Christie threatened him with charges in the murder of Samuel Goodwin, as well as additional charges.

45. Claitt states that he received numerous sexual visits as an inducement for his false testimony, and that he was used by the Commonwealth to pressure Mickens into testifying falsely.

46. All these facts are new, were not previously known to Petitioner, and have never been asserted in any prior proceeding besides his third PCRA petition in 2016.

D. The Declaration of Robert Mickens

1. Mickens' Trial Testimony

47. Robert Mickens was not a witness at William Franklin's trial in 1980. He became a prosecution witness against Tillery in a statement given to detectives on September 26, 1984, eight years after the shootings. He became a prosecution witness after he had originally agreed to be a witness for Tillery.

48. Mickens was arrested on February 28, 1984 on charges of robbery and rape, and faced twenty-five years of imprisonment if convicted.

49. On September 26, 1984, Mickens gave a written statement in which he stated that he ran into Alfred Clark, Major Tillery and William Franklin on the steps of the poolroom on the night of the shooting. In the statement, Mickens stated that Alfred Clark asked him "where [he] was gone at," and Clark then said "we are supposed to be having a meeting here and a couple of guys are supposed to be coming from West Philly." Alfred then said, "You know how the police is if they see all these cars out here - they will start asking questions and knocking on doors." Clark then "asked me to look out to see if the police came and if they did to tap on the glass." Exhibit "I".

50. In April 1985, a month before Tillery's trial in May 1985, Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie met with Mickens. NT 21:109. Mickens looked over the statement, "corrected all errors that [he] made," and then signed his initials. Id. At this meeting, Mickens changed his statement to say that Major Tillery, instead of Alfred Clark, had asked him "where [he] was gone at," and that Tillery, not Clark, had said "we are supposed to be having a meeting here and a couple of guys are supposed to be coming from West Philly," and that Tillery, instead of Clark, said, "[y]ou know how the police is if they see all these cars out here - they will start asking questions and knocking on doors." Statement of Mickens, Sept. 26, 1980, p. 2 (Exhibit "I").

51. At the time Mickens made these alleged "corrections" to his statement at ADA Barbara Christie's behest, Alfred Clark was already dead. Statement of Mickens, Sept. 26, 1984, p. 5 (Exhibit "I").

52. Mickens testified at trial that he made the corrections of his own accord, and that nobody had coached him to make them. NT 21:115.

53. Mickens testified that while walking down the street in front of the poolroom at approximately 9:45 p.m. on the night of the shooting, he was asked by Tillery to be an outside "lookout" to watch for patrolling police cars. NT 21:36.

54. Mickens testified that Tillery was on the poolroom steps with Franklin and Alfred Clark. NT 21:35-60. He testified that Tillery asked him "can I look out for the police. Because they was having a meeting there. Couple of people coming in from West Philly . . . I told him I would look out. He said if the police came, to tap on the glass of the poolroom." NT 21:36.

55. In Mickens' written statement of September 26, 1980, he stated that Alfred Clark had told him to tap on the glass of the poolroom if police came. Statement of Mickens, Sept. 26, 1980, p. 2 (Exhibit "I").

56. Mickens testified that he did not witness, and did not know, what happened inside the poolroom, but "some time after," heard gunshots. NT 21:97.

57. Mickens also testified that he was asked to, and agreed to be, an alibi witness for Tillery back in 1976, a few days after the shootings. NT 21:15. He originally testified that he did it to keep Tillery's friendship, but later testified that he did it because he was in fear for his life if he refused. NT 21:19, 58.

58. Mickens was a surprise witness for the Commonwealth, kept secret from Tillery via a protective order pursuant to then-Pennsylvania Rule of Criminal Procedure 305(F), until he was called to the witness stand. The basis for the protective order was that Mickens feared retaliation from Tillery if his identity as a prosecution witness was disclosed. The Commonwealth disclosed Mickens' September 24, 1984 statement just minutes before he testified.

59. Petitioner objected to the in camera proceeding which led to the protective order, on the grounds that there was no basis for a finding that Mickens needed protection from Tillery. The court overruled the objection and preserved the record of the ex parte petition. NT 21:2-13.

2. Mickens' Declaration of April 18, 2016

60. Robert Mickens gave a verified declaration on April 18, 2016, under penalty of perjury. It states:

"In May 1985 I falsely testified as a witness for the Philadelphia County District Attorney in the prosecution of Major George Tillery (CP-51-CR-0305681-1984) on murder charges.

The testimony I gave at that trial was false, manufactured by the prosecutor, Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie.

I was coerced and promised favors if I falsely testified against Major Tillery.

I was arrested on February 28, 1984 on charges of robbery and rape and faced twenty-five years of imprisonment if convicted.

ADA Christie told me that if I 'worked with [her] on the Major Tillery case' she 'guaranteed' I wouldn't be sent upstate on my robbery and rape case and would be "protected".

ADA Christie and her homicide detectives, John Cimino and James McNeshy, repeatedly brought me in for questioning on a number of robbery and murder cases, asking me to become a prosecution witness against Major Tillery.

On one occasion ADA Christie showed me what looked like a paper signed by Major Tillery saying that I was going to be an alibi witness for him. I told her I was.

I was brought down by homicide detectives to tell me that co-defendants Kenneth Pernell and Darry Workman were accusing me of being involved in the murder of Abe Green, a neighbor of the men.

When I agreed to become a witness against them, because Darry Workman had confessed to me that he had shot Abe Green, I was transferred out of the Philadelphia area to a prison in Easton, PA, Northampton County Prison for my protection.

Before the preliminary hearing and my cooperation with the prosecution was publicly known, this information was released and an article appeared in the Philadelphia Daily News saying that I was a witness against Pernell and Workman. This put me at risk as a known 'snitch'. I complained to ADA Christie and she promised to take care of me.

I was brought down from Easton, supposedly to meet with the homicide detectives in Philadelphia. Instead I was put in a police van with Emanuel Claitt, who [had] already testified against Major Tillery's co-defendant. I rode back and forth from police headquarters to the county prison on State Street with Claitt, but [was] never taken from the van.

Claitt told me I was 'pretty hemmed up' and that Major Tillery was a 'slime', that Major Tillery had been spreading the word that I was a snitch and that I should testify against Major Tillery.

I told detectives Cimino and McNeshy that I missed my girlfriend Judy Faust. I was given an hour and a half private visit with her in an interview room in the police headquarters so that we could have sex.

I was a secret witness for the prosecution at trial.

My identity as a prosecution witness was kept from Major Tillery and his lawyer before I was called as a witness at the trial on the false grounds that I needed a protective order to protect me from Major Tillery.

That was not true. I had told Major Tillery that I would be a witness for him at the murder trial of John Hollis [sic]. He had no reason to think I would be a witness against him. I had no contact with Major Tillery once I was sent to Northampton County Prison. I did not fear him or ask for protection from Major Tillery.

At the trial I falsely testified that I was a look-out during the shooting of John Hollis [sic] and John Pickens. That was totally false. My entire testimony was scripted and rehearsed by ADA Barbara Christie.

I agreed to give this false testimony because I was I [sic] promised no prison time on the rape and robbery charges and that I would be protected by the prosecution. I was given sexual favors in exchange for my false testimony.

When I was sentenced on October 10, 1985 after my guilty plea of rape and criminal conspiracy, I didn't get prison time. I was sentenced to five years probation.

I didn't come forward earlier to recant and explain because of my own guilt for falsely testifying against Major Tillery and my fear of retaliation by the prosecution and police.

Much in my life has changed. I want to make amends for falsely testifying against Major Tillery. I am willing and ready to be a witness in any proceeding brought to challenge his conviction."

61. Robert Mickens states that his trial testimony was "totally false," and that his "entire testimony was scripted and rehearsed by ADA Barbara Christie". He never saw Tillery, Alfred Clark, William Franklin or anybody else near the poolroom on the evening of October 22, 1976. The entire narrative he provided in his written statement of September 26, 1984 was false.

62. Mickens also lied about his plea agreements with the Commonwealth. He testified at trial that he had an "open plea" on his rape and robbery charges. In fact, he had an agreement with the Commonwealth that he would do no prison time. After Tillery's trial, Mickens received probation.

63. Mickens also states that he received sexual visits as an inducement to testify falsely. Like Claitt, he recounts being in a police van with Claitt so that Claitt could put pressure on him to testify against Tillery.

64. All these facts are new, were not previously known to Petitioner, and have never been asserted in any prior proceeding besides his third PCRA petition in 2016.

E. Corroborative Evidence: Helen Ellis, Denise ("De De") Certain and the Roundhouse Logs

65. Rachel Wolkenstein, an attorney assisting Tillery, executed a declaration on September 6, 2016 in which she stated:

"I am an attorney at law, admitted to practice in the State of New York since 1974, residing in Brooklyn, NY.

This declaration is submitted in support of the Supplemental Petition filed by Petitioner.

Since approximately February 2015, I have assisted Major Tillery pro bono, in his efforts to overturn his conviction, to obtain and review his court records, and those of the witnesses against him, to conduct limited investigation and help him find pro bono legal representation in upcoming legal proceedings. In April 2016 I had [a] phone call with Robert Mickens in which he said that he would provide an affidavit and was willing to testify on behalf of Major Tillery.

We met on April 18, 2016 and for the first time [he] described why he had lied when he testified against Major Tillery at his trial. Robert Mickens recounted to me the combination of threats and favors he received from detectives and prosecutors to coerce and induce him to testify falsely. He described how the prosecutors coached him to answer questions about what he supposedly saw on the night of the shootings and to deny he received any plea deals.

I typed up the key points of what he told me. This was reviewed by Mr. Mickens and he signed his verified declaration that same day.

Mr. Mickens disclosed why his false testimony was sought by the prosecution and police and how it was obtained. He disclosed the van ride with Emanuel Claitt between the Roundhouse and the county prison on State Road during which Mr. Claitt pushed him to testify against Major Tillery.

Mr. Mickens also disclosed that homicide detectives arranged for his girlfriend to join him in the Roundhouse for a sexual encounter. Mr. Mickens was quite emotional in describing this and expressed pain and regret about his role in Major Tillery's conviction.

It was a surprise when shortly after this a lead resulted in learning that Emanuel Claitt, whose testimony was the sole evidence against Major Tillery, was willing to meet and indicated that he needed to finally tell the truth about his false testimony against Major Tillery and William Franklin, who was the co-defendant in the case and was tried three years earlier than Petitioner.

I met with Emanuel Claitt on May 3, 2016 and he told me that his trial testimony against Major Tillery and William Franklin was totally false, that he [Claitt] wasn't even in or near the poolroom that night and he had no personal knowledge of the [sic] who shot Joseph Hollis and John Pickens. Emanuel Claitt described the process of the detectives and prosecutors obtaining his false statement and preparing him to testify. I took notes in speaking with Mr. Claitt and met him the next morning, May 4, 2016 with a typed up declaration. He made some corrections and signed the declaration under penalty of perjury. I spoke with him again on the phone and in person on June 3, 2016 and he signed a supplemental declaration.

I met with Emanuel Claitt again on August 3, 2016. During this meeting he gave me the names of three of the women who he had sex with while in police custody. One woman, Barbara Claitt[,] is deceased. He also told me that Helen Ellis, who is the mother of three of his children, saw him in the Roundhouse a number of times for the purposes of having sex. A third woman, Denise Certain ('De De') was another woman who he saw at the Roundhouse.

On August 3, 2016, Emanuel Claitt agreed to be videotaped. I taped Emanuel Claitt as he reaffirmed his sworn declarations and read a statement that is a composite of his two verified declarations. This videotape is submitted as an exhibit to the Supplemental Declaration. [citation omitted.]

I located Helen Ellis on August 4, 2016 outside her home and spoke with her briefly. She acknowledged that she had sex with Emanuel Claitt in the Roundhouse homicide interview rooms and that arrangements were made with detectives who brought her up to him.

Based on the information received from Emanuel Claitt, I located Denise Certain.

With the information received from Robert Mickens, that included being put in a police van alone with Emanuel Claitt to give Claitt the opportunity to persuade Mickens to falsely testify against Major Tillery, and that homicide detectives had facilitated sexual encounters for both men with their respective girlfriends in the Roundhouse, I attempted to obtain documentary corroborative evidence.

This included research in public records and the filing of requests pursuant to the RTKL for: Roundhouse log-in records for periods from 1980 through 1985, covering Emanuel Claitt's and Robert Mickens' periods of incarceration; and prisoner transport records between the PAB building and the detention center on State Road; and regarding Robert Mickens, transport records between the Northhampton County prison and Philadelphia in late 1984-1985. These requests were denied, appealed and reviewed. Both the Philadelphia Police Department and Northhampton County state they have searched and cannot locate these records and were likely not retained . . .

I learned of other murder convictions from the same years (mid-80s) that involved the same detectives as those who worked with Emanuel Claitt, Det. Lawrence Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert and a similar modus operandi in obtaining convictions - providing sexual favors to prisoner informants.

On August 25, 2016[,] I visited Andre Harvey, a lifer imprisoned at SCI Graterford, and he gave me documents that he had acquired when he challenged his conviction in a 1995 PCRA, in part on grounds that the prosecution witnesses against him had been provided sexual favors to falsely testify against him. Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert were central to that.

Andre Harvey gave me copies of the 17 pages of 'sign-in and out logs at the Roundhouse' secured by his then investigator Paul J. Paris. This was just 17 pages of 80 from the period of June 1 - December 31, 1983. In looking over those pages, I saw that on page 192, the log-in sheet for December 14, 1983, Emanuel Claitt signed in under Det. Gilbert and his girlfriend Denise Certain signed in under Det. Gerrard. Andre Harvey said that he doesn't have any other portion of the Roundhouse log in sheets.

On behalf of Petitioner, Major Tillery, I am continuing in the search for additional records that corroborate the Commonwealth misconduct that permeates the conviction of Major Tillery for crimes he did not commit on August 3, 2016."

66. A copy of the Police Administration Building (PAB) log-in sheet for December 14, 1983, provided to Tillery by Andre Harvey, is attached to this Petition. Exhibit "G".

67. In the PAB log book for December 14, 1983, Detective Lawrence Gerrard signed "Manny Claitt" into the homicide interview room at 8:50 a.m. No exit time is provided. At 11:45 a.m., "Denise Certain" was signed into the homicide interview room, leaving at 1:30 p.m., establishing overlapping visiting times. Exhibit "G".

68. This is not the first time that Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert have been found engaging in identical misconduct. Commonwealth v. Lester, 572 A.2d 694 (Pa. Super. 1990) (voluntary manslaughter; reversal and new trial).

69. The Declaration of Ms. Wolkenstein establishes the following:

- Emanuel Claitt stated (Declaration, May 4, 2016) that "I was allowed to have sex with my girlfriends (four of them) in the homicide interview rooms and in hotel rooms, in exchange for my cooperation." The Wolkenstein Declaration gives the identities of three of these women.
- Two of the women named by Claitt, Helen Ellis and Denise Certain, verify his account. Helen Ellis admits to the sexual visits, and Denise Certain's signature is in the PAB log book, verifying that they were, in fact, admitted to the PAB interview rooms by detectives to have sex with Emanuel Claitt. They thus confirm that police wrongly provided sexual incentives to induce Claitt to testify falsely. This misconduct was not disclosed to Tillery.
- The Roundhouse logs provided by Andre Harvey verify that, on December 14, 1983, Denise Certain did, in fact, visit Emanuel Claitt for sex.
- The evidence provided by Ellis, Certain and Harvey supports Mickens' statement that:

"I told detectives Cimino and McNeshy that I missed my girlfriend Judy Faust. I was given an hour and a half private visit with her in an interview room in the police headquarters so that we could have sex."

- Declaration of Robert Mickens, April 18, 2016 (Exhibit "D").

- Tillery has assiduously attempted, using public records searches, to obtain additional documentary evidence corroborating both the sexual inducements offered by police and the police's placement of Claitt with Mickens to pressure Mickens into testifying falsely against Tillery.

x. All these facts are new, were not previously known to Petitioner, and have never been asserted in any prior proceeding besides his third PCRA petition in 2016.

F. Specific Instances of Prosecutorial Misconduct Shown By Claitt's and Mickens' Declarations

70. The declarations of Claitt and Mickens nullify the entirety of the Commonwealth's evidence against Tillery at trial. The two were the only alleged fact witnesses, and Claitt supplied the only direct testimony that Tillery committed the shooting. However, for purposes of clarity and to assist the court's assessment of the extensive prosecutorial misconduct in this case, Tillery enumerates specific instances of trial testimony which these declarations, on their face, now demonstrate to have been false.

71. In addition to knowingly permitting false testimony, the Commonwealth committed intentional prosecutorial misconduct by vouching for the veracity of this perjured testimony, as well as affirmatively representing, during hearings, sidebar conferences and in opening and closing statements, that the evidence was reliable and that there were no agreements for leniency between the Commonwealth, Claitt and Mickens.

72. These instances are not exhaustive but rather illustrative. The testimony of Claitt and Mickens will reveal additional instances of perjury and prosecutorial misconduct.

1. The Commonwealth Solicited Perjured Testimony Concerning the Circumstances Leading to Claitt's Statement to Police

73. Claitt testified at trial that he was questioned by a homicide detective named Brassey concerning the circumstances of Samuel Goodwin's death in April-May 1980. Claitt "felt kind of bad" on learning of Goodwin's death and revealed information, which he initially claimed to have obtained from third parties,⁴

⁴ Claitt initially testified that he told police he had obtained the information about the Hollis/Pickens shooting from third parties. On cross-examination, he denied that he had said this, and claimed he stated from the very beginning that he had personally witnessed the shootings. NT 14:13, 16:8-10.

concerning the death of Goodwin, and also supplied information regarding the shooting of Hollis and Pickens:

"Q. Why did you talk to the police in 1980?

A. Well, homicide detective by the name of Brassey came to visit me at the institution, Philadelphia Detention Center and he was questioning me in reference to a killing of Samuel Goodwin who was a friend of mine.

Q. All right. And what if anything - continue, please. You say a detective came to question you concerning the death of Samuel Goodwin. How was - when was Mister Goodwin killed? Do you know?

A. March 18th, 1980.

Q. All right. Continue, Mr. Claitt.

A. He came and questioned me as to say that he had heard - they had heard a homicide as far as their informants were concerned. That I knew the incident and the things that occurred to bring about Samuel Goodwin's death, which at the time I said to him that - that he was wrong in accusing me and wherever he got this information. They were wrong.

And he said to me, he said that, well, I'm the one. I'm under investigation for it. And he wanted me to know that - you know, that they were going to get to the bottom of it.

So during the discussion, I had told him, you know, like, Mister Goodwin was a close friend of mine and his death, like, somewhat touched me that, you know. I felt kind of bad about him accusing me of that.

But I did let him know at that time - I said, you accusing me which you know I'm not - not the guilty one. And I told him information regarding who was responsible for Goodwin's death.

Q. Okay. During the course of that conversation, or contact, did you have occasion to further speak to the police concerning your knowledge of the death of Joseph Hollis?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. And what if anything caused you to speak to the police at that time in the Spring of 1980 concerning the death of Joseph Hollis and any other matters you spoke to them about?

A. Well, the reason was I told the detective after telling him about I had nothing to do with the Goodwin incident and I knew who was responsible. He asked me did I want to come down and talk to his lieutenant in detail about the incident that I knew about which I mentioned that I knew and seen a witness shoot to death Joseph Hollis in the poolroom October 27th - 22nd, 1976.

And he asked me did I want to come down and talk to his lieutenant about it. I told him that I would - I would like to talk about the incident but I wanted to have - confer with my lawyers first.

Q. And did you do so?

A. Yes, I did."

- Direct examination of Emanuel Claitt, NT 14:11-14 (emphasis added)

74. Claitt also testified that, prior to his written statement to the police in April-May 1980, he had no agreement for leniency with the police or the District Attorney's office. NT 14:9-10, 14:78.

75. Contrary to his trial testimony, Claitt did not spontaneously volunteer information about Samuel Goodwin out of altruism, or because he "felt kind of bad". In actuality, Claitt was approached by detectives Larry Gerrard and Ernest

Gilbert while "in prison in 1980 on serious charges." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2017 (Exhibit "A"). Claitt was not simply told that he was merely "under investigation", following which he had an attack of conscience because Samuel Goodwin was his friend. In actuality, Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert "threatened to charge [Claitt] with the murder of Samuel Goodwin." Id.

76. The police targeted Tillery during their interrogations of Claitt. Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert "really wanted information to get Major Tillery for murder." Id. Claitt was "threatened that [he] would get maximum prison time if [he] didn't cooperate to get Tillery and Franklin". Id.

77. Claitt states that "prosecutors ADA Leonard Ross and Barbara Christie promised if I said that Major Tillery and William Franklin were the shooters in the 1976 murder of Joseph Hollis and the attempted murder of John Pickens I wouldn't get state time in my many pending criminal charges and I wouldn't be charged in the murder of Samuel Goodwin . . ." Declaration of Claitt, May 4, 2016 (emphasis added) (Exhibit "A").

78. At Tillery's trial, Claitt testified that he had never spoken to ADA Barbara Christie before Tillery's trial. NT 16:101. On cross examination, he was impeached using his testimony in an unrelated case (Philip Frazier) in which he had testified that he had, in fact, spoken with Christie before. In response, Claitt admitted that he had spoken with Christie in 1982, but claimed that their conversation never concerned Tillery's case. NT 16:101-102.

79. In fact, Claitt did meet with Barbara Christie concerning Tillery's trial at the very beginning, in April-May 1980 when he was incarcerated for a parole violation. Christie had an agreement with him that he would not get state time in his charges (see Part G, below, on plea deals) and she agreed not to charge Claitt in the murder of Samuel Goodwin. Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2017 (Exhibit "A").

80. ADAs Christie, Ross and King also coached Claitt on what to say during the trial. Claitt stated during those meetings "you know I wasn't there - you have to fill in the blanks." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (Exhibit "B").

2. The Commonwealth Suppressed an Attempted Recantation by Emanuel Claitt

81. Emanuel Claitt states that he attempted to recant his false testimony after Franklin's trial. He was threatened by Lieutenant Bill Shelton, who stated that "[Claitt] would be framed on another murder" if he recanted. (Declaration, May 4, 2016.)

82. Claitt's attempted recantation of his perjured testimony was not disclosed to Tillery prior to trial.

3. The Commonwealth Solicited Perjured Testimony Concerning Mickens' Meetings With ADA Barbara Christie

83. Robert Mickens was arrested on February 28, 1984 on charges of robbery and rape, and faced twenty-five years of imprisonment if convicted.

84. On September 26, 1984, Mickens gave a written statement in which he stated that he ran into Alfred Clark, Major Tillery and William Franklin on the steps of the poolroom on the night of the shooting. In the statement, Mickens stated that Alfred Clark asked him "where [he] was gone at," and Clark then said "we are supposed to be having a meeting here and a couple of guys are supposed to be coming from West Philly." Alfred then said, "You know how the police is if they see all these cars out here - they will start asking questions and knocking on doors." Clark then "asked me to look out to see if the police came and if they did to tap on the glass." Exhibit "I".

85. In April 1985, a month before Tillery's trial in May 1985, Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie met with Mickens. NT 21:109. Mickens looked over the statement, "corrected all errors that [he] made," and then signed his initials. Id. At this meeting, Mickens changed his statement to say that Major Tillery, instead of Alfred Clark, had asked him "where [he] was gone at," and that Tillery, not Clark, had said "we are supposed to be having a meeting here and a couple of guys are supposed to be coming from West Philly," and that Tillery, instead of Clark, said, "[y]ou know how the police is if they see all these cars out here - they will start asking questions and knocking on doors." Statement of Mickens, Sept. 26, 1980, p. 2 (Exhibit "I").

86. At the time Mickens made these alleged "corrections" to his statement at ADA Barbara Christie's behest, Alfred Clark was already dead. Statement of Mickens, Sept. 26, 1984, p. 5 (Exhibit "I").

87. Mickens testified at trial that he made the corrections of his own accord, and that nobody had coached him to make them, despite the presence of ADA Christie. NT 21:115.

88. Mickens also testified that, between his arrest in February 1984 and his statement in September 1984, he was not talking to the police about any information concerning homicides. NT 21:102.

89. Mickens testified that, in May of 1984, he had received "a threatening notice", not related to Tillery's case. After receiving this notice, he "took it to the administration and they put me in protective custody." NT 21:100.

90. Four months later, allegedly because of "rumors going around that [he] was talking to the police about different murder cases," he decided to speak to the police, in September 1984, concerning a number of murder cases, including the murder of Joseph Hollis, leading to his statement. NT 21:100-101.

91. Mickens testified that, between February and September 1984, he spoke to Tillery while they were both incarcerated on "D" block, that Tillery said that he didn't believe the rumors were true, and that Mickens stated that he was not speaking to the police. NT 21:104. At this point, Mickens gave an ambiguous answer when questioned by ADA Christie:

"Q. With regard to those rumors, what did you say to the defendant were you testifying concerning, other than matters - what did you tell the defendant about these rumors [that you were talking to the police]?"

A. I told him I wasn't.

Q. And were you at that time?

A. I had - I had speak to the police.

Q. All right . . ."

- Redirect examination of Mickens, NT 21:107-108 (emphasis added)

92. In fact, as Mickens now states, he was already talking to the police during the period from February - September 1984. The police were specifically targeting Tillery, and threatened Mickens with jail time on his open charges, as well as making promises of leniency to him. As Mickens relates:

"[Following my arrest on February 28, 1984 on robbery and rape charges,] ADA Christie told me that if I 'worked with [her] on the Major Tillery case' she 'guaranteed' I wouldn't be sent upstate on my robbery and rape case and would be 'protected.'

ADA Christie and her homicide detectives, John Cimino and James McNeshy, repeatedly brought me in for questioning on a number of robbery and murder cases, asking me to become a prosecution witness against Major Tillery. On one occasion ADA Christie showed me what looked like a paper signed by Major Tillery saying that I was going to be an alibi witness for him. I told her I was."

- Declaration of Robert Mickens, Apr. 18, 2016 (emphasis added) (Exhibit "D")

93. Mickens did not spontaneously decide that he was going to speak to the police in September 1984. His testimony at trial that he spontaneously decided to approach the police was false. He was approached by ADA Christie and the police with the specific objective of convincing him not to testify as an alibi witness for Major, and to turn him into a witness for the Commonwealth.

94. Mickens made an agreement with police and prosecutors that he would receive protection, leniency on his robbery and rape charges and visits for sex in exchange for testifying against Tillery. These meetings and the terms of the agreement were not disclosed to Tillery. Mickens falsely testified at trial, with the knowledge of ADA Christie, that he decided to come forward spontaneously.

4. The Commonwealth Suppressed Evidence That Claitt, On Behalf of the Commonwealth, Pressured Mickens

95. Claitt states that, before Tillery's trial, "detectives instructed me to persuade Robert Mickens to become a witness against Major Tillery. I was put in a police van to ride alone with Mickens back and forth from homicide up to the county holding prison on State Street, to make it clear to Mickens that he really had no choice, except to testify against Major Tillery." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (Exhibit "B").

96. Mickens confirms this account:

"I was brought down from Easton, supposedly to meet with the homicide detectives from Philadelphia. Instead I was put in a police van with Emanuel Claitt, who [had] already testified against Major Tillery's co-defendant. I rode back and forth from police headquarters to the county prison on State Street with Claitt, but never taken from the van.

Claitt told me that I was 'pretty hemmed up' and that Major Tillery was a 'slime', that Major Tillery had been spreading the word that I was a snitch and that I should testify against Major Tillery."

- Declaration of Robert Mickens, April 18, 2016 (Exhibit "D").

97. Claitt confirms that he lied at trial concerning his relationship with Mickens. He states "I knew Robert Mickens before [the trial] and lied at Major Tillery's trial when I testified I had never met or spoken with him."

98. The Commonwealth was aware that Claitt had pressured Mickens into testifying falsely against Tillery. The fiction that Mickens was at risk for being a snitch was maintained by the Commonwealth in its application for a protective order under then-Pennsylvania Rule of Criminal Procedure 305(F), which prevented Mickens' identity from being disclosed until immediately before he was called as a witness.

99. The Commonwealth was aware, at the time it applied for a protective order, that the order was based on false grounds. It concealed this information from Tillery, along with the fact Claitt was acquainted with Mickens and that they had themselves instructed Claitt to pressure Mickens into testifying.

5. The Commonwealth Suppressed Evidence of Illegal Sexual Visits Permitted to Claitt and Mickens as Inducements to Testify

100. Claitt states that police detectives and prosecutors arranged for sexual visits in exchange for his testimony, both in Tillery's case and other cases:

"I was also allowed to have sex with my girlfriends (four of them) in the homicide interview rooms and in hotel rooms, in exchange for my cooperation. Detective Larry [Lawrence] Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert, and Lt. Bill Shelton with the knowledge and direction of ADAs Roger King, Lynn [Leonard] Ross and Barbara Christie, promised me leniency, threatened me and allowed me private time for sex with girlfriends in the homicide interview rooms and hotel rooms."

- Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

101. Claitt provided the names of three of the women who were involved in the sexual visits. One woman, Barbara Claitt, is deceased. Two of the women named by Claitt, Helen Ellis and Denise Certain, verify his account. Helen Ellis admits to the sexual visits, and Denise Certain's signature is in the PAB log book, verifying that they were, in fact, admitted to the PAB interview rooms by detectives to have sex with Emanuel Claitt.

102. Petitioner was provided with pages from the Roundhouse log books from June 1- December 31, 1983 by Andre Harvey, an inmate imprisoned at SCI Graterford who had raised the same claims concerning wrongful sexual visitation provided to witnesses. In the pages he provided for December 14, 1983, Detective Lawrence Gerrard signed "Manny Claitt" into the homicide interview room at 8:50 a.m. No exit time is provided. At 11:45 a.m., "Denise Certain" was signed into the homicide interview room. She left at 1:30 p.m., establishing overlapping visiting times. Exhibit "G".

103. Mickens stated that "I told detectives Cimino and McNeshy that I missed my girlfriend Judy Faust. I was given an hour and a half private visit with her in an interview room in the police headquarters so that we could have sex. Declaration of Robert Mickens, April 18, 2016 (Exhibit "D").

104. The period of time that Mickens states Judy Faust was permitted to visit him corresponds to the length of Denise Certain's visit on December 14, 1983.

105. No information about the wrongful sexual incentives provided to Claitt and Mickens was disclosed to Tillery by the Commonwealth.

6. The October 20, 1976 Meeting, at Which Petitioner Allegedly Said "Hollis Would Have to Die", Never Happened

106. At trial, Claitt testified about an alleged meeting on the night of October 20, 1976 at the home of Dana Goodman, at 59th and Woodbine Streets, at which Alfred Clark got into an argument with Hollis and Pickens and was pistol-whipped by Hollis, leading Tillery to state that "Hollis would have to die for what he did."

107. This meeting never happened. Claitt states that "I was not at any such meeting and I didn't have any personal knowledge of this supposed argument and threat made by Major Tillery." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

7. The Conversation Between Alfred Clark and Sylvester White, Setting Up the October 22, 1976 Meeting, Never Happened

108. At trial, Claitt testified that a group consisting of Alfred Clark, Sylvester White, Emanuel Claitt, Fred Rainey, James Ravenell and Petitioner met at a mosque in North Philadelphia and drove a few blocks to Franklin's poolroom. At the poolroom, Clark accused White of setting up the earlier pistol-whipping and demanded a meeting on October 22, 1976 at the poolroom.

109. This meeting never happened. Claitt states: "None of this testimony [concerning the meeting at the mosque] was true. I had no involvement, if any of this actually happened." Declaration of Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

8. Emanuel Claitt Was Not Present During the Shooting on October 22, 1976

110. Claitt states that his entire testimony concerning his presence at the scene of the shooting was false:

"I falsely testified that on October 22, 1976, I was standing by the door inside the pool hall during the meeting to prevent anyone from entering or leaving and that both Franklin and Pickens were in the pool hall.

I lied when I testified I heard gunshots in the pool hall, saw Pickens and Hollins [sic] shot and that Major Tillery and Franklin were in the pool hall and that they were the shooters."

- Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

111. Claitt was not present at the shooting. The shooting did not transpire the way he described at trial, and Claitt certainly had no idea whether Petitioner was present at the poolhall on October 22, 1976.

9. Robert Mickens Was Not Present During the Shooting on October 22, 1976

112. Mickens states that his entire testimony concerning his presence at the scene of the shooting was false: "At trial I falsely testified that I was a look-out during the shooting of John Hollis [sic] and John Pickens. That was totally false. My entire testimony was scripted and rehearsed by ADA Barbara Christie." Declaration of Mickens, April 18, 2016 (emphasis added) (Exhibit "D").

113. On September 26, 1984, Mickens gave a written statement in which he stated that he ran into Alfred Clark, Major Tillery and William Franklin on the steps of the poolroom on the night of the shooting. As previously noted, Mickens states that the entirety of his September 26, 1984 statement (as corrected under ADA Christie's direction in April 1985), along with the entirety of his trial testimony, was fabricated by the Commonwealth. Mickens was not asked to be a lookout near the poolroom by Major Tillery, Alfred Clark, William Franklin or anybody else at all. He was not even present at the poolroom on October 22, 1976, and certainly did not hear any shots ring out in the poolroom.

114. The Commonwealth knew, at trial, that Mickens' testimony was false. ADA Barbara Christie created the perjured testimony that Mickens would provide at trial.

10. The Commonwealth Solicited Perjured Testimony Concerning Petitioner's Involvement in the Firebombing of Frank Henderson's House

115. Claitt states that he "falsely accused Major Tillery of placing a fire bomb on the front porch of Frank Henderson on Church Lane." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A"). He states that "it was a lie, known to ADAs Ross, Christie, King that Major Tillery and George Rose were involved in bombing/firebombing in 1979 and 1980 and that I testified to in August 1985." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (Exhibit "B").

11. The Commonwealth Solicited Perjured Testimony Concerning Petitioner's Attack on Claitt in 1982

116. At trial, Claitt testified that, after testifying in William Franklin's trial, he was released on parole. Following his release, he alleged that Tillery attempted to shoot him in 1982:

"Q. Okay. And under what circumstances did you run into Mister Tillery or he into you on that occasion?

A. Well, I had come to the intersection of - of Kimball and Nedro Avenue

And I was going there to meet a gentleman by the name of Donald Lattimere who was an associate of mine in the drug world. Upon my arrival there, I had a female in a 1981 Fleetwood of mine and when I pulled up on the corner near the telephone booth, I left my car running and as I got out to meet Donald on the corner, a friend of mine sig - signalled me to go back.

[Tillery counsel objected on hearsay grounds.]

Q. Without telling us, interpreting the signal, what if anything did you then do or see?

A. Well, in the direction that he waved his - this person waved their hand, I looked in that direction, to - to see Tillery getting - getting out his car and he was running in a gesture where - where he had a gun in his hand but down, pointed down and he was, like, trying to creep up on me from across the street near Church Lane.

Q. And so, what if anything did you do about this sighting that you made?

A. Well, when - when I see that, by that time, I had got in my car and I had left my car running and I just proceeded to just get away from where Tillery was coming. And as I was driving off, which I - I pushed down on the accelerator very hard because I realized that he had a gun in his hand and I realized that I - he had knowledge of my testimony against him on a murder charge at a preliminary hearing against his codefendant but -"

- Direct examination of Emanuel Claitt, NT 14:90-92

117. Claitt now admits that "It was also a total fabrication that Major Tillery pulled a gun on me and threatened to shoot me in Philadelphia in early 1983."⁵ The incident was invented to depict Tillery supposedly retaliating against Claitt after the conviction of William Franklin.

12. The Commonwealth Misrepresented the Grounds for the Protective Order Concealing Mickens' Identity

118. When Tillery's counsel was first made aware that Robert Mickens was going to be a prosecution witness, immediately prior to Mickens testifying, Judge John A. Geisz held a hearing in chambers to hear objections to the protective order under then-Pennsylvania Rule of Criminal Procedure 305(F). During that hearing, Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie represented that Robert Mickens feared retaliation from Tillery for providing testimony against him.

⁵ At trial Claitt claimed this attack took place in 1982. NT 14:90. In his declaration, he states "early 1983".

119. During trial, Mickens testified on cross-examination that "[w]hen I was in prison I told [Major Tillery] I was going to do it [testify as an alibi witness for Tillery] because I was in fear of my life." NT 21:58.

120. In his declaration, Mickens states that the protective order was based on false grounds:

"My identity as a prosecution witness was kept from Major Tillery and his lawyer before I was called as a witness at the trial on the false grounds that I needed a protective order to protect me from Major Tillery.

That was not true. I had told Major Tillery that I would be a witness for him at the murder trial of John Hollis [sic]. He had no reason to think I would be a witness against him. I had no contact with Major Tillery once I was sent to Northampton County Prison. I did not fear him or ask for protection from Major Tillery."

- Declaration of Robert Mickens, April 18, 2016 (Exhibit "D")

121. Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie affirmatively and knowingly misrepresented that Mickens feared retaliation from Tillery at trial. ADA Christie also misrepresented that Mickens feared retaliation at the Rule 305(F) hearing.

122. The Commonwealth also knew, at the time Mickens testified, that he did not actually fear retaliation from Tillery, and that this was a pretext for the protective order. The Commonwealth did not correct Mickens' testimony.

13. The Commonwealth Knew That Neither Claitt Nor Mickens Had Direct Knowledge of the Shooting

123. The Commonwealth actively coached Claitt and Mickens to provide false testimony inculcating Tillery. This included both their substantive testimony and testimony concerning plea deals and inducements offered to Claitt and Mickens.

124. Claitt states that:

"My testimony was made up while questioned by homicide detectives Gerrard and Gilbert and being prepped by ADAs Ross, Christie and King to testify against Major Tillery and William Franklin.

Detectives Larry Gerrard, Ernest Gilbert and ADAs Barbara Christie, Len Ross and Roger King interviewed me, and worked over my testimony to make sure Major Tillery and William Franklin were convicted of murder and attempted murder."

- Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

x. He later clarified the content of these meetings:

"The police detectives and prosecutors I met with knew I didn't have any personal knowledge that Major Tillery and William Franklin were involved or part of those shootings. They manufactured the lies I gave against Tillery and Franklin and coached me before the trials.

It was clear they knew I didn't have any direct knowledge about the shootings at the poolroom on October 22, 1976, that I wasn't there then or at the argument at Dana Goodman's house or meetings before the October 22, 1976 shootings. For example, in our meeting I said ["you know I wasn't there - you have to fill in the blanks.["] Detectives Gerrard, Gilbert, Det. Lubiejewski and ADA Lynn Ross would tell me - "you've got to say it this way." I was told - "we've got to bring him down - you've got to help us." That meant I should lie. Barbara Christie told me, "You're the best. You should have been a lawyer." That meant I knew how to lie."

- Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (emphasis added) (Exhibit "B").

125. Mickens states that "My entire testimony was scripted and rehearsed by ADA Barbara Christie." Declaration of Robert Mickens, April 18, 2016 (Exhibit "D").

126. Claitt further states that "It was also a lie, known to ADAs Ross, Christie, King that Major Tillery and George Rose were involved in bombing/firebombing in 1979 and 1980 that I testified to in August 1985." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (Exhibit "B").

127. Claitt relates that he was instructed to lie about his plea deals:

"ADA Christie coached me how to answer the defense attorney's questions about whether I had plea deals or any agreements for leniency in sentencing for all the charges I faced back in 1980 when I first gave a statement about the shootings of Hollis and Pickens and since then. ADA Christie coached me on this like ADA Lynn Ross did before I testified against William Franklin.

Back in 1980 when I testified at Franklin trial I lie when I said that the only plea agreement was that my sentences on three cases would run concurrently. But I had been promised the DA's recommendation to receive no more than 10 years. In fact I got one and a half-years. When I was questioned about this at Major Tillery's case I repeated the lie that I had no plea deal about length of sentencing. ADA Christie knew that wasn't true.

I was scheduled to go to trial on my robbery case soon after the Tillery trial was over. ADA Christie coached me to stick to saying that the robbery case was "open" and that there were no agreements about leniency and sentencing. She coached me to just say I knew the judge would be told about my cooperation in Major Tillery's case and other cases. That's what I stuck to. But my testimony that there was no plea deal was a lie and ADA Christie knew that. She told me the robbery charges & other charges would be nolle prossed. And they were."

- Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (emphasis added) (Exhibit "B").

G. Plea Agreements and Open Charges Suppressed by the Commonwealth

128. As the discussion below explains, the Commonwealth intentionally concealed the plea deals which it made with Claitt and Mickens and coached them to testify falsely about those deals. It also intentionally concealed the very existence of charges which undermined Claitt's credibility.

129. Claitt testified, and Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie repeatedly emphasized, that when Claitt spoke to police in April/May 1980, and gave his written statement to police on May 20, 1980, he had no expectation of favorable treatment. ADA Christie stated during her closing argument, and repeated during hearings, that Claitt had "no deal," and no expectation of any deal, up to the time of Tillery's trial.

130. In fact, the Commonwealth made the following deals with Claitt:

- The Commonwealth completely suppressed disclosure of robbery charges ("May 1980 robbery charges") for conduct which took place immediately prior to Claitt's incarceration in 1980 for a parole violation. The arrest for these charges took place immediately prior to Claitt's written statement inculcating Tillery, and the complaint was filed immediately prior to William Franklin's trial. After Tillery's trial, all these charges were nolle prossed. The Commonwealth suppressed both the charges themselves and the agreement with Claitt to dismiss the charges.
- The Commonwealth suppressed disclosure of its agreement with Claitt to nolle pross a second set of robbery charges ("1983 robbery charges"). Claitt and ADA Christie represented that there was "no deal" on these robbery charges and that Claitt would have to go to trial. In fact, after Tillery's trial, the Commonwealth nolle prossed these robbery charges.
- Claitt testified that he had made an "open plea", with no recommendation, on three charges from a group of five separate cases ("1978-1980 charges"). The judge in that case, who was aware of Claitt's informant status, gave Claitt a 1 1/2 year minimum sentence on charges for which Claitt faced 25-50 years, pursuant to an agreement Claitt made with the Commonwealth.

1. Emanuel Claitt

Relevant extracts from the trial record are reproduced below, showing the assertions made by Claitt and ADA Barbara Christie with respect to the deals Claitt had.

"Q. Mister Claitt - according - this incident [the shooting] happened in 1976, is that correct?

A. Right. October 19 - 22nd, 1976.

Q. And I think yesterday you told us that for 4 years after this incident you never told the police anything about it, is that correct?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And in [April/May] 1980, when you finally mentioned something to the police, you were in prison, correct?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And at that time you had 8 open cases, didn't you?

A. I don't think it was 8. I'm not sure, not the count.

Q. Now, Judge, excuse me. This is going to have to be a little difficult because I have to search through but would the Court indulge me.

(Pause.)

Q. Now, you testified in this matter once before, did you not, in the trial of William Franklin?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. And you remember at that time being asked certain questions by a lawyer?

A. Yeah, I recall.

Q. Something like this where you testified and answered questions?

A. I answered many questions, yes, sir.

Q. And that was what, a couple years ago, wasn't it?

A. 1980. That would be 4 to 5 years ago, right.

Q. And do you think that your memory was a little better about 1980 and about 1978 and 1976, was better then than it is now or do you think it was - it's better now?

A. Well, I would think as time goes by my memory might be a little off as far as specifics but, you know, I remember things that occurred back then.

Q. Right. But you say your memory is probably a little sharper back then. Is that correct?

A. I didn't - I didn't say that.

Q. Well, you think your memory is - would be a little better today?

A. No. I said as time goes on -

Q. You get fuzzier. So if you get fuzzier as time goes on, 4 years ago it had to be a little sharper than it is today, correct?

A. Yes. Somewhat.

Q. And at that time do you remember - this is on Chapter 3 or Volume 3 on Page 88. You were asked a question - this is the top of the page. And you had 8 open charges on you. Isn't that right? Answer: That's right. Do you remember that question and answer?

A. No. I don't recall - I recall the question but as far as the answer to the exact number of times, I don't recall that I said 8.

Q. Well, you didn't lie then. Were you lying?

A. Well - no, I didn't - I didn't lie. I told you when you asked me the question that you said 8 and I said well, I don't know the exact number.

Q. So if you said 8 then it probably was 8, correct?

Miss Christie: Your Honor, objection to probabilities.

Q. Well, it was 8 then, wasn't it?

The Court: Objection overruled.

A. If I said 8 back then, then I was - then it must - would have - must have been."

- Cross-examination of Emanuel Claitt, NT 15:3-6 (emphasis added).

131. Emanuel Claitt actually did not have "8 open charges" in May 1980, when he allegedly decided to speak to police because he "felt kind of bad" about the murder of Samuel Goodwin.

132. In May 1980, Emanuel Claitt had twenty-eight open charges.

133. He lied about his twenty-eight charges at Franklin's trial. Under cross-examination, he repeated the lie in Tillery's trial.

134. Claitt and ADA Barbara Christie also lied about his plea agreements with the Commonwealth:

"Q. . . . At some point after [1982], did you have occasion to be returned to custody for any reason?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And when, approximately, and under what circumstances were you -

A. April 21st, 1983, for charges of robbery and aggravated assault.

Q. All right. And are those charges outstanding today?

A. Those charges are pending before Judge Chiovero in Courtroom 453.

Q. All right.

A. His open charges that I have yet to be tried for.

Q. All right. And do you have any agreement or understanding with any member of the Commonwealth concerning - or District Attorney's office, concerning the disposition of those open charges?

A. Well, as to agreement, they - the District Attorney merely mentioned that they had did all the - all they were going to do for me at that point but they would do is make Judge Chiovero aware - in the event I got convicted of the charge, they would make him aware of my cooperation with the District Attorney's office in reference to the trials I have testified and the trials have yet still to testify in the very near future."

- Direct examination of Emanuel Claitt, NT 14:93-94 (emphasis added).

" . . . The witness has to testify to his understanding of the agreement.

And now the witness has indicated that there is no agreement, hasn't been any agreement with regard to sentencing on the open robbery. There is no agreement. He goes to trial on that.

And his understanding of any agreement he has with the Commonwealth is that the Commonwealth will make the Parole Board aware of his cooperation in this and the other cases."

- Barbara Christie, sidebar conference in chambers, NT 14:96 (emphasis added).

". . . Claitt talked to the police in May of 1980, with no deal but with a great desire, great desire for protection for himself and his family, particularly after he went public in court and testified in June of 1980 at a preliminary hearing December of 1980 at the Franklin trial.

Yes, Claitt was in and out of custody. He pled guilty to 3 crimes. He stood trial on 2 and he awaits trial on a third."

- Closing Statement of Barbara Christie, NT 28:90-91 (emphasis added).

135. In fact, Claitt never went to trial on the robbery charges discussed above (the 1983 robbery charges), on which he allegedly awaited trial with no agreement regarding sentencing. The Commonwealth nolle prossed all those charges on December 16, 1987.

136. Furthermore, the Commonwealth completely suppressed the existence of 13 open charges (the May 1980 robbery charges) for conspiracy, aggravated assault, robbery and firearms offenses (among other charges) for which Claitt was arrested on May 16, 1980: four days before Claitt provided his written statement to police inculcating Tillery and Franklin on May 20, 1980. Claitt was charged for this robbery in November 1980, the month of Franklin's trial.

137. These thirteen charges were never mentioned, in any form, by Claitt, never mentioned by ADA Barbara Christie during trial, and never disclosed to the defense.

138. The defense thus did not know, at trial, that Claitt had been arrested on thirteen felony charges four days before he gave his written statement to police inculcating Tillery, and for which he was charged during the month of Franklin's trial. Tillery's counsel was forced to cross-examine Claitt and accuse him of making a deal for leniency using solely Claitt's testimony that he made "open pleas" to his existing charges, with no expectation of consideration, and with only knowledge of the robbery charges (the 1983 robbery charges) that Claitt testified to, as opposed to the second, separate set of robbery charges (the May 1980 robbery charges) which the Commonwealth also nolle prossed, but which also closely track the dates of Claitt's involvement in Tillery and Franklin's trials.

139. The Commonwealth nolle prossed all thirteen charges (the May 1980 robbery charges) shortly after Franklin's sentencing, on April 13, 1982.

140. The Commonwealth suppressed the very existence of charges whose timing would have undermined Claitt's credibility and wrecked the cases against Franklin and Tillery. The Commonwealth also suppressed its deal with Claitt to dismiss those charges.

141. The Commonwealth knowingly permitted perjured testimony concerning the number and nature of Claitt's charges, and the plea deals Claitt had, to be presented to the jury. The Commonwealth affirmatively represented that all of Claitt's charges had been accounted for in its closing statement. Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie intentionally, affirmatively and repeatedly represented that Claitt "had no deal". This was completely false.

142. Petitioner now documents Claitt's criminal charges which are relevant to this case, cross-referenced with the relevant testimony, corroborating evidence, and the actual disposition of the charges.

Overview of Claitt's Charges

144. A summary of Claitt's charges, along with the available docket sheets, are attached to this petition. Exhibit "J". Some docket sheets are unavailable, and will require discovery to obtain.

145. In May 1980, the charges for arrest dates 4/7/1979, 1/6/1980, 5/2/1980 and 5/16/1980 were open, for a total of twenty-eight open charges.⁶

146. Claitt accumulated nineteen extra charges between May 1980 and Tillery's trial in May 1985, for a total of forty-seven charges.

147. Claitt was arrested on thirteen charges, including robbery, on May 16, 1980 (Docket No. CP-51-CR-1107131-1980). These charges were never disclosed to the defense at all.

148. Claitt was arrested on eight charges, including robbery, on April 13, 1983 (Docket No. CP-51-CR-0537641-1983). These charges were nolle prossed, despite the Commonwealth's representation that Claitt would stand trial on them.

May 8, 1975: Firearms Offenses (Judge Kubacki)

149. Claitt was arrested on May 8, 1975 and charged with possession of firearms by a felon, carrying firearms without a license, carrying firearms in a public street or place, providing a firearm to a minor, possessing instruments of crime and possessing a prohibited offensive weapon.⁷ Exhibit "J".

150. Claitt pled guilty to possession of firearms by a felon and carrying firearms in a public street or place on July 12, 1976. The Hon. Stanley L. Kubacki sentenced Claitt to 5 years' probation. Docket No. CP-51-CR-1222231-1975 (Exhibit "J").

151. At trial, Claitt stated that he "was incarcerated for a probation violation," presumably on this 5 year probation, and "was visited by a homicide detective" in April 1980. NT 14:8. Claitt testified that was still incarcerated for a probation violation on this charge in June 1980. NT 14:79.

152. Claitt testified that on June 4, 1980 - immediately following the preliminary hearing in William Franklin's trial - the Commonwealth appeared before Judge Kubacki, following which Claitt's detainer was lifted. NT 14:81, 15:15. Claitt was released on his own recognizance, on $11,000 bail.

153. Claitt testified that, in April and May 1980, at the time he gave his initial statement to the police, he had no agreement with the police. NT 14:10-11, 78; 15:11.

154. Claitt later testified that the understanding "that I had [with the Commonwealth] was that I was being released, you know, only on - on bail but I would have to go and, you know, fight the cases on my own with me and my attorney, with no - no helping from the District Attorney's office." NT 14:82-83.

155. ADA Barbara Christie stated in her closing statement that Claitt had given his statement "with no deal but with a great desire" for protection. She stated that even after Claitt had testified at the preliminary hearing and at trial in the Franklin case, in 1980, there was no deal. NT 28:90-91.

156. ADA Barbara Christie stated in chambers that "[Claitt's] understanding of any agreement he has with the Commonwealth [in Tillery's case] is that the Commonwealth will make the Parole Board aware of his cooperation in this and the other cases." NT 14:96.

157. ADA Christie affirmatively stated that there was "no deal" for Claitt's testimony in Tillery's trial. She also affirmatively stated that Claitt's deal was only limited to the Commonwealth informing the Parole Board of his cooperation.

November 30, 1978 Drug Charges; April 7, 1979 Auto Theft; January 5, 1980 Drug Charges; May 2, 1980 Auto Theft; August 8, 1980 Firebombing Charges (Judge Katz)

158. Claitt was arrested on November 30, 1978 for two charges, for drug possession and manufacture, including a sale of heroin to a DEA agent. Charges were filed on March 31, 1979. Docket No. CP-51-CR-0810671-1980 (Exhibit "J").

159. On April 7, 1979, Claitt was arrested and charged with theft, receiving stolen property and unauthorized use of an automobile (3 charges).⁸ Exhibit "J".

160. On January 5, 1980, Claitt was arrested and charged with drug possession, drug possession with intent to manufacture, criminal conspiracy, possessing instruments of crime, prohibited offensive weapons, carrying firearms without a license, and carrying firearms in a public place (7 charges).⁹ Docket No. CP-51-CR-0813281-1980 (Exhibit "J").

161. On May 2, 1980, Claitt was arrested and charged with three charges of auto theft.¹⁰ Docket No. CP-51-CR-0510241-1980 (Exhibit "J").

162. On August 8, 1980, Claitt was arrested and charged with 8 charges including attempted arson, criminal mischief, firearms offenses, risking catastrophe and criminal conspiracy, for his alleged participation in a firebombing case in which Tillery was a codefendant. Docket No. CP-51-CR-0820931-1980 (Exhibit "J").

163. With respect to the firebombing charges, Claitt now states "I . . . falsely accused Major Tillery of placing a fire bomb on the front porch of Frank Henderson on Church Lane," and that "[i]t was also a lie, known to ADAs Ross, Christie, King that Major Tillery and George Rose were involved in bombing/firebombing that I testified to in August 1985." Declaration of Claitt, May 4, 2016 and June 3, 2016 (Exhibits "A", "B").

164. Claitt pled guilty to the two drug charges (Docket No. CP-51-CR-0810671-1980) and one charge of drug possession (Docket No. CP-51-CR-0813281-1980) on November 28, 1980 before the Hon. Leon Katz. NT 14:83.

165. On January 5, 1981, Assistant District Attorney Leonard Ross wrote a letter to Judge Katz, describing Claitt's role as an informant in six separate homicides, along with his providing "background information" concerning the "drug traffic in Philadelphia." Exhibit "J".

166. The sentencing hearing before Judge Katz took place on September 17, 1981. The sentencing involved five docket numbers: the November 30, 1978 drug charges (2 charges - Docket Nos. CP-51-CR-0810671-1980 and MC-51-CR-0330461-1979), the April 7, 1979 auto theft charges (3 charges - Docket No. CP-51-CR-0408091-1979), the January 6, 1980 firearms charges (7 charges - Docket Nos. CP-51-CR-0813281-1980 and MC-51-CR-1234881-1979), the May 2, 1980 auto theft charges (3 charges - Docket No. CP-51-CR-0510241-1980) and the August 8, 1980 firebombing charges (8 charges - Docket No. CP-51-CR-0820931-1980)

167. ADA Ross explicitly stated, at this hearing, that the charges before Judge Katz were all the charges pending against Claitt in Pennsylvania County. Sentencing Hearing Transcript, Sept. 17, 1981, p. 5 (Exhibit "L"). This was false. See Docket No. CP-51-CR-1107131-1980 (the May 1980 robbery charges, which were open at the time).

168. ADA Ross represented at the hearing that "Mr. Cliatt [sic] has continued his cooperation." Sentencing Hearing Transcript, Sept. 17, 1981, p. 6 (Exhibit "L"). The court stated:

"The recommendation of the pre-sentence investigator is incarceration. And, if it were not, if it were not for the cooperation extended to the Commonwealth, I would think that full justification that this defendant should receive a maximum sentence of seven and a half to fifteen years on the drug charge, namely 1067, manufacture sale, and delivery of drugs. Not that I'm minimizing the other changes, such as the conspiracy to fire bomb the house and the possession of the drugs.

However, I'm taking that into consideration because I think, in the field of law enforcement, that there are many times when we cannot prosecute career criminals or criminals who commit acts of violence without the cooperation of either co-defendants or others who have information. And that's, I think, what is present in this case."

- Sentencing Hearing Transcript, Sept. 17, 1981, p. 31 (emphasis added) (Exhibit "L").

169. Judge Katz took Claitt's cooperation "into consideration" in making his sentence. Later, Claitt testified at Tillary's trial that this was an "open plea". NT

14:5, 86. He testified that Leonard Ross's only request was for the court to impose concurrent sentences. NT 14:6.

170. Claitt was sentenced on three charges: 1 1/2 - 7 years and 6-12 months sentences on the two drug charges he pled to on November 28, 1980, and 1-5 years for attempted arson. The sentences ran concurrently. Sentencing Hearing Transcript, Sept. 17, 1981, p. 36 (Exhibit "L"). He received a one and a half year minimum sentence for charges on which he faced 25-50 years.

171. All other charges from Claitt's arrests, including all the auto theft and firearms charges, were nolle prossed by the Commonwealth.

172. Even though his sentence was supposed to be 1 1/2 years, Claitt was released on parole on November 22, 1982, a little more than a year after sentencing. NT 14:89.

173. Claitt now states:

"ADA Christie coached me how to answer the defense attorney's questions about whether I had plea deals or any agreements for leniency in sentencing for all the charges I faced back in 1980 when I first gave a statement about the shootings of Hollis and Pickens . . . Back in 1980 when I testified at Franklin's trial I lied when I said that the only plea agreement was that my sentences on three cases would run concurrently. But I had been promised the DA's recommendation to receive no more than 10 years. In fact I got one and a half-years. When I was questioned about this at Major Tillery's case I repeated the lie that I had no plea deal about length of sentencing. ADA Christie knew that wasn't true."

- Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (emphasis added) (Exhibit "B").

174. On June 6, 2014, the Commonwealth filed a motion to vacate the bail judgment in this case.

175. In his declaration, Claitt states "[i]n 2014 I was given help by the prosecution in getting all my bond judgments dismissed for cases going back over 23 years." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

May 16, 1980: Robbery, Assault, Firearms Offenses (Judge Anderson)

176. Claitt was arrested on May 16, 1980 and charged on November 7, 1980 with 13 charges including robbery, aggravated assault, reckless endangerment, terroristic threats, criminal conspiracy, carrying firearms without a license, carrying firearms in a public place and possessing instruments of crime before the Hon. Levy Anderson. Docket No. CP-51-CR-1107131-1980; Exhibit "J".

177. May 16, 1980, the arrest date on the docket, was four days before Claitt gave his written statement to police inculcating Franklin and Tillery.

178. The date that the offenses occurred was April 5, 1980 - immediately prior to the period which Claitt states he was incarcerated on his parole violation, April 1980, for the firearms charges originally before Judge Kubacki. NT 14:8, 79.

179. November 1980, the date on the docket when the complaint was filed, was the month of Franklin's trial. Following the appearance of Assistant District Attorney Leonard Ross before Judge Anderson, Claitt made bail and signed his own bond. Claitt testified in Franklin's trial as the main witness on December 3, 1980.

180. Assistant District Attorney Leonard Ross is the same prosecutor who appeared before Judge Katz at Claitt's sentencing hearing the next year, on September 17, 1981 and falsely represented to Judge Katz that "all the cases pending against [Claitt] are completed in Philadelphia County" as a result of Katz's sentencing. Sentencing Hearing Transcript, Sept. 17, 1981, p. 5; Exhibit "L".

181. These 13 charges before Judge Anderson were never disclosed to the defense, despite the fact that their timing closely corresponds to the important dates in this case, particularly the date of Claitt's initial written statement on May 20, 1980.

182. All 13 charges were nolle prossed by the Commonwealth on April 13, 1982.

183. Claitt testified that, in April and May 1980, at the time he gave his initial written statement to the police, he had no agreement with the police. NT 14:10-11, 78; 15:11.

184. Claitt later testified that the understanding "that I had [with the Commonwealth] was that I was being released, you know, only on - on bail but I would have to go and, you know, fight the cases on my own with me and my attorney, with no - no helping from the District Attorney's office." NT 14:82-83.

185. Claitt now states "[i]n exchange for my false testimony many of my cases were not prosecuted. I got probation. I was sentenced to just 18 months for fire bombing and was protected when I was arrested between the time of Franklin's and Tillery's trials . . . I was promised no state time for crimes I did commit if I lied." Declaration of Claitt, May 4, 2016. "[ADA Christie] told me the robbery charges and other charges would be nolle prossed. And they were." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (emphasis added) (Exhibit "B").

186. During the cross-examination of Claitt, Tillery's counsel stated:

"So all these things that happened to you, people kill people in front of you, people confess murders to you, and you keep on going to court to testify, right? It's easy. Commit a crime, go to jail, tell on somebody, get out. Commit a crime, go back to jail . . . tell on somebody, get out."

- Cross-examination of Emanuel Claitt, NT 15:26

187. Petitioner's counsel was unable, at trial, to cite Claitt's deal with the Commonwealth to nolle pross these 13 robbery charges, four days after his arrest, as an example of how Claitt would "[c]ommit a crime, go to jail, tell on somebody, get out. Commit a crime, go back to jail . . . tell on somebody, get out."

188. ADA Barbara Christie stated in her closing statement that Claitt had given his statement "with no deal but with a great desire" for protection. She stated that even after Claitt testified at the preliminary hearing and at trial in the Franklin case, in 1980, there was no deal. NT 28:90-91.

189. In fact, Claitt did have a deal. The deal was that his robbery charges would be dismissed in exchange for his perjured testimony in the cases of Franklin and Tillery - a deal which was actually fulfilled after Franklin's trial.

190. These offenses took place immediately prior to Claitt's incarceration. The arrest took place immediately before he gave his written statement. The complaint was filed immediately before he testified in William Franklin's trial. The charges were then dismissed after the trial ended. These charges could never have been disclosed to the defense without completely undermining the Commonwealth's case.

191. On June 6, 2014, the Commonwealth filed a motion to vacate the bail judgment in this case.

192. In his declaration, Claitt states "[i]n 2014 I was given help by the prosecution in getting all my bond judgments dismissed for cases going back over 23 years." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016; Exhibit "A".

July 9, 1980: Montgomery County Auto Theft Charges

193. On July 9, 1980, a month after William Franklin's preliminary hearing and a month after the Commonwealth obtained Claitt's release on bail on June 4, 1980, Claitt was arrested and incarcerated again in Montgomery County for auto theft, on a separate set of charges from his two auto theft cases in Philadelphia County. NT 14:81.

September 10, 1980: Assault (Judge Ivanoski)

194. On September 10, 1980, Claitt was arrested and charged with five charges of assault and reckless endangerment before the Hon. Leonard A. Ivanoski.¹¹ Docket Nos. CP-51-CR-0916561-1980, MC-51-CR-0910651-1980;

¹¹ Petitioner has been unable to locate docket no. CP-51-CR-0916561-1980. Claitt's summary sheet shows three charges, but there were actually five. Docket No. MC-51-CR-0910651-1980 (Exhibit "J").

(Exhibit "J").

195. Claitt was found not guilty on these charges on December 5, 1980.

April 13, 1983: Robbery (Judge Chiovero)

196. On April 13, 1983, Claitt was arrested and charged on April 21, 1983 with 8 charges including robbery, criminal conspiracy and firearms offenses before the Hon. John J. Chiovero.¹² Docket No. CP-51-CR-0537641-1983 (Exhibit "J").

197. The robbery arrest caused him to be in violation of parole from the pleas before Judge Katz, so Claitt was incarcerated again. NT 14:93.

198. On April 13, 1983, Claitt was arrested and charged with robbery, aggravated assault and firearms offenses (8 charges - Docket No. CP-15-CR-0537641-1983). He was charged on April 21, 1983. NT 14:93.

199. On January 31, 1984, Arnold Gordon, the Chief of the Philadelphia District Attorney Homicide Unit, wrote a letter to the Parole Board requesting that the Board lift Claitt's detainer. Gordon stated that "Mr. Claitt will not be available as a witness" in Tillery's preliminary hearing unless he was released on bail, and stated "[h]e does not seek any promises or consideration with respect to his open charges." (emphasis in original) (Exhibit "M").

200. On February 18, 1984, Edward Rendell, the District Attorney of Philadelphia, wrote a letter to Judge Chiovero concerning Claitt's bail in his robbery case, for which he had been arrested on April 13, 1982. Rendell requested that Judge Chiovero permit Claitt's release on bail. Exhibit "N".

201. On February 29, 1984 - immediately after Tillery's preliminary hearing - Claitt was released despite his parole violation. He signed his own bond.

202. On September 19, 1984, Claitt was re-incarcerated for a parole violation. ADA Barbara Christie stated in chambers that Claitt reported to his parole officer with a knife in his sock. NT 14:97.

203. On October 25, 1984, Jeffrey Brodtkin, Assistant Chief of the Philadelphia District Attorney Homicide Unit, wrote to the Parole Board requesting that Claitt's parole be continued. Exhibit "O". Claitt was scheduled for a hearing on his parole violation on November 3, 1984.

204. At trial, Claitt testified that at his sentencing hearing before Judge Katz, on September 17, 1981, "we worked an agreement whereas I pled guilty to the 3 charges and all open indictments I would have to face in court alone - to fight the case alone." NT 14:7. He testified that he "would have to go and, you know, fight the cases on my own with me and my attorney, with no - no helping from the District Attorney's office." NT 14:83.

205. Claitt testified that, specifically with respect to the charges before Judge Chiovero, "I have no agreement at all." He testified that "[t]he case is still pending[,]" and that he "[expected] to be tried by a jury." NT 14:7.

206. Claitt then proceeded to contradict his previous testimony, stating:

"Well, as to agreement, they - the District Attorney merely mentioned that they had did all the - all they were going to do for me at that point but they would do is make Judge Chiovero aware - in the event I got convicted of the charge, they would make him aware of my cooperation with the District Attorney's office in reference to the trials I have testified and the trials that have yet still to testify in the very near future."

- Direct Examination of Emanuel Claitt, NT 14:94.

207. In chambers, Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie then stated that "there is no agreement, hasn't been any agreement with regard to sentencing on the open robbery. There is no agreement. He goes to trial on that." NT 14:94 (emphasis added). She then stated that "[Claitt's] understanding of any agreement he has with the Commonwealth is that the Commonwealth will make the Parole Board aware of his cooperation in this and the other cases." Id.

208. Claitt never went to trial on this robbery case at all. The Commonwealth nolle prossed all eight charges on December 16, 1987.

209. Claitt now states "[i]n exchange for my false testimony many of my cases were not prosecuted. I got probation. I was sentenced to just 18 months for fire bombing and was protected when I was arrested between the time of Franklin's and Tillery's trials." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

210. Claitt further states:

" I was scheduled to go to trial on my robbery case soon after the Tillery trial was over. ADA Christie coached me to stick to saying that the robbery case was 'open' and that there were no agreements about leniency and sentencing.

She coached me to just say I knew the judge would be told about my cooperation in Major Tillery's case and other cases. That's what I stuck to. But my testimony that there was no plea deal was a lie and ADA Christie knew that. She told me the robbery charge and other charges would be nolle prossed. And they were."

-Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (emphasis added) (Exhibit "B").

211. The Commonwealth instructed Claitt to lie about its agreement with him to nolle pross his robbery charges.

May 1, 1989: Robbery (Judge Guarino)

212. After Tillery's trial, Claitt was arrested on May 1, 1989 and charged with 8 charges including robbery, reckless endangerment, weapons charges, assault and criminal conspiracy. Docket No. CP-51-CR-0513651-1989 (Exhibit "J").

213. Claitt pled guilty to robbery, the weapons charges and criminal conspiracy on October 23, 1991. He received 1-2 years on the weapons charges, 5-10 years on the robbery and 1-2 years on the criminal conspiracy.

214. Claitt states "[a]fter Major Tillery's trial I was told I hadn't done good enough, that I 'straddled the fence'. In 1989 I was convicted of felony charges and spent 13 1/2 years in prison . . ." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

2. Letters Written on Behalf of Emanuel Claitt

215. Petitioner summarizes here, for clarity, the various known letters written on behalf of Claitt by the Commonwealth. Tillery anticipates that discovery will reveal additional letters.

216. On January 5, 1981, Assistant District Attorney Leonard Ross wrote a letter to Judge Katz, describing Claitt's role as an informant in six separate homicides, along with his providing "background information" concerning the "drug traffic in Philadelphia." Exhibit "K".

217. As noted by Claitt, this letter was written shortly following the trial of William Franklin. During this period, Claitt "tried to recant but Lt. Shelton threatened me and said I would be framed on another murder." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

218. By way of explaining Claitt's value to the Commonwealth to the Judge Katz, the letter from ADA Ross mentions that Claitt provided "information regarding other homicides," including homicides allegedly committed by Robert Lark and George Rose, as well the homicide of Philadelphia police officer Ernest Davis, as well as Claitt's participation as a witness in the preliminary hearings of George Rose and James Brand for firebombing.

219. Judge Katz also took the cooperation detailed in Ross' letter into account during Claitt's sentencing hearing on September 17, 1981. Sentencing Hearing Transcript, Sept. 17, 1981, p. 6 (Exhibit "L").

220. On January 31, 1984, Arnold Gordon, the Chief of the Philadelphia District Attorney Homicide Unit, wrote a letter to the Parole Board requesting that the Board lift Claitt's detainer. Gordon stated that "Mr. Claitt will not be available as a witness" in Tillery's preliminary hearing unless he was released on bail, and stated "[h]e does not seek any promises or consideration with respect to his open charges." (emphasis in original) (Exhibit "M").

221. On February 18, 1984, Edward Rendell, the District Attorney of Philadelphia, wrote a letter to Judge Chiovero concerning Claitt's bail in his robbery case, for which he had been arrested on April 13, 1982. Rendell requested that Judge Chiovero permit Claitt's release on bail. Exhibit "N".

222. On October 25, 1984, Jeffrey Brodtkin, Assistant Chief of the Philadelphia District Attorney Homicide Unit, wrote to the Parole Board requesting that Claitt's parole be continued. Exhibit "O". Claitt was scheduled for a hearing on his parole violation on November 3, 1984.

3. Robert Mickens

223. In February 1984, Robert Mickens was arrested on rape, assault and robbery charges and remained incarcerated through Tillery's trial in May 1985. NT 21:23, 54.

224. On May 16, 1985, Mickens pled guilty to criminal conspiracy and rape before the Hon. Eugene Clarke, Jr. He was scheduled to be sentenced on July 18, 1985. NT 21:24.

225. Mickens testified that it was an "open plea" with no plea bargaining. NT 21:24. He testified that his sentence would be up to the judge. NT 21:25.

226. Mickens was advised that he could get 10-20 years on the rape charge, 5-10 years for conspiracy and that his sentences could run concurrently or consecutively. NT 21:26.

227. Mickens testified that his only "understanding" with the Commonwealth was that the Commonwealth would let Judge Clark know about his cooperation, and that his other charges would be nolle prossed. NT 21:26.

228. In her closing statement, Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie stated that Mickens "awaits sentence on a guilty plea to a rape charge and conspiracy. That could net him 15 to 30 years at the decision and discretion of the sentencing judge." NT 28:91.

229. In fact, Mickens now states that "ADA Christie told me that if I 'worked with [her] on the Major Tillery case' she 'guaranteed' I wouldn't be sent upstate on my robbery and rape case and would be 'protected.'" He states that "I agree to give . . . false testimony because I was . . . promised no prison time on the rape and robbery charges and that I would be protected by the prosecution." Declaration of Robert Mickens, April 18, 2016.

230. Mickens pled guilty and was sentenced before Judge Clark on October 10, 1985, after Tillery's trial. He received probation.

231. The deal between Mickens and the Commonwealth was not disclosed to Tillery.

VI. CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

232. The above quoted declarations, along with the corroborating evidence, show that Major Tillery is an innocent man. They show that Tillery was the victim of gross prosecutorial misconduct. The Commonwealth suppressed exculpatory evidence, knowingly permitted perjured testimony to stand uncorrected, and, indeed, intentionally fabricated the entirety of the eyewitness testimony in his case.

233. The following claims for relief represent constitutional challenges to Petitioner's conviction which have been fairly presented to and exhausted in the state courts. They were presented in Tillery's third PCRA petition in 2016, for which the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania denied allocatur on February 6, 2019. Commonwealth v. Tillery, 201 A.3d 729 (Pa. 2019).

CLAIM I

PETITIONER IS FACTUALLY INNOCENT OF THIS OFFENSE. HIS CONVICTION AND SENTENCE REPRESENT A FUNDAMENTAL MISCARRIAGE OF JUSTICE AND ARE THE RESULT OF GROSS PROSECUTORIAL MISCONDUCT. AT A MINIMUM, HIS SHOWING OF INNOCENCE PERMITS REVIEW OF OTHERWISE PROCEDURALLY BARRED CLAIMS.

234. Petitioner was framed for murder by the Commonwealth. In order to secure Tillery's conviction for a murder which took place nine years prior to his trial, and in which there was no physical evidence linking Tillery to the shooting, the Commonwealth manufactured a false narrative to be delivered by Emanuel Claitt, a serial, professional jailhouse informant.

235. Claitt was the only direct eyewitness to the shooting. In order to increase the apparent credibility of his account, the Commonwealth instructed Claitt to testify falsely about additional events allegedly inculpatng Tillery. These included Tillery's participation in a meeting which purportedly took place on October 20, 1976, two days before the shooting, Tillery's involvement in setting up the meeting at the poolhall on October 22, 1976, and Tillery's attack on Claitt in 1982, supposedly in retaliation for Claitt's testimony in the trial of William Franklin.

236. Sometime in 1980, Claitt was incarcerated for a parole violation on firearms charges to which he had pled guilty in July 12, 1976. NT 14:79; Docket Nos. CP-51-CR-1222231-1975, MC-51-CR-0505311-1975 (Exhibit "J").

237. While he was incarcerated on the parole violation, Claitt was approached by Detectives Larry Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert, who threatened to charge him with the murder of Samuel Goodwin. The detectives "really wanted information to get Major Tillery for murder." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

238. To put extra pressure on Claitt, the Commonwealth arrested him for robbery on May 16, 1980, based on conduct which took place immediately prior to his incarceration in April, 1980 (the May 1980 robbery charges). Docket No. CP-51-CR-1107131-1980 (Exhibit "J").

239. Claitt was also approached by Assistant District Attorneys Leonard Ross and Barbara Christie. They promised Claitt leniency on his twenty-eight open cases. They also threatened him with charges in the murder of Samuel Goodwin. Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

240. Four days after his arrest, on May 20, 1980, Claitt gave a written statement inculping Tillery and Franklin.

241. The Commonwealth manufactured Claitt's entire statement and subsequent testimony. Claitt told ADA Christie "you know I wasn't there - you have to fill in the blanks." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (Exhibit "B").

242. In exchange for his perjured testimony, Claitt received:

1) An agreement from the Commonwealth to nolle pross the 13 robbery charges from May 16, 1980 (the May 1980 robbery charges), whose existence was never disclosed to the defense at all;

2) An agreement from the Commonwealth to nolle pross the 8 robbery charges from April 13, 1983 (the 1983 robbery charges);

3) An agreement from the Commonwealth for reduced sentencing, on September 17, 1981, on the charges Claitt pled guilty to (the 1978-1980 charges).

243. As an added inducement to testify falsely, the Commonwealth permitted Claitt to receive visits for sex in the Police Administration Building (PAB) interview rooms and in hotel rooms with Barbara Claitt, Helen Ellis and Denise Certain, as well as other women.

244. Following William Franklin's trial in November 1980, Claitt attempted to recant his testimony, but was threatened with being charged with murder by Lt. Bill Shelton.

245. Robert Mickens was arrested on February 28, 1984 on charges of robbery and rape, and faced twenty-five years of imprisonment if convicted.

246. Following his arrest on February 28, 1984, Mickens met with ADA Barbara Christie. Christie promised him leniency on his charges if he agreed to be a witness against Tillery.

247. On September 26, 1984, Mickens gave a statement to police inculcating Tillery and William Franklin. He subsequently modified this statement, at ADA Christie's direction, to further inculcate Tillery by ascribing statements by Alfred Clark, instructing Mickens to act as a lookout, to Tillery instead.

248. Mickens was also permitted visits for sex by the Commonwealth in exchange for his perjured testimony.

249. Prior to Tillery's trial, at the Commonwealth's direction, Claitt was placed in a police van with Mickens. The van drove back and forth between the police station and the county prison on State Street, while Claitt pressured Mickens and told him that he had no choice but to testify against Tillery.

250. In exchange for his perjured testimony, Mickens received an agreement that he would do no jail time on his robbery and rape charges. He pled guilty and received probation on October 10, 1985.

251. There was no physical evidence, of any sort, indicating Tillery's role in the shooting on October 22, 1976.

252. The entirety of the testimony inculcating Tillery was manufactured by the Commonwealth.

253. Petitioner re-alleges and incorporates herein by reference each and every allegation in the Introduction, Statement of Facts and other Claims for Relief in this Petition.

A. Petitioner Is Entitled to Habeas Corpus Relief Because He Is Innocent

254. Innocence constitutes a substantive ground upon which to relieve Tillery of his unconstitutional incarceration. See, e.g., House v. Bell, 547 U.S. 518 (2006) (remanding capital case for evidentiary development on whether petitioner was actually innocent; the petitioner was subsequently exonerated); Kuhlman v. Wilson, 477 U.S. 436, 452 (1986) ("a prisoner retains a powerful and legitimate interest in obtaining his release from custody if he is innocent of the charge for which he was incarcerated."); In re Winship, 397 U.S. 358, 364 (1970) ("It is critical that the moral force of the criminal law not be diluted by a standard of proof that leaves people in doubt whether innocent men are being condemned."), but see, McQuiggin v. Perkins, 589 U.S. 383, 392 (2013).

255. Chief Justice Rehnquist, writing for the plurality in Herrera v. Collins, 506 U.S. 390 (1993), stated that the showing required to obtain habeas relief in actual innocence claims is a "truly persuasive demonstration of innocence." Id. at 417. Such a showing would require an "extraordinarily high burden." Id. See also House, 547 U.S. at 554.

256. As demonstrated above, Tillery has proven his actual innocence to this demanding standard. The declarations of Claitt and Mickens demonstrate that the entirety of the evidence produced at trial against Tillery was false, and in point of fact, that there is no evidence showing Tillery was present during the events of the shooting, or that he was involved in any of the events leading up to the shooting at all. In accordance with the Fourteenth Amendment's guarantee of Due Process, Tillery's convictions and sentence must be vacated. At a minimum, Tillery has made a sufficient showing of his innocence to obtain an evidentiary hearing on this issue.

CLAIM II

THE COMMONWEALTH MANUFACTURED FALSE INCULPATORY EVIDENCE AND SUPPRESSED MATERIAL, EXCULPATORY EVIDENCE IN VIOLATION OF DUE PROCESS

257. The Commonwealth violated Tillery's constitutional right to due process, right to a fair trial, and the right to present a defense by withholding from him and his counsel material, exculpatory evidence, including impeachment evidence, in violation of his rights as guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. Furthermore, the Commonwealth manufactured the substantive content of Claitt and Mickens' testimony, and allowed the perjured, scripted testimony thus produced to stand uncorrected.

258. The suppression of material exculpatory or impeachment evidence violates due process. Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150, 154 (1972) (citing Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963)). The suppression of favorable, material evidence, by itself and regardless of good faith or bad faith of the prosecution, is a Brady violation. Id. at 153. However, the rule of Brady encompasses two separate scenarios, with different standards of materiality. The first involves cases where the government merely fails to disclose exculpatory or impeachment evidence. The second, involving a greater degree of wrongdoing, involves cases "where previously undisclosed evidence reveal[s] that the prosecution introduced trial testimony that it knew or should have known was perjured . . ." Kyles v. Whitley, 514 U.S. 419, 433 (1995) (citing United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976)).

259. A "stricter standard of materiality" applies to Brady claims involving the knowing use of perjured testimony, also known as a Napue claim. United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97, 103 (1976) (citing Napue v. Illinois, 360 U.S. 264 (1959)).

260. Petitioner re-alleges and incorporates herein by reference each and every allegation in the Introduction, Statement of Facts and other Claims for Relief in this Petition.

A. The Commonwealth Manufactured False Inculpatory Evidence and Knowingly Used Perjured Testimony to Secure a Conviction

261. The Supreme Court has long held that a conviction obtained through use of false evidence, known to be false by government representatives, violates the Fourteenth Amendment. Mooney v. Holohan, 294 U.S. 103 (1935). Such claims fall within the ambit of Brady. United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97, 103 (1976). However, because a conviction obtained by the knowing use of perjured testimony is fundamentally unfair, and because such claims involve prosecutorial misconduct, a "strict standard of materiality" applies, and the conviction "must be set aside if there is any reasonable likelihood that the false testimony could have affected the judgment of the jury." Id. (citing Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972); Napue v. Illinois, 360 U.S. 264, 271 (1959)) (emphasis added).

262. This materiality standard differs from the standard when exculpatory evidence is merely suppressed. "[T]he materiality standard for false testimony is lower, more favorable to the defendant, and hostile to the prosecution as compared to the standard for a general Brady withholding violation." Haskell v. Superintendent Greene SCI, 866 F.3d 139, 152 (3d Cir. 2017) (quoting United States v. Clay, 720 F.3d 1021, 1026 (8th Cir. 2013)).

263. In the Third Circuit, to make out a constitutional violation based on the knowing use of perjured testimony, the petitioner must show that 1) the testimony was perjured; 2) the government knew or should have known of the perjury; 3) the testimony stood uncorrected; and 4) there is any reasonable likelihood that the false testimony could have affected the verdict. Lambert v. Blackwell, 387 F.3d 210, 242 (3d Cir. 2004). But see Haskell v. Superintendent Greene SCI, 866 F.3d 139, 146 (3d Cir. 2017) (citing Lambert) ("... any reasonable likelihood that the false testimony could have affected the judgment of the jury.") (emphasis added).

264. Due diligence, on the petitioner's part, plays no part in the analysis of a Brady claim. Banks v. Dretke, 540 U.S. 668 (2004); Dennis v. Sec'y, Pa. Dep't of Corr., 834 F.3d 263, 289-93 (3d Cir. 2016).

1. The Testimony of Claitt and Mickens Was Perjured

265. As detailed above, newly discovered evidence shows that the entirety of the substantive evidence against Tillery was false. Tillery was never at the poolhall on October 22, 1976, nor was he involved in any of the events leading up to the shooting, as described by Claitt and Mickens.

266. Mickens' written statement of September 26, 1984 was entirely fabricated, as were his corrections to the statement in April 1984, which were made to further inculcate Tillery.

267. The Commonwealth manufactured Claitt's account of Tillery attempting to shoot him in 1982 in retaliation for Claitt's testimony in the trial of William Franklin.

268. Claitt's account of how he came to give a statement inculcating Tillery was false. Claitt did not spontaneously give his statement; he was threatened by the Commonwealth with being charged in the murder of Samuel Goodwin as well as other charges. All this was completely undisclosed to the defense.

269. Neither Claitt nor Mickens testified at trial that they had told the Commonwealth they were not actually present at the poolhall on October 22, 1976.

270. Claitt testified that he had "no deal" on the April 13, 1983 robbery charges (the 1983 robbery charges) and that he had an "open plea" on the charges for which he was sentenced on September 17, 1981 (the 1978-1980 charges). This was false. He had a deal to have the 1983 robbery charges dismissed, and a deal for reduced time on the 1978-1980 charges.

271. Neither Claitt nor the Commonwealth disclosed that Claitt had a deal to have the May 16, 1980 robbery charges (the May 1980 robbery charges) dismissed. In fact, neither Claitt nor the Commonwealth disclosed the existence of the May 1980 at all.

272. Mickens testified that he had an "open plea" on the rape and robbery charges to which he pled guilty on May 16, 1985. This was false. Mickens had an agreement that he would receive zero jail time.

273. Claitt testified, falsely, to Tillery's involvement in the firebombing of Frank Henderson's home.

274. Mickens testified, falsely, that he feared retaliation from Tillery for testifying against him.

275. Neither Claitt nor Mickens testified that, at the behest of the Commonwealth, Claitt had been placed in a police van to influence and coerce Mickens.

276. Neither Claitt nor Mickens testified that, as an inducement to testify falsely, the Commonwealth permitted both sexual liaisons in the Police Administration Building (PAB) homicide interview rooms and in hotel rooms.

2. The Commonwealth Knew, or Should Have Known, of the Perjury

277. The central claim of this Petition is that the Commonwealth fabricated the entirety of the case against Tillery. Both Claitt and Mickens state that their testimony was scripted by the Commonwealth.

278. In his declaration, Claitt stated, "prosecutors ADA Leonard Ross and Barbara Christie promised if I said that Major Tillery and William Franklin were the shooters in the 1976 murder of Joseph Hollis and the attempted murder of John Pickens I wouldn't get state time in my many pending criminal charges and I wouldn't be charged in the murder of Samuel Goodwin . . ." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A").

279. The Commonwealth knew that Claitt's testimony was false, since it manufactured the testimony. ADAs Barbara Christie, Lynn Ross and Roger King coached Claitt on what to say during the trial. Claitt stated, during those meetings, "you know I wasn't there - you have to fill in the blanks." Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016 (Exhibit "B").

280. Mickens likewise stated, "At trial I falsely testified that I was a look-out during the shooting of John Hollis [sic] and John Pickens. That was totally false. My entire testimony was scripted and rehearsed by ADA Barbara Christie." Declaration of Mickens, April 18, 2016 (emphasis added) (Exhibit "D").

281. Both Claitt and Mickens state that the Commonwealth instructed them both on the content of their substantive testimony, as well as how to testify, falsely, regarding their agreements for leniency with the Commonwealth.

3. The Perjured Testimony Stood Uncorrected

282. The lies told by Claitt and Mickens were not corrected at trial. Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie made no attempt to correct any of the substantive testimony of Claitt or Mickens, or their testimony regarding their agreements for leniency with the Commonwealth, her meetings with them, or the coercion and incentives they received.

283. Furthermore, Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie repeated these lies and vouched for them, both at sidebar and in her closing statement. She stated that there was "no deal" with Claitt, beyond securing his release on bail and intervening with the Parole Board. NT 14:96, 28:90-91. This was false. Although ADA Christie represented that Claitt would go to trial on the April 13, 1983 robbery charges, the Commonwealth had an agreement that Claitt would do no time. ADA Christie also had a deal with Claitt that he would do no time on the May 16, 1980 robbery charges. The existence of those charges was never disclosed to the defense at all. Id. Finally, ADA Christie represented that Claitt made an "open plea" on September 17, 1981 (the 1978-1980 charges), when in fact there was an agreement that Claitt would receive no more than 10 years. Id.

284. ADA Christie stated in closing that Mickens also made an "open plea" on his rape and robbery charges. This was not true; Mickens had an agreement that he would receive zero jail time.

4. The False Testimony Affected the Judgment of the Jury

285. As noted previously, the central claim of this Petition is that the Commonwealth fabricated the entirety of the testimony used to convict Tillery. There was no physical evidence inculpatory of Tillery. Without the false testimony of Claitt and Mickens, there would have been no evidence to convict at all.

286. Petitioner emphasizes here that disclosure of any of the falsehoods enumerated by Claitt and Mickens, standing alone, would have been sufficient to "affect the judgment of the jury", to the standard of Napue. Given that the constitutional standard is whether there was "any reasonable likelihood that the false testimony could have affected the judgment of the jury," United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97, 103 (1976) (citations omitted) (emphasis added), it is clear that "affecting the verdict" cannot mean that the perjured testimony would have compelled a different result, since that would be a more demanding standard than even a regular Brady claim, whereas the Supreme Court has made clear that a Napue claim is evaluated to a less demanding standard. Id. at 104; see also Haskell v. Superintendent Greene SCI, 866 F.3d at 151 (" . . . the First and Sixth Circuits note that . . . perjured testimony faces a lower bar than suppression claims. [citations omitted]. But to us that seems to be a feature, not a bug.")

287. Regardless of the governing standard, the Third Circuit has explained that when a key witness testifies, falsely, that they received no consideration for their testimony, this alone suffices to make out a Napue claim. Haskell v. Superintendent Greene SCI, 866 F.3d 139, 145-47 (3d Cir. 2017) (citing Napue and Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972)).

288. This case is on all fours with Haskell. And if it could be on all fours twice it would be, because the perjury here far surpasses Haskell in scope. Exactly like the petitioner in Haskell, Claitt denied that he received any consideration for his perjured testimony beyond release on bail. NT 14:82-83. He was extensively cross-examined on this point, and consistently denied any consideration. NT 15:3-26. And like in Haskell, the prosecutor vouched for Claitt in the closing argument, stating explicitly that Claitt gave his testimony "with no deal but with a great desire, great desire for protection for himself and his family." NT 28:90-91. Lastly, Claitt was not one key witness out of a cavalcade of supporting witnesses who provided ambiguous, but arguably supportive, direct testimony: here, Claitt was the only fact witness who directly implicated Tillery.

289. The failure to disclosure that, contrary to his testimony, Claitt actually gave his testimony in exchange for zero prison time on open robbery charges - either the May 1980 or 1983 robbery charges - standing alone, compels reversal. Likewise, failing to disclose Claitt's deal on 1978-1980 charges, standing alone, compels reversal. Finally, the complete and intentional failure to disclose the very existence of the May 1980 robbery charges, whose dates closely track the relevant dates in this case, by itself compels reversal. Haskell, 866 F.3d at 145-147; Napue, 360 U.S. at 264-67 (key witness falsely testified they received no consideration for their testimony); Giglio, 405 U.S. at 152-155 (same).

290. Likewise, the leniency promised to Mickens and the fact that he received zero prison time, the fact that the Commonwealth was in communication with him seven months prior to the date he gave his written statement, and the misrepresentations of the Commonwealth with respect to Mickens' protective order, by themselves, are sufficient to compel reversal.

291. The revelation of the sex-for-false-testimony inducements organized by Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert, standing alone, are also sufficient to compel reversal. See also Commonwealth v. Lester, 572 A.2d 694 (Pa. Super. 1990) (reversal and new trial).

292. Over and above all the aforementioned grounds, the falsification of the substantive testimony of Claitt and Mickens is far greater in scope than the mere non-disclosure of a plea deal for testimony. It involves the conscious manufacture of the substantive content of the testimony: the scenario the Supreme Court resolved in Mooney v. Holohan, 294 U.S. 103 (1935). Each element of the perjured substantive testimony, standing alone, compels reversal.

B. The Commonwealth Suppressed Material Exculpatory and Impeachment Evidence

293. Even in cases in which the prosecution did not know of perjury being committed by a witness, due process requires the prosecution to disclose evidence favorable to the defense. Banks v. Dretke, 540 U.S. 668 (2004). The suppression of exculpatory or impeachment evidence by the prosecution, by itself, with or without a request from the defense, constitutes a violation of due process. United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97, 104-108 (1976) (citing Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963)).

294. There are three elements to the establishment of a Brady claim involving prosecutorial misconduct: 1) The evidence must be favorable to the accused, either because it is exculpatory, or because it is impeaching; 2) The evidence must have been suppressed by the state, either willfully or inadvertently; and 3) Prejudice must have resulted. Banks, 540 U.S. at 691. For purposes of this analysis, "prejudice" requires a finding of Brady materiality. Id. at 698. Thus, under Banks, the analysis of a Brady claim which does not involve the knowing use of perjured testimony by the prosecution involves an analysis of Brady materiality, as opposed to the "strict standard of materiality" of Napue.

295. The allegations in this Petition closely track Banks. In Banks, a witness' trial testimony had been "intensively coached by prosecutors and law enforcement officers", and a police informant "testified, untruthfully, that he never gave the police any statement and, indeed, had not talked to any police officer about the case until a few days before the trial." Id. at 675. The Supreme Court held in Banks that "[a] rule thus declaring 'prosecutor may hide, defendant must seek,' is not tenable in a system constitutionally bound to accord defendants due process." Id. at 696.

296. Similarly, in this case, both Claitt and Mickens were intensively coached by prosecutors and police, and both witnesses lied about the extent and nature of their contacts with prosecutors, Claitt going as far as to deny that he had previously met with ADA Christie. NT 16:101-102.

297. For purposes of establishing the elements above, the first two, favorability to the accused and suppression by the state, are covered by the Napue analysis above. Tillery discusses the prejudice/materiality element separately below.

1. The Cumulative Improperly Withheld Evidence Would Have Resulted in a Different Outcome at Trial

298. For a Brady claim which does not implicate Napue, "favorable evidence is material, and constitutional error results from its suppression by the government, 'if there is a reasonable probability that, had the evidence been disclosed to the defense, the result of the proceeding would have been different.'" Kyles v. Whitley, 514 U.S. 419 (1995) (quoting United States v. Bagley, 473 U.S. 667, 682 (1985)). This is a more difficult standard to meet than a Napue claim. Agurs, 427 U.S. at 103.

299. In assessing materiality, the court considers how effective counsel could have proceeded in the absence of the due process violations both at the trial and in pre-trial investigation. Kyles, 514 U.S. at 441-49 (reviewing ways in which competent counsel could have used and developed withheld information to impeach prosecution witnesses and undercut police investigation); Bagley, 473 U.S. at 676 (materiality analysis considers whether suppressed information, "if disclosed and used effectively" by the defense, would have made a difference); id. at 683 (materiality inquiry considers "any adverse effect that the [suppression] might have had on the preparation or presentation of the defendant's case" and "the course that the defense at the trial would have taken had the defense not been misled").

300. It is not necessary to show by a preponderance of the evidence that a different verdict would have resulted; the petitioner need only show that the new evidence "put[s] the whole case in such a different light as to undermine confidence in the verdict." Kyles, 514 U.S. at 435.

301. When considering whether evidence that has improperly been withheld from the defense is material and requires vacation of a conviction, a court must consider all of the evidence as a whole. The evidence must be considered not only on its own merits, but in terms of what the evidence would have meant for the investigation of the case and preparation for trial. Even if withheld evidence might have been deemed inadmissible, it may still have had value in leading to other admissible evidence, supporting a discovery request or in finding additional witnesses. Id. at 421 (materiality "turns on the cumulative effect of all such evidence suppressed by the government").

302. There is no doubt that the falsity of the substantive testimony at trial, if disclosed, would have compelled a different verdict, since there would have been no evidence to convict if the falsity of the testimony was known.

303. Claitt's agreements for leniency with the Commonwealth would also, by themselves, have been powerful impeachment evidence, sufficient to undermine confidence in the verdict. Tillery's counsel was unable, at trial, to refute Claitt's claim that he was required to go to trial on the April 13, 1983 robbery charges. The disclosure of the Commonwealth's agreement to dismiss the charges would have undermined Claitt's story that he gave his statement to police on May 20, 1980 without any inducement to testify falsely, and that he did so only "out of a great desire for protection for himself and his family." Closing Statement of Barbara Christie, NT 28:90-91.

304. Likewise, the disclosure of the May 16, 1980 charges would have destroyed Claitt's credibility as a witness, if the defense had been aware of them. The Commonwealth hid these charges for good reason - they closely track the dates of Claitt's participation in Franklin's trial.

305. The details of Claitt's open plea on the 1978-1980 charges, Mickens' agreement for the Commonwealth, the Commonwealth's placing Claitt in a police van with Mickens to pressure him and the sex-for-false testimony inducements organized by Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert, each standing alone, would also be sufficient to show that Claitt and Mickens' original statements were not spontaneous, undermining confidence in the verdict.

306. The Commonwealth manufactured and knowingly used perjured testimony in Tillery's trial. Each allegation of perjured testimony, collectively and standing alone, satisfies the "strict standard of materiality" of Napue. These allegations would also have refuted the key contentions of the Commonwealth, which were that Claitt and Mickens testified without promises of leniency, out of a fear of retaliation from Tillery and a desire for protection from him. They place the case in a different light, and are sufficient to undermine confidence in the verdict.

VII. ARGUMENT

A. PETITIONER HAS NEVER RECEIVED ANY HEARING ON THE MERITS OF THESE CLAIMS

307. The claims in this Petition are identical to those in Tillery's third, 2016 PCRA petition, which was also based on the declarations of Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens, and was filed within 60 days following the declaration of Robert Mickens, as required by the PCRA. 42 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 9545(b)(2) (2016) (amended eff. Dec. 24, 2018 to change the filing period to 1 year).

308. Petitioner's 2016 PCRA petition was dismissed on timeliness grounds by the Court of Common Pleas. On appeal, the Superior Court of Pennsylvania affirmed the dismissal. Commonwealth v. Tillery, 193 A.3d 1063 (Pa. Super. 2018)

(unpublished memorandum); Id., Court of Common Pleas Opinion Under Pa. R. App. P. 1925(a) (Exhibits "Y", "Z").

309. Under Pennsylvania law, the timeliness requirements of the PCRA are jurisdictional, and are questions of law which are reviewed de novo.

Commonwealth v. Fahy, 959 A. 2d 312, 316 (Pa. 2008). A court "may not address the merits of the issues raised in a petition if it is not timely filed." Commonwealth v. Abu-Jamal, 941 A.2d.1263, 1267-68 (Pa. 2008) (citation omitted). If a PCRA court does hold a hearing on the merits, deference may be given to the PCRA court on purely factual issues, but any finding requiring the application of law to facts is still reviewed de novo. Fahy, at 316 (citing Commonwealth v. Reaves, 923 A.2d 1119, 1124 (Pa. 2007)).

310. Tillery's PCRA petition was summarily dismissed by the PCRA court on timeliness grounds under Pa. R. Crim. P. Rule 907. Not only was there no determination of the merits of his claim; there has been no factfinding, of any sort, on his petition at all.

311. Petitioner's alleged co-defendant, William Franklin, initially suffered the same fate. His petition, which was based on the same evidence as Tillery's, was dismissed by the PCRA court on timeliness grounds on September 12, 2017.¹³ The PCRA court also made credibility determinations, finding that "the claims of misconduct were so 'outlandish' and 'unreliable' as to permit a credibility based dismissal with an evidentiary hearing." Commonwealth v. Franklin, 201 A.3d 854, p. 8 (Pa. Super. 2018) (unpublished memorandum) (Exhibit "AA").

312. Despite this, the Superior Court of Pennsylvania reversed and remanded for an evidentiary hearing. Commonwealth v. Franklin, 201 A.3d 854 (Pa. Super. 2018) (unpublished memorandum) (Exhibit "AA").

313. There is no further backstop if Tillery is not permitted to present the merits of his claims to this Court. Tillery has consistently maintained his innocence from the date of his conviction. Below, Tillery briefly discusses the dismissal of his 2016 PCRA petition.

1. The Dismissal of Petitioner's 2016 PCRA Petition

314. Petitioner recognizes that "a state court's interpretation of state law . . . binds a federal court sitting in habeas corpus." Bradshaw v Richey, 546 U.S. 74, 76

(2005). However, in order to explain that Franklin's PCRA raised exactly the same arguments, Tillery briefly describes the dismissal of his PCRA petition.

315. Petitioner raised both the "governmental interference" and "newly discovered fact" exceptions to the timeliness bar. In support of those exceptions, he made two arguments that his PCRA petition was timely.

316. First, Tillery argued that Commonwealth v. Medina, 92 A.3d 1210 (Pa. Super. 2014), Commonwealth v. Davis, 86 A.3d 883 (Pa. Super. 2014), Commonwealth v. Loner, 836 A.2d 125 (Pa. Super. 2003) and Commonwealth v. McCracken, 659 A.2d 541 (Pa. 1995) stood for the proposition that due diligence does not require a petitioner to investigate and contact known, lying witnesses, even if the petitioner knows the witnesses are lying because of petitioner's innocence. In particular, Tillery relied on Medina, 92 A.3d at 1217-19:

"... we note that in Commonwealth v. Loner [citation omitted], this Court explicitly rejected the Commonwealth's argument that recantation testimony could have been discovered through the exercise of due diligence where a defendant was not present at the scene of the crime, and thus, had reason to believe a witness testifying to the contrary was lying. Id. at 137 n.5 (stating, 'we reject the Commonwealth's assertion that the victim's recantation in this case is not truly after-discovered evidence because [the a]ppellant knew prior to trial that the victim was not telling the truth[']')." "

- Id. at 1217 (emphasis added).

317. The Superior Court in Medina went on to conclude that because the witness testified and inculpated the petitioner "consistently and unequivocally at trial," neither defense counsel nor the petitioner, without any supporting factual basis, should have expected to change the witness' testimony, either at trial or afterwards. Id. at 1217-18 (citing, inter alia, Commonwealth v. McCracken, 659 A.2d 541, 545 (Pa. 1995)). Under Commonwealth v. Bennett, 593 Pa. 382 (Pa. 2007), the content of (the new facts revealed through) a later recantation is an after-discovered fact providing an exception to the PCRA timeliness bar, independent of the petitioner's knowledge of the perjury at the time of trial. Medina holds that due diligence does not require a petitioner to investigate known, lying witnesses to discover such recantations if the Commonwealth represents that those witnesses are telling the truth.

318. Secondly, Tillery argued that Commonwealth v. Burton, 121 A.3d 1063 (Pa. Super. 2015) stood for the proposition that due diligence for incarcerated petitioners without representation is fact-specific, and that a less strict diligence standard applies.

319. The PCRA court in Tillery's appeal distinguished Medina and Davis by arguing that "[i]n both Davis and Medina, the Superior Court's due diligence analysis centered on the fact that neither Davis nor Medina had reason to believe they could elicit exculpatory information from the respective witnesses." Court of Common Pleas Opinion Under Pa. R. App. P. 1925(a), p. 6 (Exhibit "Y"). This statement was correct, but it deliberately elides the point.

320. The Superior Court in Medina did hold that the petitioner had no reason to believe he could obtain exculpatory information from the witnesses at his trial. However, this was so even though Medina knew that the witnesses were lying, because he knew he was innocent. Despite this, the petitioner was not required to investigate the lying witnesses. That is the whole point of the case.

321. The Superior Court of Pennsylvania affirmed the PCRA court without comment on Davis or Medina. On the second, Burton issue, it held that "[t]he Pennsylvania Supreme Court previously evaluated the argument that prison conditions constitute a timeliness exception to the PCRA, and rejected it." Commonwealth v. Tillery, 193 A.3d 1063, p. 5 (Pa. Super. 2018) (citing Commonwealth v. Albrecht, 994 A.2d 1091, 1095 (Pa. 2010)) (unpublished memorandum) (Exhibit "Z").

322. Franklin's PCRA petition was also denied on timeliness grounds. On appeal, he raised identical arguments to Tillery in the Superior Court, which reversed. The relevant portion of the Superior Court's opinion bears repeating here:

"In its Pa.R.A.P. 1925(a) opinion, the PCRA court found that Claitt's favorable treatment in pending cases was thoroughly explored at trial. Furthermore, it characterized the recantation claim as 'garden variety', and found that Appellant had not exercised due diligence as he failed to contact Claitt in three decades. [Citation omitted]. Moreover, the court maintained that the claims of misconduct were so 'outlandish' and 'unreliable' as to permit a credibility-based dismissal without an evidentiary hearing. [Footnote and citation omitted]. The court distinguished Medina and [Davis] as 'extremely fact specific, presenting unique circumstances.' [Citation omitted].

We find that Appellant properly pled exceptions to the time-bar . . . Our decisions in Medina and Davis are instructive in this regard. In Medina . . . this Court concluded that the petitioner had no way of knowing that the two children had lied at trial because a detective had threatened them. Furthermore, we found that a reasonable investigation could not have revealed these circumstances . . .

In Davis . . . due diligence did not require the petitioner to assume that the witnesses were committing perjury sanctioned by the Commonwealth."

- Commonwealth v. Franklin, 201 A.3d 854, pp. 9-11 (Pa. Super. 2018) (unpublished memorandum) (emphasis added) (Exhibit "AA").

323. On the Burton issue, the Superior Court sanctioned Burton's holding that "due diligence requires neither perfect vigilance nor punctilious care, but rather it requires reasonable efforts by a petitioner, based on the particular circumstances, to uncover facts that may support a claim for collateral relief." Commonwealth v. Franklin, 201 A.3d 854, p. 11 (Pa. Super. 2018) (citing Burton, 121 A.3d at 1071) (unpublished memorandum) (Exhibit "AA").

324. The Superior Court's decision in Franklin's appeal was actually over a stronger lower court decision than Tillery's, since the PCRA court made credibility determinations in Franklin's appeal. Despite this, the Superior Court saw fit to reverse.

325. The decisions denying Tillery an evidentiary hearing in the Pennsylvania courts were manifestly incorrect. Tillery respectfully submits that, on identical facts, citing exactly the same cases, and making the same arguments, Tillery's co-defendant has been granted the relief which Tillery is rightfully entitled to: a determination of the merits of the grave allegations of prosecutorial misconduct and the constitutional violations he raises here for the first time.

2. Petitioner's Pro Se 2007 PCRA Petition

326. The Superior Court of Pennsylvania, in denying Tillery a hearing on timeliness grounds, also approved the PCRA court's declaration that the claims in this petition were previously raised in Tillery's second, 2007 pro se PCRA petition. Commonwealth v. Tillery, 193 A.3d 1063, p. 5 (Pa. Super. 2018). For purposes of clarity, Tillery describes his 2007 PCRA petition below.

327. The factual predicate of Tillery's pro se 2007 PCRA petition (Exhibit "U") was that Claitt was offered a sentence of “less than ten years” as a plea deal on the 1978-1980 charges and that Mickens had obtained parole assistance, contradicting their trial testimony that they had no deals.

328. Exhibit "M", Arnold Gordon's January 31, 1984, letter to the Parole Board and Exhibit "K", Assistant District Attorney Leonard Ross's letter to Judge Katz on January 5, 1981 were attached as exhibits to Tillery's 2007 PCRA petition. The other exhibits referenced in Tillery's 2016 PCRA petition (as well as this Petition) are new, and were not available in 2007.

329. There was no documentation in the available records at that time to support the new facts, as now revealed in Claitt's and Mickens' declarations, that their testimony was manufactured and coached by the Commonwealth. Nor were the specific plea deals known, which included dismissals of open charges - including entire sets of charges which were never disclosed at trial - along with other inducements offered to Claitt and Mickens, such as arranging for sex with girlfriends in homicide interview rooms.

330. The 1983 log records of the Police Administration Building (PAB) homicide interview rooms, which corroborate the assertions of sexual liaisons in exchange for false testimony, are not public records and could not have been discovered by Tillery through a records search. They were provided to Tillery by a prisoner, Andre Harvey, who obtained them through a private investigator.

331. Based on the trial testimony of Claitt and Mickens, who stated at trial that they were witnesses to or in some way involved in the shootings, Tillery had always assumed that Claitt and Mickens were uncharged accessories to the October 22, 1976 shooting. This did not change until he discovered, through Claitt's and Mickens' declarations, that neither had been at the poolhall on October 22, 1976 at all.

332. Although the 2007 PCRA petition alleges Claitt's deal with prosecutors for the 1978-1980 charges, it did not include Claitt's admission that he had a deal with the Commonwealth, since that was not available at the time.

333. More significantly, it did not include the claim that the Commonwealth completely concealed the existence of the May 16, 1980 robbery charges and its agreement to dismiss those charges - prosecutorial misconduct which alone should merit reversal.

334. The 2007 PCRA petition also did not include the Commonwealth's agreement with Claitt to dismiss the April 13, 1983 charges (the 1983 robbery charges).

335. Although it alleges the existence of an agreement between Mickens and the Commonwealth, the 2007 PCRA petition does not include an allegation that Mickens had a deal to receive zero prison time. Nor was the 2007 petition supported by an admission, from Mickens, that such a deal existed.

336. The existence of the sex-for-testimony arrangement between Claitt, Mickens and the Commonwealth was also not alleged in the 2007 PCRA petition.

337. Petitioner has consistently maintained his innocence from the date of his conviction. The claims in this Petition were not alleged in 2007 for the simple reason that there was no evidence at the time to support them.

338. Tillery's 2016 PCRA petition contains substantively different claims from his 2007 PCRA. The 2016 PCRA also contains entirely different, and far more serious, factual allegations regarding the specific content of the perjured testimony - the entirety of Claitt and Mickens' testimony - supported by newly discovered evidence.

B. PETITIONER MEETS THE REQUIREMENTS OF 28 U.S.C. § 2244 (b)(2)

339. In order to file a successive petition for writ of habeas corpus, a petitioner must demonstrate that his petition satisfies the requirements of § 2244(b)(2), which states:

- (i) The factual predicate for the claim could not have been discovered previously through the exercise of due diligence; and
- (ii) The facts underlying the claim, if proven and viewed in light of the evidence as a whole, would be sufficient to establish by clear and convincing evidence that, but for constitutional error, no reasonable factfinder would have found the applicant guilty of the underlying offense.

- 28 U.S.C § 2244(b)(2)(B).

1. The Factual Predicate of These Claims Could Not Have Been Discovered Previously Through the Exercise of Due Diligence

340. An important, even primary, consideration in evaluating Tillery's exercise of due diligence is the extent and impact of the evidence which has been suppressed by the Commonwealth. This Petition does not allege that a potentially exculpatory piece of documentary evidence was suppressed, or that a single, secondary witness subsequently recanted their testimony. The primary eyewitness has now stated that his testimony was entirely perjured, and every eyewitness so states. Furthermore, the Commonwealth deliberately suppressed the existence of robbery charges (the May 1980 robbery charges) and its deal with Claitt on those charges, in addition to deals on other charges (the 1983 robbery charges and the 1978-1980 charges), the revelation of which would undoubtedly have compelled a different verdict at trial.

341. As discussed below, the factual predicate is not that Claitt and Mickens lied in inculcating Tillery: that is not a new fact. Tillery was well aware of this, and has always maintained that he is factually innocent.

342. The following acts of misconduct by the Commonwealth were previously unknown to Tillery:

- (a) The fact that prosecution witnesses Claitt and Mickens were not on the scene of the shootings at all, and that the entirety of their testimony concerning Tillery was false, was known to the Commonwealth, which used threats and promises of favorable treatment as an inducement for that false testimony;
- (b) Threatening prosecution witnesses Claitt and Mickens with false murder charges unless they agreed to provide false testimony against Tillery;

- (c) Arranging private meetings for sexual liaisons involving Claitt and Mickens, while they were in custody, by named detectives, with named women;
- (d) Manufacturing Claitt's and Mickens' false statements and testimony inculcating Tillery;
- (e) Arranging a meeting of Claitt with Mickens, while they were in custody, for Claitt to convince Mickens to falsely testify against Tillery;
- (f) Granting multiple undisclosed plea deals to Claitt and Mickens, including dismissal of charges, minimal sentences, bail arrangements and release from jail despite detainers;
- (g) Concealing the existence of a set of charges (the May 16, 1980 robbery charges) from the defense, on which the Commonwealth had an agreement to dismiss the charges entirely;
- (h) Prompting Claitt and Mickens to testify falsely denying those same plea deals and bail and parole agreements; and
- (i) Vouching at trial for the truthfulness and lack of ulterior motive for Claitt's and Mickens' false testimony, and failing to correct that perjured testimony.

343. The Supreme Court has held that a stricter standard of materiality applies in cases where the prosecution intentionally solicits perjured testimony. United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97, 103 (1976). In the Brady context, the Third Circuit has also definitively rejected the proposition that a due diligence requirement should be imposed on a petitioner. Dennis v. Sec'y, Pa. Dep't of Corr., 834 F.3d 263 (3rd Cir. 2016). In doing so, the Third Circuit noted:

"[Brady's] focus on disclosure by the prosecutor, not diligence by defense, is reiterated in the Supreme Court's approval of the shift in the traditional adversarial system Brady imposes . . . That the government may be burdened by the Brady rule does not undercut its need to comply with it. The imposition of an affirmative due diligence requirement on defense counsel would erode the prosecutor's obligation under, and the basis for, Brady itself."

- Dennis, 834 F.3d at 290

344. The exculpatory evidence considered in Dennis was a receipt in the possession of the Commonwealth which, the Commonwealth asserted, could have been obtained by the defense through public records searches, but was not discovered until many years later. The wrongdoing documented in this Petition is far more egregious: it undermines the entirety of the evidence actually presented at trial. Furthermore, it was not available through public records, and was actively suppressed by the Commonwealth.

345. In fact, as noted previously, the allegations in this Petition closely track Banks v. Dretke, 540 U.S. 668 (2004), on which Dennis relied. In Banks, a witness' trial testimony had been "intensively coached by prosecutors and law enforcement officers", and a police informant "testified, untruthfully, that he never gave the police any statement and, indeed, had not talked to any police officer about the case until a few days before the trial." Id. at 675. In rejecting a due diligence requirement for a Brady claim alleging prosecutorial misconduct, the Supreme Court held in Banks that "[a] rule thus declaring 'prosecutor may hide, defendant must seek,' is not tenable in a system constitutionally bound to accord defendants due process." Id. at 696.

346. Although a due diligence requirement for a Brady claim is analytically distinct from the gatekeeping inquiry here, the Third Circuit's opinion in Dennis, which involved facts far less egregious than those in Tillery's Petition, should weigh heavily in this Court's assessment of whether Tillery makes a showing of due diligence.

347. The Third Circuit has explained that the "reasonable diligence" standard does not require extreme or exceptional diligence. Wilson v. Beard, 426 F.3d 653, 660 (citing Schuleter v. Varner, 384 F.3d 69, 74 (3d Cir. 2004)) ("... to satisfy § 2244(d)(1)(D)'s 'due diligence' standard, a prisoner must exercise 'reasonable diligence in the circumstances.'"); Lacava v. Kyler, 398 F.3d 271, 277 (3d Cir. 2005) (reasonable diligence does not require 'the maximum feasible diligence.'). The standard does not require "perfection" in the conduct of the litigation. Urcinoli v. Cathel, 546 F.3d 269, 277 (3d Cir. 2008). The Third Circuit also recognizes that a long period of incarceration bears on the due diligence inquiry, and that "physical confinement can limit a litigant's ability to exercise due diligence." Schuleter v. Varner, 384 F.3d at 75 (citing Moore v. Knight, 368 F.3d 936, 940 (7th Cir. 2004)).

348. Petitioner has consistently maintained his innocence. He was aware at trial that the testimony against him was perjured. Following his conviction, despite the lack of legal representation, he steadily conducted research on Claitt and Mickens and investigated avenues through which he could prove his innocence. This included obtaining a large number of external documents and public records through the Pennsylvania Right-to-Know Law, which were used to support his second PCRA petition in 2007.

349. Petitioner's pro se 2007 PCRA petition, his second, was the result of these diligent and extensive efforts. The factual predicate of that petition was that Claitt was offered a sentence of "less than ten years" as a plea deal and Mickens had obtained parole assistance, contradicting their trial testimony that they had no deals.

350. In this regard it should also be noted that public access to Pennsylvania Criminal County criminal docket sheets only became available on September 18, 2006, shortly before Tillery filed his 2007 PCRA. Prior to that date, Tillery was unable to obtain comprehensive lists of Claitt and Mickens' docket sheets.

351. The 2007 PCRA petition shows that Tillery has consistently and patiently sought, within the constraints imposed upon him by his more than 37-year incarceration (of which approximately 20 years were spent in solitary confinement) to uncover information on Claitt and Mickens and prove his innocence.

352. There was no documentation in the available records at that time to support the new facts, as now revealed in Claitt's and Mickens' declarations, that their testimony was manufactured and coached by the Commonwealth. Nor were the specific plea deals known, which included dismissals of open charges - including entire sets of charges which were never disclosed at trial - along with other inducements offered to Claitt and Mickens, such as arranging for sex with girlfriends in homicide interview rooms.

353. Based on the trial testimony of Claitt and Mickens, who stated at trial that they were witnesses to or in some way involved in the shootings, Tillery had always assumed that Claitt and Mickens were uncharged accessories to the October 22, 1976 shooting. This did not change until he discovered, through Claitt's and Mickens' declarations, that neither had been at the poolhall on October 22, 1976 at all.

354. Petitioner did not previously attempt to contact Claitt or Mickens. He did not do so in the preparation for his 2007 PCRA, or afterwards, until Claitt and Mickens themselves came forward in 2016. It is not that doing so never occurred to him. The reason he did not previously seek to contact either witness is because the Commonwealth maintained, falsely, that Claitt and Mickens had been threatened by him.

355. At trial, Claitt falsely maintained that Tillery had attempted to shoot him in 1982 in retaliation for his testimony. The Commonwealth also obtained a protective order at trial to conceal Mickens' identity from the defense, on the false grounds that Mickens feared retaliation. Because of the prosecutorial misconduct in this case, any attempt to contact Claitt or Mickens would have prompted immediate retaliation from prosecutors. Claitt states that, as recently as 2014, he was still receiving favorable treatment from the Philadelphia District Attorney's office. Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016 (Exhibit "A"). Both Claitt and Mickens state that they did not previously come forward due to fear of retaliation if they did so.

356. To more clearly explain the consequences for him if he had attempted to contact either witness earlier, Tillery briefly summarizes the circumstances of his incarceration.

357. Following his conviction, Tillery was identified in prison as a leader in the prison population and - falsely - as a former leader in the Philadelphia Black Mafia. After riots broke out at Camp Hill in October 1989, Tillery was shipped out of Pennsylvania and transferred into the federal system, into maximum security and solitary confinement at Leavenworth and then the super-max isolation prison at Marion, Ill. His prison jacket falsely stated that he was a participant in the Camp Hill riot and that he had "gang involvement". These allegations were plainly incorrect, since Tillery was not even incarcerated at Camp Hill when the riots happened, and could not have been a participant.¹⁴

¹⁴ The errors in Tillery's record were not corrected until twenty years after his conviction, in 2007-2009, when Tillery participated in a class action lawsuit challenging the grounds for his solitary confinement in the New Jersey State

358. Over three decades of incarceration, during which he spent more than twenty years in solitary confinement,¹⁵ Tillery had zero misconducts based on gang affiliations or prisoner organizing, belying his alleged affiliation with the "Black Mafia". He was released from solitary confinement in 2014 after eleven years without a misconduct - only two years before Claitt and Mickens made their declarations.

359. Furthermore, both Claitt and Mickens explicitly state that they feared, and continue to fear, retaliation for revealing the Commonwealth's solicitation of perjured testimony and exercise of coercion upon them.

360. The conditions of Tillery's thirty year confinement are relevant to this Court's due diligence inquiry. Schuleter v. Varner, 384 F.3d at 75. Despite the conditions of his incarceration, Tillery utilized available public records to research and file his second PCRA petition in 2007. The records underpinning this Petition - the declarations of Claitt and Mickens, and the PAB log sheets provided by Andre Harvey - were not public records. Tillery could not have located Claitt and Mickens safely until they themselves came forth. Furthermore, the witnesses who have now come forward state explicitly that they feared, and continue to fear, retaliation for doing so.

Management Control Unit (MCU). Although the action was dismissed on summary judgment, the twenty-year error in his record concerning his presence at Camp Hill during the riots was corrected during the lawsuit. Tillery v. Hayman, No. 3:07-cv-02662-MLC-LHG (D.N.J. Mar. 31, 2011).

361. Petitioner has exercised reasonable diligence in pursuing avenues for relief. Reasonable diligence is fact-specific, and takes into account the conditions of a petitioner's confinement. Due diligence cannot include a requirement for a petitioner to affirmatively take steps to contact known, lying witnesses who represented that they feared retaliation from the petitioner, who actually testified that they were attacked by the petitioner at trial, and with respect to whom the petitioner would have faced retaliation for attempting to contact.

362. "In Banks [v. Dretke], the Supreme Court explicitly rejected the notion that 'the prosecution can lie and conceal and the prisoner still has the burden to . . . discover the evidence, so long as the potential existence of a prosecutorial misconduct claim might have been detected." Dennis v. Sec'y, Pa. Dep't of Corr., 834 F.3d 263, 291 (3d Cir. 2016) (quoting Banks, 540 U.S. at 696). The Supreme Court has made it clear that the Commonwealth's conduct, as described in this Petition, is the very sort of government interference with the truth-seeking process that cannot be tolerated. Under Banks, "a defendant is 'entitled to treat the prosecutor's submissions as truthful.' Banks, 540 U.S. at 698; see also id. at 696 (counsel is entitled to "'presume that [the Commonwealth has] properly discharges [its] official duties'" (citation omitted); Berger v. United States, 295 U.S. 78, 88 (1935).

363. Although Dennis' rejection of a due diligence requirement for the substantive component of a Brady claim is analytically distinct from the due diligence inquiry of 28 U.S.C. § 2244(b)(2), Tillery respectfully submits to this Court that concerns regarding prosecutorial misconduct, as well as the corruption of the truth-seeking process by the intentional procurement of perjured testimony, should weigh heavily in its consideration of due diligence for a successive petition.

SCI Pittsburgh and SCI Forest, and four months in solitary at SCI Frackville, for a total of approximately 20 years in solitary confinement.

2. With the Facts Underlying This Petition, No Reasonable Factfinder Could Have Found Tillery Guilty of the Underlying Offense

364. The two witnesses on whose testimony Tillery's conviction depended state that their substantive testimony was entirely false. They recount circumstances in which their perjured testimony was extorted from them through threats of prison time. Inducements were provided, including promises of leniency and sexual inducements. Those promises of leniency were, actually, fulfilled. None of this was disclosed to Tillery.

365. The declarations of Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens undermine the entirety of the Commonwealth's case. Both state their testimony - all the evidence inculpatory Tillery - was manufactured by the Commonwealth.

366. In addition to this, the Commonwealth suppressed evidence of deals to dismiss a set of robbery charges, to receive reduced time on charges which Claitt pled guilty to, and also completely concealed the existence of a separate set of robbery charges for which Claitt was arrested four days before his statement to police inculpatory Tillery.

367. This Court has explained that if a key witness testifies, falsely, that they received no consideration for their testimony, this alone suffices to make out a Napue claim. Haskell v. Superintendent Greene SCI, 866 F.3d 139, 145-47 (3d Cir.

2017) (citations omitted). Taking these facts "in light of the evidence as a whole" - a review which should include in its purview the paucity of direct evidence against Tillery at trial - this Court should conclude, to a clear and convincing (or indeed, to any) standard, that no reasonable factfinder who was aware of this evidence could have found Tillery guilty.

C. PETITIONER SATISFIES AN EQUITABLE EXCEPTION TO 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)

1. Legal Standard

368. "A 1-year period of limitation shall apply to an application for a writ of habeas corpus by a person in custody pursuant to the judgment of a State court." 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1). As relevant here, the limitations period begins anew on "the date on which the factual predicate of the claim or claims presented could have been discovered through the exercise of due diligence." 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1)(D).

369. AEDPA's limitation period "does not set forth 'an inflexible rule requiring dismissal whenever' its 'clock has run'." Holland v. Florida, 560 U.S. 631, 645 (2010) (quoting Day v. McDonough, 547 U.S. 198, 208 (2006)). The Supreme Court has held that AEDPA's limitation period is not jurisdictional. Id. (citing Day, 547 U.S. at 205); see also Miller v. N.J. State Dep't of Corr., 145 F.3d 616, 617 (3d Cir. 1998). Instead, the limitation period is subject to both statutory and equitable tolling.¹⁶ Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308, 327-29 (3d Cir. 2012).

370. In addition to tolling, "to prevent a 'fundamental miscarriage of justice', an untimely petition is not barred when a petition makes a 'credible showing of actual innocence'" Reeves v. Fayette SCI, 897 F.3d 154, 160 (3d Cir. 2018) (quoting McQuiggin v. Perkins, 569 U.S. 383, 392 (2013)).

2. Petitioner's Innocence Provides a Gateway Through the Statute of Limitations

371. Petitioner's showing of innocence allows him to overcome procedural default and to obtain a ruling on the merits of any procedurally defaulted claim. The Supreme Court recently reiterated the significance of such a showing of innocence to obtaining review of otherwise procedurally-defaulted claims:

"Decisions of this Court support Perkins' view of the significance of a convincing actual-innocence claim . . . We have recognized . . . that a prisoner 'otherwise subject to defense of abusive or successive use of the writ [of habeas corpus] may have his federal constitutional claim considered on the merits if he makes a proper showing of actual innocence.' Id., at 404

(citing Sawyer v. Whitley, 505 U.S. 333 (1992)). See also Murray v. Carrier, 477 U.S. 478, 496 (1986) ('[w]e think that in an extraordinary case, where a constitutional violation has probably resulted in the conviction of one who is actually innocent, a federal habeas court may grant the writ even in the absence of a showing of cause for the procedural default.'). In other words, a credible showing of actual innocence may allow a prisoner to pursue his constitutional claims (here, ineffective assistance of counsel) on the merits notwithstanding the existence of a procedural bar to relief. 'This rule, or fundamental miscarriage of justice exception, is grounded in the "equitable discretion" of habeas courts to see that federal constitutional errors do not result in the incarceration of innocent persons.' Herrera, 506 U.S. at 404.

We have applied the miscarriage of justice exception to overcome various procedural defaults. These include 'successive' petitions asserting previously rejected claims, see Kuhlmann v. Wilson, 477 U.S. 436, 454 (1986) (plurality opinion), 'abusive' petitions asserting in a second petition claims that could have been raised in a first petition, see McCleskey v. Zant, 499 U.S. 467, 494-495 (1991), failure to develop facts in state court, see Keeney v. Tamayo-Reyes, 504 U.S. 1, 11-12 (1992), and failure to observe state procedural rules, including filing deadlines, see Coleman v. Thompson, 501 U.S. 722, 750 (1991); Carrier, 477 U.S. 495-496."

- McQuiggin v. Perkins, 569 U.S. 383, 392-393 (2013).

372. Thus, when a petitioner presents a claim of innocence and a fundamental miscarriage of justice, concepts of cause and prejudice "must yield to the imperative of correcting a fundamentally unjust incarceration." Murray v. Carrier, 477 U.S. 478, 496 (1986) (quoting Engle v. Isaac, 456 U.S. 107, 135 (1982)). The "miscarriage of justice" exception applies to cases of "probable innocence", Schlup v. Delo, 513 U.S. 298, 317, 324-25, 326-27 & n. 42 (1995).

373. AEDPA's statute of limitations is a federal procedural default, to which a gateway claim of actual innocence provides an equitable exception. McQuiggin, 569 U.S. at 394.

374. The claim in Schlup was not itself a constitutional claim, but a gateway through which the petitioner could pass in order to obtain review of otherwise barred claims. Id. at 315-16. Consequently, Schlup carried less of a burden of proof than Herrera. Id. at 316. A petitioner need not show that he is actually innocent of the crime he was convicted of, but only that in light of the new evidence "a court cannot have confidence in the outcome of the trial." Id. This standard is significantly easier to meet than the standard for a sufficiency of the evidence challenge under Jackson v. Virginia, 443 U.S. 307 (1979). Schlup, 513 U.S. at 327, 330.

375. A court determining whether a gateway claim of actual innocence has been proven engages in a "probabilistic determination" regarding whether it is "more likely than not" that no reasonable juror, in light of the new evidence, would have found the petitioner guilty. Id. at 315-16. The Supreme Court has also described this standard as whether it is "more likely than not any reasonable juror would have reasonable doubt . . ." House v. Bell, 547 U.S. 518, 538 (2006) (emphasis added).

376. A reviewing court does not exercise "independent judgment as to whether reasonable doubt exists." Instead, it makes an evaluation "about what reasonable, properly instructed jurors would do." This inquiry is "[focused] . . . on the likely behavior of the trier of fact." Schlup, 513 U.S. at 329-30; Reeves v. Fayette SCI, 897 F.3d 154, 160-61 (3d Cir. 2018). "Because a Schlup claim involves evidence the jury did not have before it, the inquiry requires the federal court to assess how reasonable jurors would react to the overall newly supplemented record." House, 547 U.S. at 555. "The Schlup inquiry . . . requires a holistic judgment about all the evidence, and its likely effect on reasonable jurors applying the reasonable doubt standard." Id.

377. Evidence that casts doubt upon the reliability of the proof of guilt, including impeachment evidence, but which does not affirmatively prove innocence, can be enough to pass through the Schlup gateway. See Schlup, 513 U.S. at 327 ("[U]nder the gateway standard . . . , the newly presented evidence may indeed call into question the credibility of the witnesses presented at trial."); Carriger v. Stewart, 132 F.3d 463, 478 (9th Cir. 1997).

378. Here, Tillery has pled facts that establish a "miscarriage of justice". The evidence against Tillery at his trial was already questionable. There was no physical evidence, and the case rested entirely on the testimony of Emanuel Claitt. The new exculpatory evidence described above undermines the entirety of the evidence against Tillery, and in light of this evidence - particularly Claitt's statements that the Commonwealth manufactured his testimony - it is more likely than not that no reasonable juror would vote to convict him. Other courts have found a Schlup claim on similar proof. They have also found a Schlup claim to be made out when less than all the eyewitnesses declared their testimony was false.¹⁷ In this case, every fact witness has declared that their testimony was not only false or inaccurate, but manufactured by the Commonwealth.

¹⁷ See, e.g., Finch v. McKoy, 914 F.3d 292 (4th Cir. 2019) (no physical evidence; recantation of secondary eyewitness who did not give perjured testimony, but who was pressured by police and prosecutors into testifying, cast doubt on primary eyewitness and met Schlup standard); Teleguz v. Pearson, 689 F.3d 322 (4th Cir. 2012) (recantations of two out of three eyewitnesses, who had been threatened by police and prosecutors, met Schlup standard); Fairman v. Anderson, 188 F.3d 635 (5th Cir. 1999) (recantation of sole witness, who testified under threatened charges by police; court held the recantation met Schlup standard, granted the writ and reversed conviction); Arnold v. Dittman, 901 F.3d 830 (7th Cir. 2018) (sexual assault of a child; recantation of key eyewitness, standing alone, required remand for an evidentiary hearing on Schlup claim); Amrine v. Bowersox, 128 F.3d 1222 (8th Cir. 1997) (no physical evidence; three direct eyewitnesses all recanted, stating they were pressured into testifying and had open charges dismissed; remand to consider Schlup claim); Carriger v. Stewart, 132 F.3d 463 (9th Cir. 1997) (chief prosecution witness recanted; court granted the writ).

379. At a minimum, Tillery is entitled to show his actual innocence at an evidentiary hearing. "Actual innocence" is fact-dependent. As Schlup found, "[t]he fact-intensive nature of this inquiry, together with the District Court's ability to take testimony from the key witnesses if it deems that course advisable, convinces us that the most expeditious procedure is to . . . remand[] to the District Court for further proceedings consistent with this opinion." Schlup, 513 U.S. at 332.

380. Accordingly, as to his allegations that his innocence acts as a gateway to review of defaulted claims, this Court should either: 1) find that Tillery has met the Schlup standard and review any claims found to be procedurally defaulted on their merits; or 2) grant him an evidentiary hearing to show his actual innocence as a gateway to review of any such defaulted substantive claims. Such a hearing would also be required to permit him to demonstrate his entitlement to relief based on his innocence as a free-standing claim for relief.

381. The requirements of 28 U.S.C. § 2254(e)(2) do not apply to any evidentiary hearing on a Schlup claim. Cristin v. Brennan, 281 F.3d 404, 417 (3d Cir. 2002) (28 U.S.C. § 2254(e)(2) does not apply to "hearings on excuses for procedural defaults"); Holloway v. Horn, 355 F.3d 707, 716 (3d Cir. 2004) (same, for cause to excuse a procedural default).

2. Petitioner Qualifies for Equitable Tolling

382. The AEDPA statute of limitations is also subject to equitable tolling. Holland v. Florida, 560 U.S. 631 (2010). ". . . equitable tolling is appropriate when 'principles of equity would make the rigid application of a limitation period unfair.'" Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308, 328-329 (3d Cir. 2002) (quoting Miller v. N.J. State Dep't of Corr., 145 F.3d 616, 618 (3d Cir. 1998)). For equitable tolling to apply, a petitioner must show that he has been diligently pursuing his rights and that an extraordinary circumstance prevented him from filing his petition on time. Holland, 560 U.S. at 649.

383. As discussed previously, Tillery has shown reasonable diligence in pursuing his petition. He submits that his lack of access to legal resources during his incarceration, including the destruction of his legal files in 2011 at SCI Pittsburgh, constitutes extraordinary circumstances. Miller v. N.J. State Dep't of Corr., 145 F.3d 616 (3d Cir. 1998).

CONCLUSION AND REQUEST FOR RELIEF

Wherefore, Petitioner, Major G. Tillery, prays this Honorable Court, for all of the aforementioned reasons, including the attached affidavits and exhibits, and in the interests of justice, to:

- 1) Grant him an evidentiary hearing and discovery;
- 2) Reverse his conviction;
- 3) Bar re-trial, and
- 4) Issue a writ of habeas corpus and order his immediate release.

Exhibit A

Verified Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016

DECLARATION OF EMANUEL CLAITT
PURSUANT TO PA C.C. § 4904 AND 28 U.S.C. § 1746

Emanuel Claitt makes the following verified declaration:

I submit this declaration stating that I lied when I testified at the trial of Major Tillery in May 1985 for the murder of Joseph Hollis and attempted murder of John Pickens on October 22, 1976.

I wasn't in the pool hall when Joseph Hollis was shot and killed and John Pickens shot and injured.

I wasn't anywhere near Joseph Hollis and John Pickens when they were shot.

I lied when I testified that Major Tillery and William Franklin were in the pool hall and shot Hollis and Pickens.

I was in prison in 1980 on serious charges and I was approached by Philadelphia detectives Larry Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert. They threatened to charge me with the murder of Samuel Goodwin. I had eight or nine open cases, at least three of them were felonies with a lot of years of prison time.

I was threatened about the murder of Samuel Goodwin. The detectives really wanted information to get Major Tillery for murder.

Detectives and prosecutors ADA ^{Len Ross E.C.} ~~Roger King~~ and Barbara Christie promised if I said that Major Tillery and William Franklin were the shooters in the 1976 murder of Joseph Hollis and the attempted murder of John Pickens I wouldn't get state time in my many pending criminal charges and I wouldn't be charged in the murder of Samuel Goodwin, that I had nothing to do with.

I was threatened that I would get maximum prison time if I didn't cooperate to get Tillery and Franklin.

I was also allowed to have sex with my girlfriends (four of them) in the homicide interview rooms and in hotel rooms, in exchange for my cooperation.

Detectives Larry Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert, and Lt. Bill Shelton with the knowledge and direction of ADAs Roger King ^{Lynn Ross & C.} and Barbara Christie, promised me leniency, threatened me and allowed me private time for sex with girlfriends in the homicide interview rooms and hotel rooms.

Major Tillery couldn't be found when the prosecution wanted to arrest him and Franklin. So Franklin was tried in December 1980 and I falsely testified against William Franklin at his trial for the 1976 murder of Hollis and attempted murder of Pickens. In truth, I wasn't in or near the pool hall when the shootings happened.

After Franklin's trial I tried to recant but Lt. Shelton threatened me and said I would be framed on another murder.

At Major Tillery's trial in 1985, I testified about a meeting and an argument that supposedly took place on October 20, 1976 between Alfred Clark the leader of North Philadelphia drug selling and those in charge of drug selling in West Philadelphia, including Joseph Hollis and John Pickens. This argument supposedly took place in the home of ~~Samuel Goodwin~~. I testified that Major Tillery was there and after an argument and pistol slapping of Clark by Hollis, Major Tillery said that "Hollis would have to die for what he did."

E.C.

This was not true. I was not at any such meeting and I didn't have any personal knowledge of this supposed argument and threat made by Major Tillery.

E.C. I also testified at Major Tillery's trial that after the argument in Goodman's ~~Goodwin's~~ house a group that included me as well as Clark and Major Tillery met at a mosque in North Philadelphia and drove a few blocks to a poolroom owned by William Franklin to demand Sylvester White, the head of the West Philadelphia drug selling, arrange a meeting with Hollis and Pickens.

None of this testimony was true. I had no involvement, if any of this actually happened.

I falsely testified that on October 22, 1976, I was standing by the door inside the pool hall during the meeting to prevent anyone from entering or leaving and that both Franklin and Pickens were in the pool hall.

I lied when I testified I heard a gunshot/gunshots in the pool hall, saw Pickens and Hollins shot and that Major Tillery and Franklin were in the pool hall and that they were the shooters.

E.C.

At Major Tillery's trial I was forced by ADA Barbara Christie to testify about the "black mafia" and that they were run by Black Muslims in Philadelphia.

Before Major Tillery's trial, detectives instructed me to persuade Robert Mickens to become a witness against Major Tillery. I was put in a police van to ride alone with Mickens back and forth from homicide up to the county holding prison on State Street, to make it clear to Mickens that he really had no choice, except to testify against Major Tillery.

I knew Robert Mickens before this and lied at Major Tillery's trial when I testified I had never met or spoken with him.

I also falsely accused Major Tillery of placing a fire bomb on the front porch of Frank Henderson on Church Lane.

Everything I testified to at Major Tillery's trial and William Franklin's trial about witnessing an argument between Alfred Clark and Joseph Hollis, threats made by Major Tillery against John Pickens and the shootings at the pool hall a few days later was false.

My testimony was made up while being questioned by homicide detectives Gerrard and Gilbert and being prepped by ADAs ^{Boss E.C.} Christie and King to testify against Major Tillery and William Franklin.

Detectives Larry Gerrard, Ernest Gilbert and ADAs Barbara Christie, ^{E.C.} ^{Len Ross} and Roger King interviewed me, and worked over my testimony to make sure Major Tillery and William Franklin were convicted of murder and attempted murder.

false E.C.
In exchange for my testimony many of my cases were not prosecuted. I got probation. I was sentenced to just 18 months for fire bombing and was protected when I was arrested between the time of Franklin's and Tillery's trials.

After Major Tillery's trial I was told I hadn't done good enough, that I "straddled the fence." In 1989 I was convicted of felony charges and spent 13 ½ years in prison, for something I did + do + framed by the ADA E.C.

In 2014 I was given help by the prosecution in getting all my bond judgments dismissed money returned to me for cases going back over 23 years. E.C.

I am now giving this verified declaration because I want to free my conscience. I need to be able to live with myself. It is vital I correct this. I testified falsely against Major Tillery and William Franklin because I was threatened by the police and prosecutors with a murder prosecution for a crime I didn't commit. I was promised no state time for crimes I did commit if I lied.

I am ready to testify in court for Major Tillery and William Franklin and tell the truth that I lied against them at their trials, coerced by police and prosecutors.

SUPPLEMENTAL DECLARATION OF EMANUEL CLAITT

Emanuel Claitt makes the following verified declaration:

I submit this supplemental declaration about my false, manufactured testimony against Major Tillery and William Franklin in the November 1980 and May 1985 trials for the murder of Joseph Hollis and attempted murder of John Pickens on October 22, 1976.

The police detectives and prosecutors I met with knew I didn't have any personal knowledge that Major Tillery and William Franklin were involved or part of those shootings. They manufactured the lies I gave against Tillery and Franklin and coached me before the trials.

It was clear they knew I didn't have any direct knowledge about the shootings at the poolroom on October 22, 1976, that I wasn't there then or at the argument at Dana Goodman's house or meetings before the October 22, 1976 shootings. ^{For example} They said things to me like: In our meetings I said you know I wasn't there - you have to fill in the blanks. Detectives Gerrard, Gilbert, Det Lubiejewski and ADA Lynn Ross would tell me - "you're got to say it this way," I was told - "we're got to bring him down - you're got to help us." That meant I should lie. Barbara Christie told me, "your the best, you should have been a lawyer." That meant I knew how to lie.

Emanuel Claitt

The prosecutor against William Franklin in 1980 was Lynn Ross. I met with him as well as ADAs who worked with Barbara Christie.

soon after I met with Lt. Bill Shelton and Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert & Lubiejewski

E.C. I met with ADA Roger King who had me lie in another case.

I was coached by ADA Barbara Christie before Major Tillery's trial. She was worried about my first statement that John Pickens had gone through a glass door. She coached me to testify about a second door leading out of the poolroom and that it had been a glass door.

ADA Christie coached me how to answer the defense attorney's questions about whether I had plea deals or any agreements for leniency in sentencing for all the charges I faced back in 1980 when I first gave a statement about the shootings of Hollis and Pickens and since then. ADA Christie coached me on this like ADA Lynn Ross did before I testified against William Franklin.

Back in 1980 when I testified at Franklin's trial I lied when I said that the only plea agreement was that my sentences on three cases would run concurrently. But I had been promised the DA's recommendation to receive no more than 10 years. In fact I got one and a half-years. When I was questioned about this at Major Tillery's case I repeated the lie that I had no plea deal about length of sentencing. ADA Christie knew that wasn't true.

I was scheduled to go to trial on my robbery case soon after the Tillery trial was over. ADA Christie coached me to stick to saying that the robbery case was "open" and that there were no agreements about leniency and sentencing. She coached me to just say I knew the judge would be told about my cooperation in Major Tillery's case and other cases. That's what I stuck to.

But my testimony that there was no plea deal was a lie and ADA Christie knew that. She told me the robbery charge & other charges would be not be processed, I would get very little time. And they were.

It was also a lie, known to ADAs Ross, Christie, King that Major Tillery and George Rose were involved in bombing/firebombing in 1979 and 1980 that I testified to in August 1985.

It was also a total fabrication that Major Tillery pulled a gun on me and threatened to shoot me in Philadelphia in early 1983.

I wasn't willing to tell the truth about the lies I testified to at these trials and that my false testimony was manufactured by the ADAs and police until now. It has taken me all these years to be willing and able to deal with my conscience and put aside my fears of retaliation by the police and prosecution for telling what really happened at those trials.

I am now ready and willing to testify in court for Major Tillery and William Franklin and tell the truth that I lied against them at their trials, coerced by police and prosecutors.

Emanuel Claitt:

I am Emanuel Claitt and I affirm the truthfulness of my verified declarations dated May 4, 2016 and June 3, 2016.

I lied when I testified at the trials of William Franklin in November 1980 and of Major Tillery in 1985 for the murder of Joseph Hollis and attempted murder of John Pickens on October 22, 1976.

I wasn't in the pool hall when Joseph Hollis was shot and killed and John Pickens shot and injured. I wasn't anywhere near Joseph Hollis and John Pickens when they were shot.

I lied when I testified that Major Tillery and William Franklin were in the pool hall and shot Hollis and Pickens.

Everything I testified to at Major Tillery's trial and William Franklin's trial about witnessing an argument between Alfred Clark and Joseph Hollis, threats made by Major Tillery against John Pickens and the shootings at the pool hall a few days later was false.

My testimony was made up while being questioned by homicide detectives Larry Gerrard, Ernest Gilbert and Lt. Bill Shelton and being prepped by ADAs Ross, Christie and King to testify against Major Tillery and William Franklin.

They worked over my testimony to make sure Major Tillery and William Franklin were convicted of murder and attempted murder.

I was in prison in 1980 on serious charges and I had a lot of open cases. At least three of them were felonies with a lot of years of prison time.

Detectives and prosecutors ADA Lynn Ross and Barbara Christie promised if I said that Major Tillery and William Franklin were the shooters in the 1976 murder of Joseph Hollis and the attempted murder of John Pickens I wouldn't get state time in my many pending criminal charges and I wouldn't be charged in the murder of Samuel Goodwin, that I had nothing to do with.

I was threatened that I would get maximum prison time if I didn't cooperate to get Tillery and Franklin.

The detectives with the knowledge and direction of ADAs Lynn Ross, Barbara Christie and Roger King promised me leniency, threatened me and allowed me private time for sex with girlfriends in the homicide interview rooms and hotel rooms.

After Franklin's trial I tried to recant but Lt. Shelton threatened me and said I would be framed on another murder.

None of my testimony was true. I falsely testified that on October 22, 1976, I was standing by the door inside the pool hall during the meeting to prevent anyone from entering or leaving and that both Franklin and Pickens were in the pool hall.

I lied when I testified I saw Major Tillery and William Franklin shoot Pickens and Hollins.

Before Major Tillery's trial, detectives instructed me to persuade Robert Mickens to become a witness against Major Tillery.

I was put in a police van to ride alone with Mickens back and forth from homicide up to the county holding prison on State Road, to make it clear to Mickens that he really had no choice, except to testify against Major Tillery.

It was also a lie, known to ADAs Ross, Christie, King that Major Tillery and George Rose were involved in bombing -firebombings in 1979 and 1980 that I testified to that in August 1985.

It was also a total fabrication that Major Tillery pulled a gun on me and threatened to shoot me in Philadelphia in early 1983.

The police detectives and prosecutors I met with knew I didn't have any personal knowledge that Major Tillery and William Franklin were involved or part of those shootings. They manufactured the lies I gave against Tillery and Franklin and coached me before the trials.

I was coached by ADA Barbara Christie before Major Tillery's trial. She was worried about my first statement that John Pickens had gone through a glass door. She coached me to testify about a second door leading out of the poolroom and that it had been a glass door.

ADA Christie coached me how to answer the defense attorney's questions about whether I had plea deals or any agreements for leniency in sentencing for all the charges I faced back in 1980 when I first gave a statement about the shootings of Hollis and Pickens and since then.

ADA Christie coached me on this like ADA Lynn Ross did before I testified against William Franklin.

Back in 1980 when I testified at Franklin's trial I lied when I said that the only plea agreement was that my sentences on three cases would run concurrently. In fact I got one and a half-years.

In exchange for my false testimony many of my cases were not prosecuted. I got probation. I was sentenced to just 18 months for fire bombing and was protected when I was arrested between the time of Franklin's and Tillery's trials.

At Major Tillery's trial I testified that there was no plea deal. That was a lie and ADA Christie knew that. She told me the robbery charge and other charges would be nolle prossed. And they were.

At Major Tillery's trial I was forced by ADA Barbara Christie to testify about the "black mafia" and that they were run by Black Muslims in Philadelphia.

After Major Tillery's trial I was told I hadn't done good enough, that I "straddled the fence." In 1989 I was convicted of felony charges and spent 13 ½ years in prison for something I didn't do and framed by the ADA.

In 2014 I was given help by the prosecution in getting all my bond judgments dismissed on cases going back over 23 years.

I testified falsely against Major Tillery and William Franklin because I was threatened by the police and prosecutors with a murder prosecution for a crime I didn't commit. I was promised no state time for crimes I did commit if I lied.

I wasn't willing to tell the truth about the lies I testified to at these trials and that my false testimony was manufactured by the ADAs and police until now.

I gave my verified declarations because I want to free my conscience. I need to be able to live with myself.

It has taken me all these years to be willing and able to deal with my conscience and put aside my fears of retaliation by the police and prosecution for telling what really happened at those trials.

I am now ready and willing to testify in court for Major Tillery and William Franklin and tell the truth, the whole truth, that I lied against them at their trials, coerced by police and prosecutors. That is the end of the statement.

Emanuel Claitt: I get so much energy talking to you and knowing that you are the one that is going to fight the beat to get them out. They deserve to be out. They didn't do that crime and I didn't do the crime that they said I committed. The same thing I did to them the DA did to me—and got somebody to lie and I did 13½ years in prison and I lost a lot of time away from my family. Tillery and Franklin done did triple the time I did and I just think that they need to be free.

If right is right, right gonna prevail because the DA knows that they lied and got me to lie. I want to free my conscience. I can't live with myself knowing that I did that.

DECLARATION OF ROBERT MICKENS
PURSUANT TO PA C.C. § 4904 AND 28 U.S.C. § 1746

ROBERT MICKENS affirms the following under penalty of perjury:

In May 1985 I falsely testified as a witness for the Philadelphia County District Attorney in the prosecution of Major George Tillery (CP-51-CR-0305681-1984) on murder charges.

The testimony I gave at that trial was false, manufactured by the prosecutor, Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie.

I was coerced and promised favors if I falsely testified against Major Tillery.

I was arrested on February 28, 1984 on charges of robbery and rape and faced twenty-five years of imprisonment if convicted.

ADA Christie told me that if I “worked with [her] on the Major Tillery case” she “guaranteed” I wouldn’t be sent upstate on my robbery and rape case and would be “protected.”

ADA Christie and her homicide detectives, John Cimino and James McNeshy, repeatedly brought me in for questioning on a number of robbery and murder cases, asking me to become a prosecution witness against Major Tillery. On one occasion ADA Christie showed me what looked like a paper signed by Major Tillery saying that I was going to be an alibi witness for him. I told her I was.

I was brought down by homicide detectives to tell me that co-defendants Kenneth Pernell and Darry Workman were accusing me of being involved in the murder of Abe Green, a neighbor of the men. When I agreed to become a witness against them, because Darry Workman had confessed to me that he had shot Abe Green, I was transferred out of the Philadelphia area to a prison in Easton, PA, Northampton County Prison for my protection.

Before the preliminary hearing and my cooperation with the prosecution was publicly known, this information was released and an article appeared in the Philadelphia Daily News saying that I was a witness against Pernell and Workman. This put me at risk as a known "snitch." I complained to ADA Christie and she promised to take care of me.

I was brought down from Easton, supposedly to meet with the homicide detectives in Philadelphia. Instead I was put in a police van with Emanuel Claitt, who already testified against Major Tillery's co-defendant. I rode back and forth from police headquarters to the county prison on State Street with Claitt, but never taken from the van. Claitt told me I was "pretty hemmed up" and that Major Tillery was a "slime," that Major Tillery had been spreading the word that I was a snitch and that I should testify against Major Tillery.

I told detectives Cimino and McNeshy that I missed my girlfriend Judy Faust. I was given an hour and a half private visit with her in an interview room in the police headquarters so that we could have sex.

R. B. M.

I was a secret witness for the prosecution at trial.

My identity as a prosecution witness was kept from Major Tillery and his lawyer before I was called as a witness at the trial on the false grounds that I needed a protective order to protect me from Major Tillery.

That was not true. I had told Major Tillery that I would be a witness for him at the murder trial of John Hollis. He had no reason to think I would be a witness against him. I had no contact with Major Tillery once I was sent to Northampton County Prison. I did not fear him or ask for protection from Major Tillery.

At the trial I falsely testified that I was a look-out during the shooting of John Hollis and John Pickens. That was totally false. My entire testimony was scripted and rehearsed by ADA Barbara Christie.

I agreed to give this false testimony because I was I promised no prison time on the rape and robbery charges and that I would be protected by the prosecution. I was given sexual favors in exchange for my false testimony.

When I was sentenced on October 10, 1985 after my guilty plea of rape and criminal conspiracy, I didn't get prison time. I was sentenced to five years probation.

I didn't come forward earlier to recant and explain because of my own guilt for falsely testifying against Major Tillery and my fear of retaliation by the prosecution and police.

Much in my life has changed. I want to make amends for falsely testifying against Major Tillery. I am willing and ready to be a witness in any proceeding brought to challenge his conviction.

DECLARATION OF RACHEL WOLKENSTEIN
PURSUANT TO PA C.S. § 4904 AND 28 U.S.C. § 1746

RACHEL WOLKENSTEIN, declares the following under penalty of perjury:

I am an attorney at law, admitted to practice in the State of New York since 1974, residing in Brooklyn, NY.

This declaration is submitted in support of the Supplemental Petition filed by Petitioner.

Since approximately February 2015, I have assisted Major Tillery pro bono, in his efforts to overturn his conviction, to obtain and review his court records, and those of the witnesses against him, to conduct limited investigation and help him find pro bono legal representation in upcoming legal proceedings. In April 2016 I had phone call with Robert Mickens in which he said that he would provide an affidavit and was willing to testify on behalf of Major Tillery.

We met on April 18, 2016 and for the first time described why he had lied when he testified against Major Tillery at his trial. Robert Mickens recounted to me the combination of threats and favors he received from detectives and prosecutors to coerce and induce him to testify falsely. He described how the prosecutors coached him to answer questions about what he supposedly saw on the night of the shootings and to deny he received any plea deals.

I typed up the key points of what he told me. This was reviewed by Mr. Mickens and he signed his verified declaration that same day.

Mr. Mickens disclosed why his false testimony was sought by the prosecution and police and how it was obtained. He disclosed the van ride with Emanuel Claitt between the Roundhouse and the county prison on State Road during which Mr. Claitt pushed him to testify against Major Tillery. Mr. Mickens also disclosed that homicide detectives arranged for his girlfriend to join him in the Roundhouse for a sexual encounter. Mr. Mickens was quite emotional in describing this and expressed pain and regret about his role in Major Tillery's conviction.

It was a surprise when shortly after this a lead resulted in learning that Emanuel Claitt, whose testimony was the sole evidence against Major Tillery, was willing to meet and indicated that he needed to finally tell the truth about his false testimony against Major Tillery and William Franklin, who was the co-defendant in the case and tried three years earlier than Petitioner.

I met with Emanuel Claitt on May 3, 2016 and he told me that his trial testimony against Major Tillery and William Franklin was totally false, that he [Claitt] wasn't even in or near the poolroom that night and he had no personal knowledge of the who shot Joseph Hollis and John Pickens. Emanuel Claitt described the process of the detectives and prosecutors obtaining his false statement and preparing him to testify. I took notes in speaking with Mr. Claitt and met him the next morning, May 4, 2016 with a typed up declaration. He made some corrections and signed the declaration under penalty of perjury. I spoke with him again on the phone and in person on June 3, 2016 and he signed a supplemental declaration.

I met with Emanuel Claitt again on August 3, 2016. During this meeting he gave me the names of three of the women who he had sex with while in police custody. One woman, Barbara Claitt is deceased. He also told me that Helen Ellis, who is the mother of three of his children, saw him in the Roundhouse a number of times for the purposes of having sex. A third woman, Denise Certain (“De De”) was another woman who he saw at the Roundhouse.

On August 3, 2016, Emanuel Claitt agreed to be videotaped. I taped Emanuel Claitt as he reaffirmed his sworn declarations and read a statement that is a composite of his two verified declarations. This videotape is submitted as an exhibit to the Supplemental Declaration. [Exhibit A]

I located Helen Ellis on August 4, 2016 outside her home and spoke with her briefly. She acknowledged that she had sex with Emanuel Claitt in the Roundhouse homicide interview rooms and that arrangements were made with detectives who brought her up to him.

Based on the information received from Emanuel Claitt, I located Denise Certain.

With the information received from Robert Mickens, that included being put in a police van alone with Emanuel Claitt to give Claitt the opportunity to persuade Mickens to falsely testify against Major Tillery, and that homicide detectives had facilitated private sexual encounters for both men with their respective girlfriends in the Roundhouse, I attempted to obtain documentary corroborative evidence.

This included research in public records and the filing of requests pursuant to the RTKL for: Roundhouse log-in records for periods from 1980 through 1985, covering Emanuel Claitt's and Robert Mickens' periods of incarceration; and prisoner transport records between the PAB building and the detention center on State Road; and regarding Robert Mickens, transport records between the Northhampton County prison and Philadelphia in late 1984-1985. These requests were denied, appealed and reviewed. Both the Philadelphia Police Department and Northhampton County state they have searched and cannot locate these records and were likely not retained. [Exhibit B]

I learned of other murder convictions from the same years (mid-80s) that involved the same detectives as those who worked with Emanuel Claitt, Det. Lawrence Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert and a similar modus operandi in obtaining convictions – providing sexual favors to prisoner informants.

On August 25, 2016 I visited Andre Harvey, a lifer imprisoned at SCI Graterford, and he gave me documents that he had acquired when he challenged his conviction in a 1995 PCRA, in part on grounds that the prosecution witnesses against him had been provided sexual favors to falsely testify against him. Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert were central to that.

Andre Harvey gave me copies of the 17 pages of “sign-in and out logs at the Roundhouse” secured by his then investigator Paul J. Paris. This was just 17 pages of 80 from the period of June 1-December 31, 1983. In looking over those pages, I saw that on page 192, the log-in sheet for December 14, 1983, Emanuel Claitt signed in under Det. Gilbert and his girlfriend Denise Certain signed in under Det. Gerrard. [Exhibit C]

Andre Harvey said that doesn't have any other portion of the Roundhouse log in sheets.

On behalf of Petitioner, Major Tillery, I am continuing in the search for additional records that corroborate the Commonwealth misconduct that permeates the conviction of Major Tillery for crimes he did not commit. on August 3, 2016

Dear Andre:

Enclosed, please find copies of 17 pages taken from the sign-in & out logs at the Roundhouse. Also enclosed, please find copies of the statements taken from Maxie Harris-Jiles and Sharon Artis. Plus, find my breakdown of the entries on the 17 pages. You will see my notes at the bottom of the breakdown page.

As of this date, Jeremy is waiting to receive the logs for May, 1983, from the Roundhouse. Also, he is waiting for the sign-in & out logs from the Detention Center and Holmesburg, covering May 1 to December 31, 1983. Give me a call after you have reviewed this stuff. I will be in Pittsburgh on Derrick's case next week, not this week.

For the foregoing reason, the Department is not required to take any further action. This Final Determination is binding on all parties. Within thirty days of the mailing date of this Final Determination, any party may appeal or petition for review to the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas. 65 P.S. § 67.1302(a). All parties must be served with notice of the appeal. The OOR also shall be served notice and have an opportunity to respond as per Section 1303 of the RTKL. However, as the quasi-judicial tribunal adjudicating this matter, the OOR is not a proper party to any appeal and should not be named as a party.¹ This Final Determination shall be placed on the website at: <http://openrecords.pa.gov>.

Ms. Wolkenstein:

I received a response from the Prison with regard to your request below. They searched their records and archives. They have no such records going back that far. Accordingly, the request must be DENIED pursuant to RTKL Section 705 because no such records exist in the possession of the County.

You have a right to appeal this decision in writing to the Executive Director, Office of Open Records, Commonwealth Keystone Building, 400 North Street, 4th Floor, Harrisburg, PA 17120. If you choose to file an appeal, you must do so within fifteen (15) business days of the mailing date of the agency's response as outlined in Section 1101 of the RTKL. If you have further questions, feel free to contact the Solicitors Office.

Ms. Wolkenstein:

The County received your request made pursuant to the Pennsylvania Right to Know Law (RTKL) on June 30, 2016 seeking transport orders "and or other records" for Robert Mickens, between 9/15/1984 and 10/10/1985.

Ordinarily, a response would be due within five (5) business days of receipt, or in this case July 8, 2016. However, in this case given the age of the documents at issue, the County is invoking its right to an extension of time to respond by up to thirty (30) days from the original due date. Accordingly, the response from the County in this matter will be due on or before August 7, 2016.

Also, please be aware that the Office of the District Attorney has its own Open Records Officer. So to the extent you may be seeking records from that office, you will need to contact them directly. Additionally, please be aware that any information in the Criminal Division file is a public record, but is not subject to disclosure by the County under the Right to Know Law as such records are non-financial Judicial Records, not County records, and such filings are generally already available for inspection and copying at the Office of the Criminal Division.

The extension herein is invoked pursuant to RTKL Section 902(a): (3) a timely response to the request for access cannot be accomplished due to bona fide and specified staffing limitations; (4) a legal review is necessary to determine whether the record is a record subject to access under the RTKL, and (7) the extent or nature of the request precludes a response within the required time period.

Thank you.

OFFICE OF OPEN RECORDS

FINAL DETERMINATION

IN THE MATTER OF

Requester

v.

Respondent

Docket No: AP 2016-1262

On June 30, 2016, Rachel Wolkenstein (“Requester”) submitted a request (“Request”) to Northampton County (“County”) pursuant to the Right-to-Know Law (“RTKL”), 65 P.S. §§ 67.101 et seq., seeking various records related to the transport of Robert Mickens between September 15, 1984 and October 10, 1985. On July 8, 2016, the County denied the Request, claiming that it does not possess any responsive records.

On July 26, 2016, the Requester filed a timely appeal with the Office of Open Records (“OOR”), challenging the denial and stating grounds for disclosure. The OOR invited both parties to supplement the record and directed the County to notify any third parties of their ability to participate in this appeal. See 65 P.S. § 67.1101(c). On August 5, 2016, the County submitted the affidavit of Daniel Keen, the Director of the Northampton County Prison, who attests that a search was conducted and that no responsive records exist in the County’s possession, custody, or control.¹

Under the RTKL, an affidavit may serve as sufficient evidentiary support. See Sherry v. Radnor Twp. Sch. Dist., 20 A.3d 515, 520-21 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2011); Moore v. Office of Open Records, 992 A.2d 907, 909 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2010). In the absence of any evidence that the County has acted in bad faith or that the records do, in fact, exist, “the averments in [the affidavit] should be accepted as true.” McGowan v. Pa. Dep’t of Env’tl. Prot., 103 A.3d 374, 382-83 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2014) (citing Office of the Governor v. Scolforo, 65 A.3d 1095, 1103 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2013)). Based on the evidence provided, the County has met its burden of proof that it does not possess the records sought in the Request. Accordingly, the appeal is denied.

For the foregoing reasons, the County is not required to take any further action. This Final Determination is binding on all parties. Within thirty days of the mailing date of this Final Determination, any party may appeal or petition for review to the Northampton County Court of Common Pleas. 65 P.S. § 67.1302(a). All parties must be served with notice of the appeal. The OOR also shall be served notice and have an opportunity to respond according to court rules as per Section 1303 of the RTKL. However, as the quasi-judicial tribunal adjudicating this matter, the OOR is not a proper party to any appeal and should not be named as a party.² This Final Determination shall be placed on the website at: <http://openrecords.pa.gov>.

stores were closed. It had to be 9:30 PM or a little later and was walking ~~east~~ west on Huntingdon St. towards Warnock St. When I got to the corner of Warnock & Huntingdon St. I ran into Alfred Clark and I saw William Franklin and Major Tillery on the steps of Goldies poolroom. ~~Askir~~ ^{Major Tillery R.M.} (Alfred Clark) asked me where I was gone at. I said what's up. He said we are supposed to be having a meeting here and a couple of guys are supposed to be coming from West Phil ~~Major R.M.~~ Askir said, "You know how the police is if they see all these cars out here they will start asking questions and knocking on doors". He was referring to ~~his car~~ ^{Askir's car R.M.} a white cadillac and ~~Major Tillery's~~ ^{his} car which was a Lincoln. The cars were parked up on the pavement of Warnock St. Askir asked me to look out to see if the police came and if they did to tap on the glass. I said "How long do you want me to lay here" and he said to hold fast, the guys that were supposed to come should be there in a few minutes. I sat by there on the step and maybe 15 or 20 minutes went by and a couple more cars pulled up one of them parked on the 2600 block of Warnock St. Two guys got out and went inside the poolroom. I did not catch who that was, then another car pulls up, it pulled on the 1000 block of Huntingdon St. I stood up and went back to the corner where the pool room is at, on the southwest corner. The two guys walked past me and they went into the poolroom too. I was getting ready to knock on the door of the poolroom to ask Askir if everything was all cause I was getting ready to go, but he had come out the door already and told me everything was cool, for me to stay there and look out for the police. I went back to the side step and sat down again. Maybe 20 minutes went by and I heard a couple ~~shots~~ ^{guns shooting R.M.}. I heard some glass break so I jumped Huntingdon. William Franklin was behind this dude, he was chasing him. By this time I got into a little panic so I started going towards Cumberland St., then I went west and came back up 11th and as I was approaching Huntingdon, I seen William go back towards the poolroom, he was walking fast. I got to the corner of 11th & Huntingdown and I seen Alfred and the Major getting in different cars. Alfred got in his Caddy and the Major got in the Lincoln. I turned back around and I seen the police coming with their lights on. I went back in my house, I was staying at 2547 N. 11th St then. I took my jacket off and layed it down and came back to the door and I seen the police half way in the middle of the block. People was saying somebody got shot and ran to Miss Brown's house where he fell in the door.

Q. Do you know who was being chased by William Franklin?

A. I don't know who he was, I just saw him by the side as he was running.

Q. Did William Franklin have anything in his hands as he was chasing this

A. He had a gun in his right hand. I don't know what kind though. It was a revolver.

Q. Was William Franklin saying anything when he was chasing the man?

A. No

Q. How many shots did you hear coming from the 'poolroom when you were sitting on the steps?

Did you hear any other shots, other than the ones you heard come from the poolroom?

No

Q. How far was William Franklin in back of the dude when he was chasing him?

A. Less than 10 feet.

Q. Did you ever talk with William Franklin, the Major or Alfred Clark about this killing?

A. I talked with the Major about 2 days later. I met him at ^{Warrick R.M.} Broad and Cumberland and he told me that if the police should pick me up to say that I was at the Mosque that night and that he, the Major, was on post in the Mosque too. He also told me to say that he brought me and my girlfriend home that night, he said that way the police could not place him at the scene of the killing. Also about a month and a half ago I seen him in Holmesburg. He told me he was going to give my name to his lawyer so that I could say he was at the Mosque with me on the night of the killing. He also told me to make sure I said that he brought me a my girlfriend home about 11:30PM or 12:00 midnight. Then he gave me his prison number which he said was M9786. Then he gave me a name, Jonci Major, he said she was his lady, he gave me her phone number but I do have it now, I got it back at my room, I can get it for you. He told to keep in contact with Jonci and he told me she could tell me where he at.

Did you talk with William Franklin?

Within a few days after the killing he told me nobody was going to give him that body cause it was found in the pool room. He did tell me though that "I found out the mother fucker that I shot, the one that went in Miss Brown's house, was trying to get to his car". The man's car had been parked in front of my house, the Homicide Detectives got it the next day.

Q. Do you know who the guy that was found in Miss Brown's house was with in the poolroom?

A. He was with Joseph Hollis. They was the last two to go into the poolroom then Alfred Clark told me everything was okay, that they was going to start the meeting.

Q. Who is Major and where does he stay?

A. He used to be from 49th & Woodland, we called him Slime. We also called him Major Tillery.

Q. Who is Alfred Clark and where does he stay?

A. His street name is Beesley, he is dead now, he was shot and killed.

Q. Who is William Franklin and where does he stay?

A. They call him Pork, he used to live on the 2600 block of Sartain St.

Q. How many cars were at the meeting?

There was 5, Beesleys car which was parked on the pavement, 2500 bl

N. Warnock St., Major Tillery's was parked right behind Beesley's car. There was a car parked on the 2600 block of N. Warnock St., one parked on the 1000 block Huntingdon St., then one on the 2500 block N. 11th St. These last three cars must have been from the guys from West Philly because all the people from these cars went into the poolroom.

Q. Do you know what glass was broken when you said earlier in your statement you heard breaking glass when the shooting started?

A. I didn't know at that time but I found out later that it was the glass on the door of the poolroom.

Q. Do you know what this meeting was about inside the Pool Room?

A. It was about Alfred Clark getting smacked in the face. See sometime before this meeting, there was another meeting out in West Philly and Hollis smacked Clark in his face. Clark could not do nothing out there so they let it cool for awhile and then they set the meeting up in the Pool Room in North Philly in the pool room. The Major set the meeting up.

Recent entries made in the court filing offices may not be immediately reflected on the court summary report. Neither the courts of the Unified Judicial System of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania nor the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts assume any liability for inaccurate or delayed data, errors or omissions on these reports. Court Summary Report information should not be used in place of a criminal history background check which can only be provided by the Pennsylvania State Police. Moreover an employer who does not comply with the provisions of the Criminal History Record Information Act may be subject to civil liability as set forth in 18 Pa.C.S. Section 9183.

Please note that if the offense disposition information is blank, this only means that there is not a "final disposition" recorded in the Common Pleas Criminal Court Case Management System for this offense. In such an instance, you must view the public web docket sheet of the case wherein the offense is charged in order to determine what the most up-to-date disposition information is for the offense.

Order Granting Motion to Vacate Bail Judgment Filed

On 07/24/2014, upon consideration of the Motion to Vacate or Reduce Bail Judgment filed on 06/06/2014, it is ordered that the bail forfeiture and bail judgment are vacated in full. The defendant attests under penalty of falsification to authorities that the defendant failed to appear on the above date because the defendant was incarcerated, and incarceration records are not available.

This Order will become final unless within 30 days of the date the Order was docketed and mailed the Petitioner files a request for a hearing by a Court Designated Bail Authority Reviewing Officer with the Clerk of Courts, Room 310, 1301 Filbert St, Phila. PA 19107.

Re: Ermanuel Claitt

Dear Judge Katz:

This letter is written pursuant to your request regarding Mr. Claitt's cooperation with the Commonwealth.

Mr. Claitt's cooperation began in January, 1980, with discussions regarding the homicide investigation of Tae Bong Cho, a Korean grocer killed allegedly by Robert "Sugar Bear" Lark. Later, in May of 1980, Mr. Claitt was interviewed, while incarcerated in the Detention Center, about his knowledge concerning the death of his business partner and close friend, Samuel "Omar" Goodwin.

During that interview, Mr. Claitt mentioned that he believed George Rose killed "Omar" and that Rose had also killed Alfred Clark in April of 1979. Mr. Claitt was subsequently brought to the Homicide Division of the Police Department to give a formal statement about the death of Alfred Clark. This statement led to the arrest of George Rose. Mr. Claitt gave additional statements regarding the activities of the drug traffickers in North Philadelphia. Part of this information led to the arrest of William Franklin for a murder which occurred in 1976, and warrants being issued for George "Major" Tillery for the same offense. Warrants were also issued for Tillery for a series of bombings in late 1979 and early 1980. Rose was also implicated and was arrested for these bombings. Tillery is presently a fugitive.

Mr. Claitt gave police background information regarding other homicides under investigation as well as the drug traffic in Philadelphia. Information was supplied by Mr. Claitt in the investigation of the death of Philadelphia Police Officer Ernest Davis in July 1980.

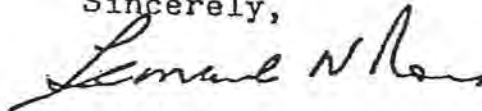

Honorable Leon Katz

Re: Emmanuel Claitt

Mr. Claitt testified at the preliminary hearings and trials of George Rose and William Franklin in the homicide charges. He testified at the preliminary hearings of George Rose and a co-defendant, James Brand, in the bombings. These matters are still pending. He has agreed to testify against Tillery, once he is captured.

I hope this letter answers some of the questions that the Court had. I will be present at sentencing on February 3, 1981, and of course, if the Court has any additional questions, I am available at your convenience.

Sincerely,

LEONARD N. ROSS
Assistant District Attorney

as to one of those bills, and t with regard to that case, will

The other two cases that remain, that are open, are 7904-809 and 810, which will be nol-prossed upon sentencing, and 8005, 1024 to 1025, which will be nol-prossed--

THE COURT: 80 what?

MR. ROSS: 8005, 1024 and 1025.
That will also be nol-prossed after Your Honor sentences Mr. Cliatt.

Those two cases, Your Honor, both involve the possession and use of stolen automobiles. Those are the two cases that the Commonwealth is going to nol-pros.

Mr. Cliatt will be pleading guilty to the one bills that's remaining, number, that's Bill 2097, Judge, August of 1980.

THE COURT: What's the charge?

MR. ROSS: Charing the defendant with criminal conspiracy, where the object is arson, risking catastrophe; overt act, did possess an explosive device. Co-defendants in the case are George Rose, George Tillary, and Douglas Smith, and George Grant.

THE COURT: Are there any other cases other than the ones you mentioned that are open or pending against this defendant?

MR. ROSS: No. Is that right?

MR. DEUTSCH: No.

MR. ROSS: I believe.

MR. DEUTSCH: The only thing is--

MR. ROSS: Montgomery County.

THE COURT: I'm talking about Philadelphia.

MR. DEUTSCH: In Philadelphia, no, sir.

MR. ROSS: This is it, Judge.

MR. DEUTSCH: It involves an automobile.

THE COURT: Are you saying to me that if and when he pleads guilty to 2097, and the others are nol-prossed at the time of sentencing, then all of the cases pending against him are completed in Philadelphia County?

MR. ROSS: Yes, that's my understanding, Judge.

MR. DEUTSCH: That's right.

THE COURT: Any you're prepared for sentencing on the other matters today?

MR. DEUTSCH: If I may, Your Honor--
(Conference by defense counsel with defendant off the record.)

THE COURT: I don't want to have a piecemeal sentence because this case has been kicking around a long time.

MR. ROSS: I agree with Your Honor. I think the sentence should all be imposed on one day. The Commonwealth has no objection to however it's done. If Mr. Cliatt wants to plead guilty today and be sentenced on all of them, that's fine. If he wants to be continued, that's fine. Whatever Mr. Cliatt wants.

THE COURT: How about the matter that we discussed earlier, matters that are pending, without going into detail?

MR. ROSS: Without going into detail, Mr. Cliatt has continued his cooperation, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You feel confident that that cooperation will continue even after raise that on appeal and say you should not have pled guilty because at the time you had a defense available to you, whether it was true or not, doesn't make any difference. So, that you could not raise on appeal the fact that you wanted to raise a defense. Do you understand that?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

MR. ROSS: Do you have any questions now, Mr. Cliatt, with regard to your guilty plea?

THE DEFENDANT: No.

MR. ROSS: Does Your Honor have any additional questions?

THE COURT: No.

MR. DEUTSCH: I have no questions.

THE COURT: Do you understand there are no promises?

MR. ROSS: I'm sorry.

THE COURT: Here, as there aren't in the other cases, as to what your sentence would be. You've been told there's a possibility of a maximum of five to ten years plus a fine. And although that's the maximum, the name of Kenneth Washington. At that time the device did not explode.

It was subsequently taken by the Philadelphia bomb squad and subsequently exploded at the Police Academy in an area that they have designed specifically for the exploding of explosives that have been confiscated.

Some time in 1980 Mr. Cliatt came forward, after a number of statements that he gave to the police regarding other cases, he gave the police a statement indicating his involvement in the attempted bombing of the home that was owned by Kenneth Washington. In that he indicated that he made an agreement, if not oral, certainly a tacit agreement with George Tillary, who was a business associate, George Rose, who was a business associate, and Douglas Smith, who was a business associate of Mr. Cliatt's, and all of them were part of the same business conspiracy at the time to get even with Mr. Washington for certain wrongs that had been committed against Major Tillary.

In the statement Mr. Cliatt indicated to the police that he was instrumental in picking up certain explosives from an individual named George Grant. He was also present at the time the explosive device was placed at Mr. Washington's home, was there at the time, although he didn't participate other than being there. That when the explosive device did not go off, several gun shots were fired at it in an attempt to make it explode, which it didn't. And eventually they left the scene.

Mr. Cliatt has reiterated the statement he gave to the police at two separate preliminary hearings involving George Rose and Douglas Smith, who have been apprehended and their cases are pending before this Court with regard to the bombings.

That in brief summary, Your Honor, is the matter that Mr. Cliatt is pleading guilty to.

Mr. Cliatt, do you understand the facts as I've just basically summarized them to the Judge?

I pronounce sentence, and of course, I assume we all agree at this time that both defense counsel, the D.A., has examined the pre-sentence investigation, mental health evaluation, and unless I hear to the contrary I will assume that there are no corrections as far as the factual and history contained therein.

MR. DEUTSCH: I think there was just one correction that Mr. Cliatt is the father of three children. I noticed it said two children.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. DEUTSCH: And that's the only thing I saw.

THE COURT: Also the drug evaluation which I didn't mention.

MR. DEUTSCH: Yes, we have read it. That was provided before this hearing and we have read it.

THE COURT: I also want to put on the record that I have received from Leonard N. Ross, assistant district attorney of the homicide unit, a letter dated January 5th, 1981, and without being specific, for reasons that I think we all concur, Mr. Ross has outlined a pattern of cooperation of a meaningful nature on the part of the defendant. And, that in response to my question, Mr. Ross has indicated that he's confident that that cooperation will continue. Is that correct, sir?

MR. ROSS: Yes, Your Honor. And if it doesn't there's, I'm confident--

THE COURT: For whatever reason you're confident, you are confident it will continue.

MR. ROSS: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Am I to understand from the defendant and/or counsel, that the defendant has been incarcerated for a period of three months on this case, or on one of these cases as a result of a bench warrant that I issued?

MR. DEUTSCH: That's correct. That's as a result of a bench warrant alone.

THE COURT: Whatever time I give him, he has approximately three months credit.

MR. ROSS: Judge, actually, to be honest, he's probably got close to a year on these cases. What was basically happening, Judge, is just to be very quick about it, and it's hard to distinguish exactly what, he had so many cases open and so many detainers and bench warrants, that's something the prison may have to figure out. He was released for a period of time and then he wouldn't show up when he was supposed to and he would be arrested for a while--

THE COURT: We're not going to get involved in that mathematics. It's not germane to what the sentence is.

MR. ROSS: Whatever the sentence Your Honor gives, if you just add the words "To be given credit for whatever time he's served on these cases," and if that's a problem we can certainly straighten it out at a later date.

MR. DEUTSCH: I understand--I recognize the seriousness of the charges to which the defendant has pled guilty. And, I'm sure the district attorney shares that with me as does his counsel. I also recognize the importance of the cooperation that he's extended.

THE COURT: Must keep in mind that although one cooperates with the Commonwealth, we cannot wash out the fact that he's been convicted of at least nine crimes, possibly more, including the crimes to which he pled guilty today, because as of the time of the pre-sentence investigation, as stated on the face sheet, he was convicted of seven crimes and he's pled guilty today to another one, so it's at least eight.

He's had two commitments. He's had one probation violation, without any juvenile record.

The recommendation of the pre-sentence investigator is incarceration. And, if it were not, if it were not for the cooperation extended to the Commonwealth, I would think that full justification that this defendant should receive a maximum sentence of seven and a half to fifteen years on the drug charge, namely 1067, manufacture, sale, and delivery of drugs. Not that I'm minimizing the other charges, such as the conspiracy to fire bomb the house and the possession of the drugs.

However, I'm taking that into consideration because I think, in the field of law enforcement, that there are many times when we cannot prosecute career criminals or criminals who commit acts of violence without the cooperation of either co-defendants or others who have information. And that's, I think, what is present in this case.

MR. ROSS: Judge, might I just comment briefly on that one fact for the record, so Your Honor will have some--

THE COURT: Please do.

MR. ROSS: In these particular cases, Your Honor, none of those cases could have been brought to trial without Mr. Cliatt's statements. The two homicide matters, as well as the bombings, although we basically knew who was involved, Judge, we had no hard evidence to present to a Court until Mr. Cliatt made his statements. Everything that you said in general terms is specifically true in this particular case. Those five cases or so that have been presented, and people have been arrested for, could not have happened without Mr. Cliatt's statements and cooperation.

THE COURT: I think that the defendant should be subject to the parole authorities.

What happened in the probation cases? Didn't he have three probations pending?

MR. DEUTSCH: As I understand it, Your Honor, we tried a case a number of years ago before Judge Kubacki and he's the one that put him on the probation. Although, there's been some arrests and detainers and back and forth, it's always been with Judge Kubacki. It was a five year probation and we got through about three and a half, almost four without too much trouble, and it was only in the last year of the probation that it began to break down from these other matters. The actual date of expiration was July 10th, 1981. If you take it into five annual years.

MR. ROSS: The other judge, Judge Caesar, was the Municipal Court case of which

Mr. Cliatt appealed and then Judge Kubacki had the exact same case. So, there... really is only one judge in terms of probation, and the only one that's active is Judge Kubacki. And I would say for the record, Judge Kubacki's indication was that probably, regardless of what Your Honor did, he would terminate his probation since you would have him under some kind of supervision, either your own personal supervision or state parole supervision if Your Honor were to sentence him.

THE COURT: Do you have anything to say, Mr. Cliatt, yourself?

MR DEUTSCH: Could we start, Your Honor, with my discussing that matter with you at side bar, and then--

THE COURT: What matter, sentencing matter?

MR. DEUTSCH: No, having to do originally when we talked about some cooperation, there was something I wanted to say off the record.

THE COURT: All right. .

(Conference in chambers off the

(The following is in open court:)

THE COURT: All right, Mr. Cliatt, for the reasons that I've stated, and upon analysis of the pre-sentence report, mental health evaluation, the drug evaluation, the letter from Mr. Ross that I alluded to dated January 5th, 1981, sentence of the Court is as follows--

MR. ROSS: Judge, excuse me for just one second, before you do that, the question that you asked Mr. Cliatt, whether he had anything to say remained unanswered.

THE COURT: Do you have anything to say, sir, before I sentence?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: Please say it.

MR. DEUTSCH: He did want to address the Court.

THE COURT: Go ahead.

THE DEFENDANT: What I wanted to say was, that as far as my life, as far as my life of being involved in crime, you know, I think, not only think, I know that, you know, I'm through with crime as far as I'm concerned because, you know, I'm not accepted amongst the hustlers and people in the street, doing the things that are wrong, because I have told and testified on these people. My type is not accepted amongst that type no more. I'm saying whatever you sentence me to today, Your Honor, like, you know, after this, you know, this is it.

THE COURT: What you're saying to me is you really don't have any choice because you're not going to be trusted, in a way. That's a hard way of walking the straight and narrow, but apparently that's, whatever reason it is, we should all be thankful that you're going to get out of the field of crime.

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir.

THE COURT: For your own sake, it would have been better if you never got in as deeply as you did. Nevertheless, is there anything else you want to say?

THE DEFENDANT: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: On Bill 1067, which is the drug bill that I mentioned, wherein the maximum is fifteen years, sentence of the Court is to undergo a period of incarceration of not less than eighteen months nor more than seven years.

On Bill 1329, which is the possession where the maximum is one year, the sentence of the Court is six to twelve months to run concurrently with the bill imposed on 1067.

On Bill 2097, which is the conspiracy and fire bombing case, where the maximum is ten years, the sentence of the Court is to undergo a period of incarceration of not less than one nor more than five years. And that sentence is to run concurrently with the sentence imposed on 1067.

I will entertain a motion to nol-pros all other bills.

MR. ROSS: Judge, I will move to nol-pros all the remaining bills that are before you.

THE COURT: Motion is granted. All other bills are nol-prossed.

Mr. Ross, would you advise him as to his rights to appeal any or all of the sentences imposed today?

MR. ROSS: Mr. Cliatt, you have thirty days from today in which to appeal the sentences that have just been handed down on all these cases. Since you pled guilty, as I indicated, you're appellate rights are severely limited.

If you do not notify that you wish to appeal within thirty days, your right to appeal will be considered to be waived.

You have, however, ten days also for you to file a motion with this Court to modify the sentence that was imposed upon you, and you must do that prior to your perfecting your appeal or notice of appeal to the Superior Court.

If you cannot afford to have a lawyer to represent you, one will be appointed for you free of charge. Mr. Deutsch will notify the appellate court if you wish to appeal, if you want to do so, and then a lawyer will be appointed for you if you could not afford one and wanted one. Do you understand that?

Mr. L. R. Tartler:

The above-captioned individual is presently on Pennsylvania State Parole as a result of a 1960 conviction in Philadelphia Common Pleas Court (C.P. 80-08-1067). He is awaiting trial here on charges of robbery and related offenses (C.P. 83-05-3764-3768) and remains in custody because of a state parole detainer.

Mr. Claitt is our only eyewitness in the very serious homicide case of Commonwealth v. Major Tillery. This case cannot be successfully prosecuted without his testimony.

Although Claitt has already testified, without any promises whatsoever, against a co-defendant in the same case, he now, through counsel, seeks his release on bail as a condition of further cooperation. He does not seek any promises or consideration with respect to his open charges.

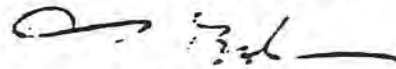

In view of the fact that this witness subjects himself to considerable risk in testifying against Tillery, we do not believe his request is unreasonable. We ask, therefore, that the parole board remove his detainer. With this done, we will take necessary steps to have him released on bail and ensure that he is present for all further hearings before the board.

The preliminary hearing in the Tillery Case is listed for February 9, 1984. Mr. Claitt will not be available as a Commonwealth witness on that date unless the above arrangements have been completed. We therefore ask that the matter be expedited.

Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

ARNOLD GORDON

Re: Commonwealth v. Emanuel Claitt
C.P. #305-3764 to 3768

Dear Judge Chiovero:

The defendant in the above matter, which has been assigned to you for trial, is an essential Commonwealth witness in various cases involving one George Major Tillery. Mr. Claitt is presently in custody in lieu of $2000.00 bail. Our office requests that he be permitted to sign his own bond in that amount, for the reasons that follow.

George Major Tillery is charged with murder and Aggravated Assaults to an incident of October 22, 1976. He is also charged with three separate fire bombings of occupied residences. In the opinion of our office, Tillery is a major figure in organized crime in the City of Philadelphia. The testimony of Emanuel Claitt is essential to the successful prosecution of all of these cases against Tillery. Claitt has not requested nor has this office promised him any consideration with respect to the disposition of the open matter before you. He has, however, through counsel, requested his release on bail as a condition to his testifying against Tillery.

Since Major Tillery presents an enormously greater threat to the community than does Emanuel Claitt, we believe the Court will further the interests of justice by granting our request.

Very truly yours,

E. J. C. P. M.

RE: EMANUEL CLAITT

Dear Mr. Tartler:

Emanuel Claitt is scheduled to have a hearing, I believe on November 2, 1984, concerning his violation of parole.

Mr. Claitt has appeared for the Commonwealth as a witness in approximately four homicide trials. He is scheduled to appear for the Commonwealth in the case of Commonwealth v. Major Tillery.

Mr. Claitt is obviously in danger anywhere in the Pennsylvania Prison System. In fact, to place him in jail would most surely place him in jeopardy.

Although we are aware that Mr. Claitt has violated his parole on numerous occasions, in our opinion that Mr. Claitt's violations are clearly outweighed by the potential danger to his person. Therefore, we request that you continue Mr. Claitt's parole.

Sincerely yours,

JEROME A. BRODWIN

Appeal from the Judgment of Sentence of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County, Criminal Division at Nos. 8403-568, 570, 571, 573, 574.

BEFORE: POPOVICH, JOHNSON and WATKINS, JJ.

MEMORANDUM:

FILED MAY 30 1989

This is an appeal from a December 9, 1986, judgment of sentence of the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas. On May 29, 1985, a jury convicted appellant of murder in the first degree, possessing instruments of a crime generally, criminal conspiracy and aggravated assault.¹ Post-trial motions were denied by the Honorable J. Geisz on December 8, 1986. We affirm.²

The facts of this have a rather long and tortuous past. At approximately 10:00 p.m. on October 22, 1976, Philadelphia police received a call to the address at Huntingdon and Warnock Streets in North Philadelphia. At that corner, they broke down the locked door of a poolroom operated by William Franklin and discovered the dead body of John Hollis. A medical examination later revealed that Hollis died of a gunshot wound to the trunk of his body. Inside the poolroom, the police found live and spent .38 caliber ammunition and a set of car keys. Around the corner from the poolroom at 2527 North 11th Street, police officers found John Pickens bleeding from a gunshot wound. He was treated at a hospital and survived his injuries. Both Pickens and Hollis were shot by different guns.

For more than three years, the shooting of Pickens and Hollis remained unsolved. However, in the spring of 1980, police detectives, investigating the homicide of Samuel Goodwin, visited a Philadelphia prison to determine if Emanuel Claitt, an inmate who had known Goodwin, could provide any information about Goodwin's death. The information Claitt provided went far beyond the Goodwin case. Claitt described in detail the operation of what he labeled the "black mafia", a crime syndicate run by black Muslims in Philadelphia. His information described a vivid picture of the events culminating with the shootings of Pickens and Hollis.

Claitt testified that from 1976 until 1980, he engaged in drug dealing and extortion as a member of the Philadelphia "black mafia". The organization divided the city into sections for business purposes. Alfred Clark was the leader of the North Philadelphia branch. He held the rank of first lieutenant and had "the last word" for all business in the city. Sylvester White directed the West Philadelphia branch. John Pickens also dealt drugs in West Philadelphia. During the 1970's, appellant held the rank of first lieutenant and "had control of the entire city as far as methamphetamines is concerned" Claitt received his heroin supply from Clark and his methamphetamine supply from appellant. Clark and appellant were partners in the heroin and methamphetamine trade. Claitt characterized appellant as Clark's "right hand man".

On the night of October 20, 1976, Claitt, Clark, appellant, James Ravenell and Rainey met at the home of Dana Goodman at 59th and Woodbine Streets to discuss a disagreement between Goodwin and Pickens over drug selling in West Philadelphia. Pickens arrived with Hollis and argued with Clark about a transaction in which Clark disposed of drugs claimed by Pickens at the expense of Pickens. During the argument, Hollis called Clark a "gangster". He then grabbed Clark by the collar, took out a pistol, slapped Clark in the face with the gun and pointed it at Clark as if he were about to shoot. Pickens stopped Hollis from firing the weapon, but appellant said that Hollis "would have to die for what he did". Although White was not present, Clark said he would talk to him and arrange a meeting at Franklin's poolroom to settle the dispute.

Thereafter, a group consisting of Clark, Claitt, Rainey, Ravenell and appellant met White at a mosque at 13th Street and Susquehanna Avenue in North Philadelphia. The group then drove to Franklin's poolroom. When they arrived at the poolroom, appellant accused White of setting up the earlier incident and demanded a meeting on Friday, October 22, 1976, to which White was to bring Pickens and Hollis. White agreed to the demand.

On the evening of Friday, October 22, 1976, Clark met the group outside the mosque. Clark made everyone surrender their weapons because a peaceful meeting was planned. The group then drove to the poolroom at Huntingdon and Warnock Streets. When they arrived, Clark instructed Claitt to remove two more guns from the group and then guard the door. Additionally, appellant arranged for one of his couriers, Robert Mickens, to watch outside the poolhall for police.

Inside the poolhall, appellant and Franklin sat at opposite ends of a table. Appellant told Hollis to apologize, but Hollis refused. Following a nod to Franklin, appellant reached under the table and pulled out a gun. Franklin also reached under the table and pulled out a weapon. Appellant then shot Hollis in the back. When Pickens protested, appellant shot Hollis again and Franklin then shot Pickens. Pickens proceeded to run through a locked door shattering the glass.

William Arnold arrived immediately after the shootings and discovered Pickens holding his stomach. Pickens had collapsed from the wound. Arnold helped him to a house at 2527 North 11th Street where the police found him.

Based on Claitt's information, the police obtained a warrant on May 23, 1980, for appellant's arrest. However, for three years the police were not able to serve the warrant because appellant could not be located. A detective in California finally arrested appellant in November, 1983. Appellant was returned to Philadelphia on December 8, 1983, to stand trial for the aforementioned charges.

At the outset of our discussion of the issues, we must note that appellant's brief mocks the rules of appellate procedure.³ The two and one-half page summary of argument is in violation of Pa.R.A.P. 2118 which reads, "[t]he summary of argument should not be a mere repetition of the statement of questions presented." The order in question is not included in the brief as required by Pa.R.A.P. 2115(a). Moreover, counsel for appellant raises approximately forty (40) issues in his forty-one page argument.⁴ He proceeds to raise the issues and then cite paragraph after paragraph of law. However, more often than not, counsel for appellant fails to set forth little, if any, argument to support his position on the issues. As such, many issues have been waived. See Commonwealth v. Manigault, 501 Pa. 506, 462 A.2d 239 (1983). Regardless, we have carefully reviewed all the claims raised by appellant and found them to be without merit.

In section A of appellant's argument,⁵ he lists 18 allegations of prosecutorial misconduct during closing remarks to the jury. Rather than offer a solid argument following each allegation, appellant baldly asserts the prosecutor's comment was either an improper expression of opinion, prejudicial, unfair or irrelevant. As such, issues A through F and issues H through R of section A are hereby deemed waived for the failure to set forth any substantive argument in support of the issues. See Commonwealth v. Balch, 328 Pa.Super. 71, 476 A.2d 458 (1984); Commonwealth v. Petras, 368 Pa.Super. 372, 534 A.2d 483 (1987).

However, appellant does manage to set forth an argument in his brief, albeit weak, in support of issue G of section A.

⁴ We agree with the Commonwealth's reflection that counsel for appellant appears to think that if he claims prosecutorial misconduct as often as possible, he can create the appearance of impropriety where none, in fact, exists. Appellate advocacy is measured by effectiveness, not loquaciousness. See U.S. v. Hart, 693 F.2d 286, 287, n. 1 (3rd Cir. 1982); cited with approval in Commonwealth v. Sirbaugh, 347 Pa.Super. 154, 500 A.2d 453 (1985); Commonwealth v. Klinger, 323 Pa.Super. 181, 470 A.2d 540 (1983).

⁵ The argument in appellant's brief consists of sections A through I.

J. 17001/89

That issue is premised on the following remarks by the Commonwealth:

(g) "And I ask you to recall Mister Sterling's testimony indicating he knew the defendant through the courtship of his daughter. Defendant through the courtship of Mister Sterling's now dead daughter in the year 1983, not in the year 1981, when Claitt gets ambushed and speeds away with a bullet meant to end his ability to talk." (5/28/85 p. 89).

Appellant contends the comments regarding the death of Mr. Sterling's daughter were an ill-concealed attempt to divert the jury from an objective evaluation of the testimony. He contends the remarks infer appellant was responsible for the death of Mr. Sterling's daughter. We disagree.

Our Supreme Court has stated:

. . . [T]hat a prosecutor, just as a defense attorney, must have reasonable latitude in presenting a case to the jury and must be free to present his or her argument with "logical force and vigor." (citations omitted). Counsel's remarks to the jury may contain fair deductions and legitimate inferences from the evidence presented during the testimony. (citations omitted). . . .

However, not every intemperate or uncalled for remark by the prosecutor requires a new trial. As we have stated many times:

[C]omments by a prosecutor do not constitute reversible error unless the "unavoidable effect of such comments would be to prejudice the jury, forming in their minds fixed bias and hostility toward the defendant so that they could not weigh the evidence objectively and render a true verdict." (citations omitted).

J. 17001/89

Furthermore, the prejudicial effect of the prosecutor's remarks must be evaluated in the context in which they occurred. (citations omitted).

Commonwealth v. D'Amato, 514 Pa. 471, 526 A.2d 300 (1987).

We are not of the opinion that the testimony concerning the death of Mr. Sterling's daughter inferred that appellant had, in fact, killed her. A review of the record indicates the Commonwealth did not attempt to connect the death of Mr. Sterling's daughter to the hands of the appellant. In fact, the remark clarified for the jury why Mr. Sterling's daughter did not testify at the trial. The remark did not affect the objectivity of the jury. Therefore, this argument must fail.

In section B of his brief, appellant maintains he was denied a fair trial by three instances of prosecutorial misconduct committed during the trial. The first two issues of the three listed are deemed waived. Again, appellant asserts only the naked allegation that the prosecutor's comments were irrelevant and prejudicial without setting forth any substantive argument to buttress his position. See e.g., Donnelly v. DeChristoforo, 416 U.S. 637, 94 S.Ct. 1868, 40 L.Ed.2d 431 (1974); Commonwealth v. Simon, 432 Pa. 386, 248 A.2d 289 (1968).

However, appellant does offer an argument, albeit abbreviated, regarding the third allegation of prosecutorial misconduct. He claims the Commonwealth failed to provide trial counsel with discovery concerning the testimony of Los Angeles

Police Detective Richards. Appellant argues trial counsel, "should have objected to the presentation of this witness due to the fact the defense was unaware of this witness" Despite this allegation, appellant does not claim any harm whatsoever from the detective's testimony. Without an assertion of prejudice, appellant has not presented any basis or reason for relief to be granted. See e.g., Commonwealth v. Starks, 304 Pa.Super. 527, 450 A.2d 1363 (1982).

Appellant raises a myriad of ineffective assistance of counsel claims in section C of his brief. However, the five issues raised by appellant are waived for the failure to set forth a substantive argument or to assert prejudice from counsel's actions. See Petrus, 534 A.2d at 485; Commonwealth v. Pettus, 492 Pa. 558, 424 A.2d 1332 (1981); Commonwealth v. Pierce, 515 Pa. 153, 527 A.2d 973 (1987).

In section D of his brief, appellant contends the trial court erred in granting the Commonwealth's petition for a protective order for witness Robert Mikens (who was present outside the poolroom at the time of the shootings). Appellant asserts that since he was not represented at the in camera hearing when the order was entered, he was denied his right to a fair trial. He proceeds to argue that if he was informed of Mikens' testimony prior to trial, he might have investigated him and possibly discovered any biases the witness held against appellant. We disagree.

Appellant was informed of Mickens' testimony before the Commonwealth presented the witness. He received copies of the witness' criminal record and statements concerning threats on Mickens' family which justified the protective order. Moreover, appellant was afforded a recess to prepare for Mickens' testimony and he then thoroughly cross-examined the witness.

Regardless, appellant does not argue the evidence and representations made to the trial court were insufficient to support granting the protective order. His only claim is that he should have been informed of Mickens' identity at a stage in the proceedings that would have provided time to investigate the witness. However, appellant does not allege any concrete prejudice resulting from the delayed discovery. Instead, he speculates about a possible investigation and discovery of biases Mickens may have held against appellant. Any type of speculation concerning issues raised on appeal is not sufficient grounds to order a new trial. See, Commonwealth v. Holmes, 315 Pa.Super. 256, 461 A.2d 1268 (1983).

The arguments in Sections E and F of appellant's brief are also deemed waived for the failure to offer a substantive argument to buttress his position. See Balch, 476 A.2d at 461. See also, Cosner v. United Penn Bank, 358 Pa.Super. 484, 517 A.2d 1337 (1986); Trustees of First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh v. Oliver Tyrone Corp., 248 Pa.Super. 470 n.1, 375 A.2d 193 (1977).

J. 17001/89

The argument set forth in section G of appellant's brief is that the trial court erred in allowing the Commonwealth to present testimony from Robert Mickens that he had been assaulted in prison. Appellant claims this testimony caused the jury to have undue sympathy towards Mickens and that such testimony was irrelevant and prejudicial because there was no showing the assault was made with appellant's knowledge or consent. We are not persuaded by this argument.

At the time of the trial, Mickens was a Commonwealth informant against many other persons charged with various crimes. The evidence was relevant to explain the witness' motives for appearing as a witness for the Commonwealth.

Additionally, at the time of the prison assault, Mickens was prepared to testify in an unrelated homicide case against another defendant. When appellant met Mickens in prison around the time of the assault, appellant stated he did not think Mickens was acting as a Commonwealth source. As such, there was no reason for the jury to draw a conclusion that appellant assaulted Mickens.

In section H of his brief, appellant contends the trial court erred in allowing the Commonwealth to present testimony of a flight from the authorities by appellant because a warrant was not issued until 1980, four years following the shooting incident. Appellant maintains there was no direct evidence or circumstantial proof that appellant had notice he was sought by the police until after he moved to California. We disagree.

A thorough perusal of the record shows there was sufficient circumstantial evidence to prove that appellant knew he was, or would be, accused of committing a crime. Commonwealth v. Hailey, 332 Pa.Super. 167, 480 A.2d 1240 (1984). See also, Commonwealth v. Osborne, 433 Pa. 297, 249 A.2d 330 (1969). The record reveals the appellant disappeared from Philadelphia following the shootings. Alphonsa Sterling testified he knew the appellant in Los Angeles from May to July, 1983, when appellant was friendly with Sterling's daughter. During that time, appellant called himself Isaiah, said he was from New Orleans, kept his hair short and wore dark glasses. Clearly, evidence of appellant's flight from the city, change in appearance, use of an alias and false statements about his background provide sufficient circumstantial evidence he knew he was accused of a crime.

In section I of his brief, appellant attempts to advance the same argument in a different way. Not only must this argument fail for the reasons enunciated in the discussion of the foregoing issue, but it is also waived by appellant's failure to offer an argument in support of his position. Commonwealth v. Gravely, 486 Pa. 194, 404 A.2d 1296 (1979).

The length and vagueness of appellant's brief makes appellate review very difficult. Although many of appellant's issues are technically waived, we nevertheless have reviewed all of appellant's claims and found then to be without merit. However, we note that when issues are not properly raised and developed in briefs and when the briefs are wholly inadequate to present specific issues for review, we do not have to consider the merits of the appeal. Commonwealth v. Drew, 353 Pa.Super. 632, 510 A.2d 1244 (1986). See also, Commonwealth v. Stoppie, 337 Pa.Super. 235, 486 A.2d 994 (1984); Bolus v. United Penn Bank, 363 Pa.Super. 247, 525 A.2d 1215 (1987).

Judgment of sentence affirmed.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS

VS.

MARCH TERM, 1984

MAJOR GEORGE TILLERY

MOTION PURSUANT TO THE POST CONVICTION RELIEF ACT

Petitioner, Major George Tillery, by his attorney Richard P. Hunter, Jr., Esquire, moves this court for relief under the Post Conviction Relief Act 42, Pa.C.S.A. § 9541 et. seq. and in support thereof represents the following:

1. Your Petitioner, Major George Tillery, is presently incarcerated at Smithfield Correctional Institution at Huntingdon, Pennsylvania.
2. On May 29, 1985 Petitioner was found guilty by a Jury which was presided over by the Honorable John E. Geisz, of the Charges of Murder in the First Degree, Possession of Instruments of Crime - Generally, Criminal Conspiracy, Aggravated Assault, under bills of Information March Term, 1984, Numbers 568, 570, 571, 573 and 574.
3. On December 9, 1986 your Petitioner was sentenced under Bill #570 on the charge of First Degree Murder of Joseph Hollis to a mandatory sentence of Life Imprisonment;

On Bill Number 568 on the charge of possession of an instrument of crime, Petitioner received one to two years incarceration to run concurrent with Bill Number 570;

On Bill Number 571 on the charge of Criminal Conspiracy, Petitioner was sentenced to not less than 5, and not more than 10 years incarceration, to run concurrent with the sentence on Bill Number 570;

On Bill Number 573 charging Petitioner with Aggravated Assault on John Pickens, Petitioner was sentenced to not less than 5 and not more than 10 years incarceration, to run concurrent with the sentence on Bill Number 570;

On Bill Number 574 charging Petitioner with Criminal Conspiracy, Petitioner was sentenced to not less than 5 and not more than 10 years incarceration, to run concurrent with the sentence on Bill Number 570.

4. Subsequent to this verdict Petitioner filed Post Trial Motions which were denied. Petitioner then filed a timely appeal with the Superior Court of Pennsylvania under Docket Number 3297 Philadelphia, 1986. The decision of lower court was affirmed by the Superior Court on May 30, 1989.

5. Petitioner then filed a petition for allowance of appeal with the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania which was denied.

6. At the trial of this case your Petitioner was represented by Joseph Santaguida, Esquire. At Post Trial Motions and the filing of appeals before the Superior and Supreme Courts of Pennsylvania, your Petitioner was represented by James S. Bruno, Esquire.

7. Petitioner respectfully requests that the charges against him be dismissed, or in the alternative be granted a New Trial because of the ineffectiveness of his trial counsel, Joseph Santaguida, Esquire, and the ineffectiveness of his appellate counsel Joseph Brunc, Esquire.

8. Petitioner has only recently learned that trial counsel Joseph S. Santaguida, Esquire, was ineffective in his representation of Petitioner in that he had a conflict of interest, when he represented Petitioner in his trial before the Honorable John Geisz. For Mr. Santaguida represented not only petitioner at his trial but also simultaneously represented one of the petitioner's alleged victims, to wit: John Pickens.

9. Petitioner only recently learned about Mr. Santaguida's representation of the victim John Pickens when he read the case of Commonwealth vs. William Franklin, 397 Pa. Superior Ct. 265, (1990). In particular, at 273 the Superior Court of Pennsylvania indicates that Mr. Santaguida in May of 1983 informed trial counsel (trial counsel for William Franklin, a co-defendant of your petitioner) that because of Mr. Pickens' involvement in the events underlying the criminal charges filed against Franklin, he (Santaguida) would have to advise his client Mr. Pickens not to testify on Franklin's behalf.

10. Trial Counsel Joseph Santaguida, Esquire, had a clear conflict of interest and could not have represented both Mr. Pickens, the victim, and your Petitioner effectively. See, In the Interest of Lloyd Saladin, 518 A2d. 1258 (1986).

11. For trial counsel to have represented both the alleged victim and the alleged assailant was not proper and had no reasonable basis which was designed to effectuate Petitioner's interest.

12. In fact, Petitioner at his trial requested Mr. Santaguida to call Mr. Pickens as a defense witness. Petitioner had reason to believe that Mr. Pickens told the police that Petitioner was not one of the assailants of the decedent Mr. Hollis or Mr. Pickens.

13. Mr. Santaguida had a clear conflict in that he was attempting to simultaneously protect the alleged victim by advising him to take the Fifth Amendment at the trial of Petitioner's Co-Defendant, William Franklin, and at the same time had a clear duty to present to the Court any and all exculpatory evidence on behalf of his other client your Petitioner, Mr. Tillery. See Saladin, Supra.

14. As a further result of this conflict of interest of trial counsel, Petitioner was not only denied effective representation of counsel but he was also deprived of his Due Process rights because he was prevented from introducing into the record evidence that would be vital to his defense; i.e. the testimony of the victim Pickens that petitioner was not one of the assailants.

15. Trial counsel was further ineffective as a result of this conflict because he did not request the court for a missing witness charge when the Commonwealth failed to call John Pickens who was also his client. Clearly trial counsel had a conflict and could not request a missing witness charge when in fact he represented the missing witness.

16. Petitioner avers and therefore believes that trial counsel had represented the victim, Mr. Pickens, in other criminal proceedings prior to and subsequent to representing petitioner in this matter before Judge Geisz.

17. It is respectfully submitted that Mr. Santaguida's stewardship of your petitioner's case was ineffective for there was no reasonable basis, for him to have represented both the victim (Mr. Pickens) and his alleged assailant (petitioner). This conflict of interest of counsel under the circumstances of his representation of your petitioner, seriously undermined the truth determining process to such an extent that a reliable adjudication of guilt or innocence could not have taken place.

18. Further, petitioner was denied his 6th Amendment right under the United States Constitution Right to competent assistance of counsel. See also Pennsylvania Constitution Article 1 § 9 and Comm. ex rel., Washington v. Marone, 235 A.2d. 349, 1967.

19. Petitioner further avers and therefore believes that appellate counsel James Bruno, Esquire, who represented the petitioner from Post Trial Motions through the filing of a Petition for Allowance of Appeal with the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, was ineffective in that he did not discover, through due diligence, and therefore did not assert at Post Trial Motions or in his appellate briefs that trial counsel, Joseph Santaguida, Esquire, had a conflict of interest and could not have effectively represented your petitioner at trial.

20. Petitioner avers that the issues raised in this petition have not been previously litigated and that these allegations of error have not been waived in that petitioner only recently discovered that Mr. Santaguida had a conflict of interest when he represented petitioner at his trial.

WHEREFORE, for all the aforementioned reasons petitioner prays that he be released from custody and discharge or in the alternative that he be granted a new trial.

Respectfully submitted,

MEMORANDUM:

FILED APR 21 1999

George Tillery appeals from the January 13, 1998 Order dismissing his petition filed pursuant to the Post Conviction Relief Act (PCRA), 42 Pa. C.S.A. §§ 9541-9546. Following a May 1985 jury trial, appellant was found guilty of first degree murder,¹ possession of an instrument of crime,² criminal conspiracy³ and aggravated assault⁴ and sentenced to life imprisonment. Appellant's judgment of sentence was affirmed by this Court on May 30, 1989. Commonwealth v. Tillery, 563 A.2d 195 (Pa. Super. 1989) (unpublished Memorandum), and his petition for allowance of appeal was otherwise free of legal error. Commonwealth v. Neal, 713 A.2d 657 (Pa. Super. 1998). "The findings of the post-conviction court will not be disturbed unless they have no support in the record." Id. at 660, quoting Commonwealth v. Schultz, 707 A.2d 513, 516 (Pa. Super. 1997).

Upon careful review of the record in conjunction with those issues raised by appellant, we find the PCRA court acted properly in dismissing the petition. Appellant argues trial counsel was ineffective for "simultaneously" representing him as well as one of the victims, however, there is no evidence in support of this argument.⁶

The PCRA court heard argument on January 13, 1998. At that time, counsel for appellant suggested that five years prior to appellant's trial, a victim/potential witness was represented by appellant's trial counsel and that trial counsel should have called this person as a defense witness for his testimony that appellant was not at the scene of the crimes.

The failure to call a potential witness is not per se ineffectiveness absent some positive demonstration that the testimony would have been helpful to the defense. In order to establish a claim of ineffectiveness for failure to interview and/or present a witness, appellant must prove: (1) the existence and availability of the witness; (2) counsel's awareness of the witness or duty to know of the witness; (3) the witness' willingness and ability to appear on behalf of the defendant; and (4) the necessity of the proposed testimony in order to avoid prejudice.

⁶ The record reveals no conflict between any prior representations and the representation of appellant at trial.

J. S25021/99

dismissed only after the court reviewed the parties' briefs and heard argument by both sides. As the January 13, 1998 argument constitutes a "further proceeding", the court was not required to provide a Rule 1507(a) notice of its intention to dismiss. Commonwealth v. Albrecht, ____ Pa. ____, 720 A.2d 693 (1998).

Order affirmed.

O R D E R

AND NOW, this day of July, 2003, upon reconsideration of Petitioner's Habeas Petition it is hereby ORDERED that this Court's October 30, 2000, Order approving and adopting U.S. Magistrate Melinson's Report and Recommendation is reaffirmed.

Pursuant to the Circuit Court's August 23, 2003, Order, this Court held hearings on April 23, 2003 and May 28, 2003, at which time Petitioner, who was represented by counsel, was given ample opportunity to present evidence showing that this Court erred in its denial of his ineffective assistance of counsel claim. Petitioner failed to present any evidence whatsoever to satisfy the two prong requirement that the witness, Petitioner claims should have been called at trial, (1) was available to testify at the time of trial and (2) would have been beneficial to the defense. Therefore, pursuant to Zettlemoyer v. Fulcomer, 923 F.3d 284, 298 (3d. Cir. 1991) and Lewis v. Mazurkiewicz, 915

F.2d 106, 115 (3d Cir. 1990), Petitioner's claim must fail. The Circuit Court is directed to page 58 of the May 28, 2003, transcript. Here, Petitioner's counsel freely admits that Petitioner was unable to show that the witness in question was able to testify. In addition, despite calling Petitioner's trial counsel to the stand, Petitioner was unable to show that the witness' testimony would have strengthened his case.

AND IT IS SO ORDERED.

COWEN, Circuit Judge.

Appellant Major Tillery appeals from an order of the District Court denying his petition for a writ of habeas corpus under 28 U.S.C. § 2254. He argues that the petition should have been granted because his trial counsel labored under an actual conflict of interest. We conclude that the claim is procedurally defaulted, and that Tillery has not established actual prejudice.

I.

As we write solely for the parties, we briefly review the procedural background. On May 29, 1985, following a jury trial, Tillery was convicted of first-degree murder and related crimes. The case arose from an October 22, 1976 shooting incident which resulted in the death of John Hollis and the wounding of John Pickens. The Pennsylvania Superior Court affirmed, and on March 5, 1990, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied allocatur.

On September 20, 1996, Tillery petitioned for collateral relief under the Pennsylvania Post-Conviction Relief Act, alleging that he was denied effective assistance of counsel under the Sixth Amendment because his trial counsel, Joseph Santaguida, operated under an actual conflict of interest. Santaguida had represented Tillery at trial, but was replaced by James Bruno, Esquire, who filed post-verdict motions on Tillery's behalf and represented him on direct appeal. The PCRA court dismissed Tillery's application, finding his conflict claim procedurally defaulted, and the Superior Court affirmed. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied allocatur.

Tillery filed the instant petition in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, asserting that his trial counsel labored under an actual conflict of interest and was thus constitutionally ineffective. The District Court dismissed the petition and declined to issue a certificate of appealability. Tillery next sought relief in this Court, and we remanded, directing the District Court to permit him to present evidence in support of his conflict claim. The District Court thereafter held two hearings, but reaffirmed its previous order denying relief. This appeal ensued.

II.

The District Court had jurisdiction over Tillery's habeas petition under 28 U.S.C. § 2254, and we have jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1291. The District Court's legal conclusions, including its resolution of legal questions arising from application of the procedural default doctrine, are subject to plenary review. Hull v. Kyler, 190 F.3d 88, 97 (3d Cir. 1999).

III.

The Pennsylvania Superior Court concluded that Tillery had waived his actual conflict claim, finding that he had not raised the claim on direct appeal. The court relied on 42 Pa. Cons. Stat. Ann. § 9544(b), which states that “an issue is waived if the petitioner could have raised it but failed to do so . . . on appeal,” as well as that “[i]neffectiveness of trial counsel must be raised at the first opportunity at which the counsel whose effectiveness is being challenged no longer represents the defendant,” (App. at 253 (quoting Commonwealth v. Miller, 564 A.2d 975, 977 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1989))). The state court’s finding of waiver requires us to examine and employ the federal rules of procedural default.

A. Procedural Default

Under the doctrine of procedural default, a federal habeas court is prohibited from considering constitutional claims where a state court has refused to entertain their merits on the basis of an adequate and independent state procedural rule, see Harris v. Reed, 489 U.S. 255, 262 (1989), unless the habeas petitioner can show “cause” for the default and “prejudice” attributable thereto, Wainwright v. Sykes, 433 U.S. 72, 87 (1977). A state procedural rule is “adequate” if it is regularly or consistently applied by the state court, see Johnson v. Mississippi, 486 U.S. 578, 587 (1988), and is “independent” if it does not “depend[] on a federal constitutional ruling,” Ake v. Oklahoma, 470 U.S. 68, 75 (1985).

To avoid waiver of any ineffective assistance of counsel claims, Pennsylvania law required Tillery to raise such claims “at the earliest stage in the proceedings at which the counsel whose effectiveness is being challenged no longer represents the defendant.”

Commonwealth v. Hubbard, 372 A.2d 687, 695 n.6 (Pa. 1977).¹ Because Tillery obtained new counsel following trial, before the filing of post-verdict motions, the Superior Court recognized that he was obligated to raise all of his ineffective assistance of counsel claims pertaining to his trial counsel, including that Santaguida labored under an actual conflict, in post-verdict motions and on direct appeal.

Tillery challenges the adequacy of the Hubbard rule as applied to his case, arguing that “the state court never made an ‘adequate’ finding of procedural default because Tillery did not discover the claim until 1996, when he raised it on post-conviction relief.” (Appellant’s Br. at 11.) Tillery, however, is conflating concepts of the adequacy and independence of a state procedural rule with the correctness of the state court’s application of its own law. Tillery has not furnished any argument or evidence germane to the adequacy inquiry. See Reynolds v. Ellingsworth, 843 F.2d 712, 719 (3d Cir. 1988). We have previously determined that the Hubbard rule was an adequate and independent state procedural rule, see Richardson v. Warden, S.C.I. Huntingdon, 2005 WL 289992 (3d ¹The Pennsylvania Supreme Court overruled Hubbard in 2002, holding that “as a general rule, a petitioner should wait to raise claims of ineffective assistance of trial counsel until collateral review.” Commonwealth v. Grant, 813 A.2d 726, 738 (Pa. 2002). Consequently, “any ineffectiveness claim will be waived only after a petitioner has had the opportunity to raise that claim on collateral review and has failed to avail himself of that opportunity.” Id. Tillery, however, cannot receive the benefit of this ruling, as the court further held that the new rule would be applied retroactively to cases currently pending on direct review in which ineffective assistance claims had been raised and preserved, but not to cases pending on collateral review. Id. at 738-9 & n.16. Tillery’s direct and collateral state proceedings had concluded prior to the issuance of Grant.

Cir. 2005), and there is no evidence to suggest that it was not an independent and adequate state procedural rule as applied to Tillery. Instead, Tillery is charging Pennsylvania with the erroneous application of its own procedural rule, which courts have repeatedly counseled is not a cognizable claim on habeas. See Lewis v. Jeffers, 497 U.S. 764, 780 (1990) (“[F]ederal habeas corpus relief does not lie for errors of state law.”); Barnes v. Thompson, 58 F.3d 971, 974 n.2 (4th Cir. 1995). Accordingly, the Pennsylvania Superior Court’s decision to find Tillery’s Sixth Amendment ineffective assistance claim waived rested upon application of an independent and adequate state procedural rule. His conflict of interest claim is procedurally defaulted. We can consider only whether cause and prejudice exists to excuse the procedural default.

B. Cause and Prejudice

A federal habeas court may entertain a procedurally defaulted claim if the petitioner can show “cause for the default and actual prejudice as a result of the alleged violation of federal law.” Coleman v. Thompson, 501 U.S. 722, 750 (1991). Although we agree that cause exists to excuse the procedural default, Tillery has not met his burden in demonstrating actual prejudice.

Tillery contends that the facts underlying the alleged actual conflict of interest were not known to him or his appellate counsel at the time of his direct appeal, thus giving rise to “cause” excusing his default. See Murray v. Carrier, 477 U.S. 478, 488

Tillery's conflict of interest claim is grounded in allegations that Santaguida also served as counsel to Pickens, one of the victims of the 1976 shootings, during the trial of Tillery's co-defendant, William Franklin. The Commonwealth tried Franklin for the 1976 shootings in 1980, five years prior to trying Tillery. Because Pickens had, according to a police officer's notes, identified the shooters as individuals other than Franklin and Tillery, Franklin attempted to call Pickens as an exculpatory witness. Santaguida informed Franklin's attorney that he advised Pickens to invoke his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination and refrain from testifying. The record reflects that, by the time Franklin actually stood trial in 1980, Pickens had fled the jurisdiction and was unable to be located, despite extensive efforts by Franklin's counsel.

Tillery, represented by Santaguida at his trial in 1985, did not discover that counsel had represented Pickens in Franklin's trial until 1996, when he came across the decision of Commonwealth v. Franklin, 580 A.2d 25 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1990). This decision, which affirmed the denial of Franklin's petition for collateral relief, revealed that "Mr. Santaguida informed trial counsel that because of Mr. Pickens' involvement in the events underlying the criminal charges filed against [Franklin], he would have to advise his client not to testify for [Franklin]." Id. at 29.

At the evidentiary hearing conducted by the District Court, Tillery testified that Santaguida never disclosed that he formerly represented Pickens at co-defendant Franklin's trial. Santaguida could not remember whether he informed Tillery that he had previously represented Pickens. Thus, the earliest Tillery could have learned of that representation was in 1990, when the Superior Court issued Commonwealth v. Franklin. This occurred well after the conclusion of Tillery's direct appeal. That Tillery's claim may not, in fact, be sustainable is not relevant to the reality that its factual basis was not reasonably available at the time of his direct appeal. Tillery has thus met his burden of showing cause.

To demonstrate "actual prejudice," Tillery must show "not merely that the errors at his trial created a possibility of prejudice, but that they worked to his actual and substantial disadvantage, infecting his entire trial with error of constitutional dimensions." United States v. Frady, 456 U.S. 152, 170 (1982). Tillery cannot sustain this burden.

The Sixth Amendment guarantees criminal defendants the right to representation free of conflicts of interest. See Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 688 (1984); United States v. Gambino, 864 F.2d 1064, 1069 (3d Cir. 1988). A petitioner must demonstrate that "an actual conflict of interest adversely affected his lawyer's performance." Cuyler v. Sullivan, 446 U.S. 335, 348 (1980). If this showing is made, prejudice will be presumed. Id. at 349-50. The question of whether counsel operated under an actual conflict of interest that adversely affected performance is a mixed question of law and fact subject to de novo review. Id. at 341-42.

Actual conflict is more likely to occur in cases involving joint representation in a single proceeding rather than in cases of multiple representation in which the attorney represents different clients in different matters. Duncan v. Morton, 256 F.3d 189, 197 (3d Cir. 2001) (citations omitted). Moreover, the existence of an actual conflict and any adverse effects from it are more likely to be apparent in cases in which counsel takes positive steps on behalf of one client to the detriment of the other, as opposed to cases involving the inaction and passivity of counsel. Id. This case presents at most one involving multiple representation, and Tillery cites only a passive lapse of representation by Santaguida. As such, to prove a Sixth Amendment violation premised on actual conflict, Tillery must show: (1) a plausible, alternative defense strategy or tactic might have been pursued that is of sufficient substance to be viable; and (2) the alternative defense was inherently in conflict with or not undertaken because of the attorney's other loyalty or interest. See Gambino, 864 F.2d at 1070.

Tillery argues that Santaguida's representation of Pickens in 1980 conflicted with Tillery's interest during his 1985 trial, and that this conflict manifested itself in constitutionally defective representation. Specifically, Tillery accuses Santaguida of failing to put forth his best effort to locate Pickens at the time of Tillery's trial.

Santaguida further declined to request a missing witness charge, which Tillery also attributes to his alleged divided loyalties.

The record undermines Tillery's claim of a debilitating conflict of interest. First, Tillery has not succeeded in showing that the defense strategy of subpoenaing Pickens as an exculpatory witness in his trial was a viable one. At the time Franklin's trial commenced in late 1980, Pickens could not be located. As Tillery admits, Santaguida explained in 1985 that he was unaware of Pickens' whereabouts, and that neither he nor the Commonwealth could locate Pickens. Although he could not recall exactly what steps he took in his attempts to contact Pickens, Santaguida testified that he did conduct a search. He theorized that Pickens was making himself scarce to avoid testifying. Significantly, even at the time that he provided advice to Pickens in 1980, and at all times thereafter, Santaguida had no knowledge of his location. Tillery, contrarily, attested that his counsel did not make every effort to locate Pickens. He did not, however, provide any specific examples or support for this bald assertion.

Second, Tillery has not succeeded in showing that Santaguida owed a continuing duty of loyalty to Pickens, that in turn prevented counsel from using his best efforts to locate him. Santaguida's representation of Pickens occurred five years prior to Tillery's trial, and likewise terminated before Tillery's trial. At best, the record discloses that the representation of Pickens was fleeting and minimal. When asked at the evidentiary hearing if he ever represented Pickens, Santaguida responded that he did not believe that he represented him in a courtroom. Rather, based on his refreshed recollection, either Pickens or someone acting on his behalf called him to obtain advice on testifying in the Franklin case. Furthermore, he could not recall providing any additional legal services to Pickens, and testified that no communication took place between them other than that one instance. In his view, there was no conflict “because Mr. Pickens, number one, couldn’t be found.” (App. at 181.) Contrary to Tillery’s claim, Santaguida never stated that, had he found Pickens, he would have advised him not to testify in Tillery’s trial. There is not a shred of evidence that Santaguida’s representation of Pickens continued past its brief lifespan in 1980. In short, counsel did not actively represent competing interests.

Tillery has failed to convince us that an actual conflict of interest existed that adversely impacted Santaguida’s performance. His claim that the record discloses that Santaguida possessed a duty of loyalty to Pickens at the time he represented Tillery, and that this duty of loyalty conflicted with his duty of loyalty to Pickens, is purely speculative. Rather, the record plainly reveals a successive representation of two clients with possible diverging interests. Not only was this scenario not addressed by the Pennsylvania Lawyer’s Code of Professional Responsibility in effect at the time, compare Pa. Lawyer’s Rules of Professional Conduct R. 1.9 cmt. (1988), but the Supreme Court has made clear that the mere possibility of conflict is insufficient to demonstrate the existence of an actual conflict, Cuyler, 446 U.S. at 350. There is no evidence that Santaguida’s actions and inactions were influenced by loyalty to Pickens, or that he even maintained a loyalty to Pickens in 1985. Reliance upon the relationships created between himself, Pickens, and Santaguida cannot, standing alone, suffice to demonstrate the existence of an actual conflict of interest and adverse impact.

We conclude that Tillery's trial counsel's performance was not adversely affected by Santaguida's brief representation of Pickens. Tillery has not established that he was prejudiced, and his claim is thus procedurally defaulted.

IV.

For the foregoing reasons, the judgment of the District Court entered on July 30, 2003, will be affirmed.

5. Petitioner respectfully request that all the charges in both cases March Term 1984 Bill No. 568-574 and March Term 1984 No. 0155-0169 be dismissed, or in the alternative be granted a new trial!

ARGUMENTS IN SUPPORT OF POST CONVICTION RELIEF

The following arguments are in support of petitioners motion for Post Conviction Relief.

POINT ONE

THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
D.A. BARBARA CHRISTIE KNOWINGLY WITHHELD EXCULPATORY IMPEACHMENT
EVIDENCE OF ONE OF ITS KEY WITNESSES
AGENT/INFORMANT EMMANUEL CLAITT
IN ORDER TO OBTAIN THE MURDER
CONVICTION. THUS DENYING DEFENDANTS FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT RIGHTS OF THE
U.S. CONSTITUTION AND PA. CONST.
ART. 3, § 12; 42 PA. CSA § 9541
et.

In the case sub judice, the Commonwealth used a well known prosecutor informant by the name of Emmanuel Claitt as its prime witness in order to obtain the conviction of Major G. Tillery. Mr. Claitt was the only eye-witness to the murder of Joseph Hollis and assault of Pickins connecting defendant to the crimes. No other witness connected defendant to the crimes not even the surviving victim Mr. Pickins. Therefore, this case basically boils down to one of the credibility of the Commonwealths only witness as identified above. See, U.S. v. Foster, 874 F.2d 491 (8th Cir. 1988); "Case boils down to a question of the credibility of the witnesses."

However, the below argument is regarding the trial testimony of Emmanuel Claitt and the undisclosed preferential treatment that he received in return for his testimony against the defendant. Emmanuel Claitt is a career criminal and has a long criminal history in the state of Pennsylvania. [See, Exhibits 1, 2, and 3] Mr. Claitt also has a long history of providing information to the Commonwealth and has testified as a witness in many cases prior to the defendants and thereafter, which he then in turn received preferential treatment from the Commonwealth. At defendants trial defense attorney Mr. Joseph Santiguida attempted to discredit Emmanuel Claitt testimony with his past criminal history as well as with his potential favorable expectations from the Commonwealth.

Although the Commonwealth via, Barbera Christie, disclosed that it will speak to Mr. Claitt sentencing judge the Honorable Judge Katz, and indicate Mr. Claitt favorable testimony against Mr. Tillery, the Commonwealth intentionally withheld that it would be recommended that Mr. Claitt receive a sentence of "no more then ten (10) years" on his pending charges. [See, Exhibit 10 Attached hereto] Mr. Claitt at the time of defendants trial had several indictments pending against him in the state of Pennsylvania. [See, Exhibits 1, 2, and 3, Attached hereto]

Most of the pending charges Mr. Claitt had pending was not disclosed to the defense prior to trial nor were the favorable recommendation of "no more then ten (10) years" he received from the Commonwealth in regards to his indictments, contrary to Supreme Court precedent set forth in the matter of, Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963); which states in pertinent part that: "A prosecutor has a duty to provide an accused with all evidence in the state's possession materially favorable to the accused defense." The prosecutor failed to do such here. See also, Com. v. Romansky, 702 A.2d 1064 Pa. Super. 1997). Based on the Commonwealth recommendation of "no more then ten (10) years", Judge Katz sentenced Mr. Claitt to a concurrent sentence of 7 years but he only served 23 1/2 months and he was released from Camp Hill on November 22, 1982 after completing his prison term. After Mr. Claitts release however, he committed more crimes as indicated in the attached exhibits one, two, and three.

The only way defendant discovered Exhibits one, two, three, and seven, is through his own independent research after his convictions of the Hollis/Pickins shootings trial and the subsequent fire bombing trial. Exhibits one, two, three, and seven, is therefore newly discovered evidence that was intentionally withheld by the Commonwealth in order to obtain it's unlawful convictions. See, Romanky, supra. id.

Moreover, the Commonwealth committed a farce on the court when it withheld Exhibits one, two, three, and seven, and in fact, indicated to the court that Mr. Claitt will be receiving "no recommendations" from the Commonwealth as to a set sentence regarding his pending indictments before Judge Katz, and that it was only agreed that Mr. Claitt will enter into an "open plea" and that the court can sentence Mr. Claitt to the fullest extent of the law. In other words, the Commonwealth gave the impression to the jury and the defense as well as the trial judges, that Mr. Claitt had no expectations other then protection in return for his trial testimony. Thus giving him know motive to falsely accuse the defendant of the indicted offenses. [See, Exhibit 7]

Exhibit seven, is a letter that the Commonwealth wrote to the State of Pennsylvania Parole Board on January 31, 1984, recommending that the parole board remove a detainer pending against Mr. Claitt so that he may be released on bail which would otherwise be impossible with a pending parole detainer. This recommendation was based on Mr. Claitts future testimony against defendant in the homicide trial.

As a result of the Commonwealths recommendation to the parole board on behalf of Mr. Claitt the detainer was lifted and Mr. Claitt was able to make bail and was released. [See, Exhibits 7 and 11 Attached hereto]

Also attached hereto as exhibit six, is an additional letter written by the Commonwealth D.A. Ross dated January 5, 1981, to the Hon. Judge Katz, who's court Mr. Claitt had pending indictments. The letter indicates Mr. Claitt continual relationship as a Commonwealth witness since January of 1980, not only in the defendants case, but in several other cases in the state of Pennsylvania. This demonstrates that Mr. Claitt was a agent for the state of Pennsylvania and a well compensated one at that, considering the lenient sentences and dismissals of indictments he received in exchange for his cooperation's with the Commonwealth. [See, Exhibit 6 Attached hereto]. Matteo v. Superintendent, SCI Albion, 171 F.3d 877 (1999).

Mr. Claitt was not only a witness against Mr. Tillery in the homicide and aggravated assault (shootings) case, but was also a Commonwealth witness against Mr. Tillery in the subsequent fire bombing indictment. In both cases Mr. Claitt admits his participation in the crimes, but suspiciously was never charged in the homicide case as an accomplice or a co-conspirator, and received a concurrent sentence in the subsequent fire bombing cases as stated earlier. The Commonwealth never explained why Mr. Claitt was never charged and indicted in the homicide of Mr. Hollis and the aggravated assault of Mr. Pickins. Mr. Claitt not being charged in the Hollis/Pickins crimes are clear signs of "Use Immunity" in return for his various trial testimony's. This type of exchange should have been disclosed to the jury and the Commonwealths failure to do so is a clear due process violation contrary to the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution. See, e.g., Moore v. Kemp, 809 F.2d 702 (11th Cir. 1987); holding in pertinent part that: "A defendant has the right to question whether a witness is testifying under a grant of immunity, or absent such a grant, whether witness thought he had immunity."

Furthermore, Mr. Claitt testimony against Mr. Tillery in the Hollis/Pickins crimes in regards to his reasons and expectations contradicts his subsequent trial testimony against Mr. Tillery in the fire bombings cases. [See, Exhibit 10 and 11]

In exhibit ten, which is the closing summation of Commonwealth D.A. Minehart in the fire bombing trial, that it was recommended to Judge Katz, that Mr. Claitt not receive "no more than ten (10) years" on his pending indictments in exchange for his testimonies against Mr. Tillery. This testimony is in direct contradiction to exhibit eleven, which is the Commonwealth D.A. Christie closing summation at the defendants homicide/aggravated assault trial where it's position is that there was "no set deal" and that the Commonwealth only enter into an "open plea" agreement with Mr. Claitt. An "open plea" agreement meaning by the D.A. Christie definition is that the judge has full discretion as to the sentence Mr. Claitt will receive and that therefore Mr. Claitt has no expectations as to the sentence he will receive. The latter position allowed the Commonwealth in defendants homicide trial to paint a false impression to the jury that Mr. Claitt had no ulterior motive to want to curry favor for the prosecution. See, Moore v. Kemp, 809 F.2d 702 (11th Cir. 1987).

Also as new evidence the defendant discovered after his convictions are exhibits four, five, eight, and nine, all of which defendant discovered by his own independent investigations by utilizing The Right To Know Act (TRTKA).

Exhibit four, is the transcript from Mr. George Rose homicide trial, another victim of Mr. Claitts false testimony. Mr. Rose was Mr. Tillery codefendant in the subsequent fire bombing trial and went on trial in 1980 for the unrelated homicide of Mr. Alfred Clark based on the testimony of Commonwealth witness Mr. Claitt. This trial commenced prior to the defendants capture, and it was indicated that Mr. Claitt agreed with the D.A. Ross that five (5) open charges he had pending at the time will be dismissed as a result of his testimony. This demonstrates that Mr. Claitt had an agreement of favorable treatment with the Commonwealth prior to the capture and homicide trial of the defendant. The defendant was arrested on December 8, 1983, in L.A. California and began trial in the Hollis/Pickins shootings in May of 1985. This evidence surely was known to the Commonwealth prior to defendants capture and it should had been disclosed to the defendant prior to his trial.

Fortunately for Mr. Rose, the jury disbelieved Mr. Claitts testimony against him and found him not guilty of all charges.

Furthermore, despite of the fact that Mr. Claitt testified that he was present during Mr. Clark murder he was never charged as an accomplice to Mr. Rose. The latter in itself demonstrates just as in the case sub judice, that Mr. Claitt is never charged by the Commonwealth for his participation in homicides. Which further supports the inference of an agreement with the Commonwealth in the form of "Use Immunity".

Exhibit five, is the December 1983 transcript from Mr. Frazier homicide trial, which is unrelated to the case sub judice. Mr. Claitt was a witness against Mr. Frazier and testified that Mr. Frazier confessed to him from his jail cell, although Mr. Claitt was well known in the jail as a Commonwealth police informant.

In the Frazier case, Mr. Claitt is cross-examined extensively about his cooperation with the Commonwealth in the indictments against the defendant Mr. Tillery, as well as to other individuals including Mr. Rose. Again--- Mr. Claitt acknowledges that he had expectations from the Commonwealth in exchange for his testimony against the defendant who had not been apprehended at the time of Mr. Fraziers trial, but a warrant was out for his arrest. This evidence should have been disclosed prior to the defendants trial.

Exhibit eight, is the transcript from Mr. James Brand fire bombing trial. Mr. Brand was the defendants co-defendant in the fire bombing indictment but was separately triad in 1980 prior to defendants capture. Mr. Claitt was the Commonwealths prime witness against Mr. Brand, as he was in all the cases mentioned above.

At Mr. Brand² trial Mr. Claitt falsely stated that he was receiving no favorable recommendations from the Commonwealth in exchange for his trial testimony's, and maintained that his reasoning for coming forward to the police regarding the indictments against defendant Mr. Tillery and co-defendants, was simply because he sought justice for a friend [viz, "Samual Goodwin"] that he suspected was killed by Mr. Tillery and associates.

Exhibit nine, is additional testimony of Mr. Claitt from the fire bombing indictment against James Brand. At Mr. Brand and Mr. Rose preliminary hearing on the fire bombing indictment in July of 1980, Mr. Claitt further submitted that he was expecting no recommendation from the Commonwealth, as far as, promises, or reduced sentences regarding his pending matters. Which directly contradicts his testimony in other trials regarding the same subject.

Because of the multitude of trial testimonies that Mr. Claitt provided to the Commonwealth on various separate occasions, made it the more difficult for the defendant to locate and obtain the documents to support his position that Mr. Claitt had good reason to want to curry favor for the prosecution.

It was only through defendants independent strenuous research that he discovered the above mentioned material. Material that was intentionally withheld by the Commonwealth. Thus committing nothing less then a miscarriage of justice and a farce upon the trial court. See, Com. v. Romanky, supra. Where the court held that: "evidence of an understanding or agreement regarding future prosecution would be relevant to the witness credibility and the jury should have been informed of it."

The defendant in the instant matter was left handicapped from cross-examining Mr. Claitt as to his expectations because of the Commonwealths intentional withholding of the very evidence that discredited its prime witness and demonstrates that Mr. Claitt had all the reason to falsely accuse Mr. Tillery of the indicted offenses. Mr. Claitt was never charged with the Hollis/Pickins shootings although he admitted he was part of a criminal organization and not only was present when the shootings occurred, but in fact, admitted he lead the two shooting victims into an ambush.

Being well aware of Mr. Claitt involvement in the shootings, the Commonwealth gave no reasons to the Court or the defense for it's decision not to charge Mr. Claitt as an accomplice to murder and assault. It is clear that Mr. Claitt received favorable treatment in the form of "Use Immunity" in exchange for his testimony against the defendant. The Commonwealth had an obligation to disclose such immunity to the defense prior to trial. See, Moore v. Kemp, supra.

Furthermore, Mr. Claitt received a sentence of no more then ten (10) years in Judge Katz court based on the recommendation of the Commonwealth. This evidence existed prior to defendants trial but was intentionally withheld from the defense. At trial the Commonwealth gave the impression that Mr. Claitt would be fully prosecuted in his pending indictments. When in fact, his pending matters were disposed of by the Commonwealth, through either concurrent sentences, nolle pros, or out right dismissals, and again the guarantee of no more then ten (10) years. [Exhibits 1, 2, 3, and 7]

If defendant would have be made aware of this evidence, defense counsel could have utilized it to completely destroy Mr. Claitt credibility as to his expectations from the Commonwealth in exchange for his testimony against Mr. Tillery. The Commonwealth had an obligation to disclose such evidence and its failure to do so is a miscarriage of justice and tainted defendants conviction entitling him to a new trial. See e.g., Blankenship v. Estelle, 545 F.2d 510 (5th Cir. 1977); Where it was discussed in pertinent part: "Although in the instant case the testimony that Brooks and Crawford were under indictment may have been technically true, it left an erroneous impression of an impending trial and the absence of leniency as an inducement to testify. This court has recently made clear that we will not tolerate prosecutorial participation in technically correct, yet seriously misleading, testimony which serves to conceal the existence of a deal with material witnesses."

As in the case sub judice, although it was technically correct that Mr. Claitt had pending indictments against him, and that the Commonwealth did write letters for his protection, the Commonwealth withheld the part that it was recommended that Mr. Claitt receive no more than ten (10) years, and that five other cases be nolle pros or dismissed as discussed earlier in the motion. Nor was it disclosed that Mr. Claitt received immunity from the Hollis/Pickins indictment.

Even more critical is the fact that the Commonwealth stated to the jury during its closing that Mr. Claitt received an "open plea" and that his sentence is totally left to the discretion of the court. (Trial Tran. ¶May 14, 1985) [Exhibit 11]

In conclusion, this case is before the court on a subsequent motion under the Post-Conviction-Relief-Act (PCRA). As such, the defendant has demonstrated that a grave miscarriage of justice has been committed against him by the Commonwealths intentional withholding of the above stated information. See, Com. v. Lawson, 519 Pa. 504 (1988); Holding that: "A second or subsequent post conviction request for relief will not be entertained unless a strong prima facie showing is offered to demonstrate that a miscarriage of justice may have occurred."

Therefore defendant has met his burden. The new evidence as exhibits one, two, three, four, five, eight, and nine, attached hereto was discovered by defendant within the last sixty (60) days pursuant to the the Post-Conviction-Relief Act (PCRA), and clearly shows that the Commonwealth denied defendant due process rights when it knowingly withheld material impeachment evidence that should have been disclosed to defense prior to trial, so that with this evidence defendant could have swayed the jury's verdict in his favor and been acquitted of all charges. See, Com. v. Szuchon, 534 Pa. 483, (1993).

THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
D.A. BARBARA CHRISTIE AND MINEHART
ALLOWED ITS KEY WITNESS EMMANUEL
CLAITT FALSE TESTIMONY TO GO
UNCORRECTED IN ORDER TO OBTAIN THE HOMICIDE & ARSON (FIRE BOMBING)
CONVICTIONS. THUS DENYING DEFENDA-NTS FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT RIGHTS OF THE U.S. CONSTITUTION AND PA. CONST.
ART. 3, § 12; 42 PA. CSA § 9541
et.

The Commonwealths cases on the homicide and assault conviction of Hollis/Pickins, as well as the fire bombing conviction was based primarily on the testimony of informant Emmanuel Claitt as argued in point one of the below motion. On May 20, 1980, Mr. Claitt was interviewed by detectives from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania regarding an unrelated homicide. At that interview Mr. Claitt volunteered information regarding the homicide of Mr. Hollis and aggravated assault (shooting) of Mr. Pickins, and indicated that defendant Mr. Tillery was responsible for there crimes.

As a result of Mr. Claitt false testimony, Mr. Tillery was convicted of the Hollis/Pickins crimes on May 29, 1985 and sentenced accordingly*.

Subsequent to Mr. Tillery murder conviction, Mr. Claitt testified as the key witness for the Commonwealth on the additional indictment regarding the aggravated arson (fire bombing) case. As a result of Mr. Claitt testimony, Mr. Tillery was convicted on August 5, 1985, of all crimes associated with the fire bombing indictment.

*Defendant homicide trial and bombing trial was before different trial judges. The homicide trial was tried before the Hon. John E. Geitz. And Hon. N. D'Alessandro, presided over defendants' fire bombing trial.

Mr. Tillery has adamantly maintained his innocence and continues to do so.

The Commonwealth only obtained Mr. Tillery unlawful convictions through the uncorrected false testimony of Mr. Claitt. Mr. Claitt trial testimony's regarding his favorable expectations from the Commonwealth, is in conflict with each other. In fact, the trial testimony that he provided at Mr. Tillery homicide trial regarding expectations, is in direct contradiction to his testimony at the subsequent fire bombing trial.

Furthermore, Mr. Claitt provided a multitude of testimony's on behalf of the Commonwealth in several different trials prior to Mr. Tillery and thereafter. At trials unrelated to the case sub judice, Mr. Claitt was cross-examined about his long standing history of providing information for the Commonwealth, and his motives for providing such information in the cases against Mr. Tillery. As such, Mr. Claitt gave conflicting answers as to his under-handed deals with the Commonwealth. Most of the latter testimony Mr. Tillery recently learned of through his independent efforts by utilizing the Right To Know Act (RTKA).

For example, at Mr. Rose unrelated homicide trial in 1980, Mr. Claitt was a witness for the Commonwealth D.A. Ross. Mr. Claitt testified at that time that there in fact was a deal linked between himself and the Commonwealth that certain indictments pending against him would be dismissed as a result of his favorable testimony. This testimony could have been used at the defendants trial to show that

Mr. Claitt did have a deal. However, due to the Commonwealths intentional failures Mr. Claitt was allowed to testify that he received no deals from the Commonwealth and that he was testifying to seek justice for the death of friend he felt defendant was responsible for. [Exhibit 4]

Mr. Claitt also provided testimony at Mr. Frazier unrelated homicide trial on behalf of the Commonwealth D.A. Ross. At the Frazier trial Mr. Claitt was cross-examined significantly about his assistance in the Mr. Tillery case. Mr. Claitt testified that Dt. Raymond Dougherty and Lt. Shelton, who were the investigators in the Tillery investigations, questioned him about defendants involvement in criminal activity. At that time Mr. Claitt provided incriminating statements regarding Mr. Tillery, and testified at Mr. Frazier trial that he was indeed expecting some favorable consideration from the Commonwealth for his assistance in the arrest and convictions of defendant. [Exhibit 5]

Further, Mr. Claitt provided trial testimony at Mr. Tillery co-defendant in the fire bombing case, Mr. Brand. At Mr. Brand preliminary hearing and trial, Mr. Claitt testified that there was no deals made, and his only reason for testifying was to seek justice for a friend. [Exhibit(s) 8 and 9]

However, at Mr. Tillery codefendant in the Hollis/Pickins case, Mr. Franklin. Mr. Claitt testified that there was deals made. And the Commonwealth D.A. Ross who prosecutored the case against Franklin, held a back room conference with Mr. Claitt sentencing Judge Kubacki in which it was stated by the D.A. that there were deals made between the Commonwealth and Mr. Claitt. [Exhibit 20]

Then Mr. Claitt immediately contradicted himself later in the Franklin Hollis/Pickins trial when he testified that although he was hoping for a concurrent sentence on his pending fire bombing charges, he received no promises, or recommendations from the Commonwealth. [Exhibit 21]

The above reference testimonies all occurred prior to Mr. Tillery trials, and could had been utilized if the Commonwealth would have disclosed and corrected the false testimonies when they occurred.

Although, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was well aware of the contradictory testimony's provided by it's prime witness, the prosecutor(s) involved allowed this testimony to go before the jury uncorrected at both trials. See, United States v. Bigeleisen, 625 F.2d 203 (8th Cir. 1980); "[t]he duty to correct false testimony is on the prosecutor, and that duty arises when the false evidence appears."

Most importantly, the Commonwealth at the Mr. Tillery homicide trial viz, Barbera Christie, not only failed to correct the false testimony of Mr. Claitt when it appeared. She suborned such false testimony.

The relevant testimony occurred during direct examination at the homicide trial and is stated below: [Exhibit 11 pg. 5]:

COMMONWEALTH: BARBERA CHRISTIE:

QUESTION --- OKAY. THE 3 CHARGES THAT YOU'VE JUST DISCUSSED, WHAT IF ANYTHING DID YOU DO WITH REGARD TO THOSE CHARGES THAT CAUSED YOU TO BE INCARCERATED? DID YOU GO TO TRIAL OF WHAT DID YOU DO?

ANSWER BY CLAITT --- I PLEAD GUILTY, OPEN PLEA IN FRONT OF JUDGE LEON KATZ.

QUESTION --- ALL RIGHT. CAN YOU TELL THE JURY WHAT YOU MEAN BY OPEN PLEA?

ANSWER --- OPEN PLEA IS, I PLEAD GUILTY TO THE CHARGES WITH --- WITH NO RECOMMENDATION FROM THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE. IT WAS AN OPEN PLEA WHEREIN THE JUDGE WOULD DECIDE MY FATE AS TO SENTENCE.

QUESTION --- ALL RIGHT. AND WHAT SENTENCE DID YOU RECEIVE FROM JUDGE KATZ ON YOUR PLEA TO THOSE CHARGES?

ANSWER --- ONE AND A HALF TO 7 YEARS FOR SALES ON NARCOTICS. AND ONE TO 5 YEARS FOR ATTEMPT ARSON AND 6 TO 12 MONTHS FOR POSSESSION OF AN INSTRUMENT OF CRIME.

[Also exhibit 11 pg 6:]

QUESTION --- NOW, AT THE TIME OF YOUR SENTENCING BEFORE JUDGE KATZ, DID ANY MEMBER OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE RECOMMEND OR REQUEST OF JUDGE KATZ ANY PARTICULAR SENTENCING RELATIVE TO THOSE CHARGES TO WHICH YOU PLEAD GUILTY?

ANSWER --- ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY LYNN ROSS RECOMMENDED TO JUDGE LEON KATZ THAT AT -- HE MADE THE COURT AWARE OF ANY COOPERATION WITH THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE IN VIEW OF THE NUMBER OF CASES THAT I HELPED THEM PROSECUTOR AND HIS ONLY STIPULATION WAS THAT HE ASKED THE COURT TO RUN THE SENTENCE TOGETHER, MEANING CONCURRENT. [Failed to add that there was a recommendation that he receive no more then 10 years on his sentence.]

QUESTION --- ALL RIGHT. NOW WITH REGARD TO THE TIME WHICH YOU WOULD RECEIVE AND DID RECEIVE FROM JUDGE KATZ, DID ANY MEMBER OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE, MISTER ROSS OR ANYONE ELSE, REQUEST OR RECOMMEND OR REPRESENT TO JUDGE KATZ, AND PARTICULAR PERIOD OF TIME OTHER THAN WHATEVER TIME YOU RECEIVED, THAT THE REQUEST, THAT THE TIME RUN TOGETHER, RUN CONCURRENT?

ANSWER --- NO. THERE WAS NO OTHER RECOMMENDATION. [This testimony was false and known to be so by the Commonwealth and should have been corrected.]

[Also Exhibit 11 pg 7]

QUESTION --- SO AT THE TIME OF THE PLEA BEFORE JUDGE KATZ, DID YOU HAVE OPEN CASES WHICH YOU IN YOUR TERMINOLOGY HAD TO FIGHT ALONE?

ANSWER --- YES, I DID.

QUESTION --- AND AT THE CURRANT MOMENT, AT THIS TIME, DO

YOU HAVE AN OPEN CASE PENDING?

ANSWER --- YES, I DO.

QUESTION --- WHAT' THE CHARGE IN THAT CASE?

ANSWER --- ROBBERY.

QUESTION --- OKAY. THAT IF ANY UNDERSTANDING OR AGREEMENT DO YOU HAVE WITH REGARD TO YOUR PENDING ROBBERY CASE WITH THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE?

ANSWER --- I HAVE NO AGREEMENT AT ALL. [This testimony was false and known to be so by the Commonwealth and should have been corrected.]

* * * *

Although the Commonwealth was well aware of the fact that it was promised to Mr. Claitt that it would be recommended that he receive no more then 10 years on his sentence. At no time did the D.A. Christie attempt to clarify Mr. Claitt false testimony when it occurred. And in fact, gave the impression to the jurors that Mr. Claitt will be sentence with no recommendation from the D.A. Office as shown above, and that Mr. Claitt received no promises and only that he plead to a so called "open plea"². Also see, [Exhibit 23]

This is coupled by the closing summation testimony provided by D.A. Minehart at Mr. Tillery subsequent fire bombing trial. The fact that it was a different D.A. prosecuting Mr. Tillery fire bombing trial then at the prior homicide, doesn't change the Commonwealth responsibility to correct false testimony.

At Mr. Tillery fire bombing trial, Mr. Claitt admitted that he was receiving a recommendation of no more then a 10 year sentence from the Commonwealth prior to his testimony given at Mr. Tillery homicide trial.

The relevant testimony was brought out on direct examination at the fire bombing trial and is stated below: [Exhibit 14 pg 69]

COMMONWEALTH MR. MINEHART:

QUESTION --- NOW, AS TO THE AGREEMENT, AS TO HOW MUCH TIME YOU WOULD SPEND IN PRISON ON THIS CASE, WHAT WAS THE AGREEMENT WITH THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE THAT YOU HAD?

ANSWER --- THAT WHEN I GOT SENTENCED, MY SENTENCE WOULDN'T EXCEED 10 YEARS, MAXIMUM. [This testimony differs significantly from his trial testimony at the prior homicide trial.]

* * * *

Evenmore troubling is the fact that Commonwealth D.A. Minehart clearly was aware of the false testimony provided by Mr. Claitt because he was the prosecutor in several of the indictments pending against Mr. Claitt in Judge Katz court room and appeared at a preliminary hearing on Novemeber 28, 1980 on behalf of the Commonwealth to discuss the pending indictments status. This hearing occurred an entire three years prior to Mr. Tillery's arrest in California. At the preliminary hearing Mr. Claitts deals were discussed and it was stated on the record by D.A. Minehart that there clearly are deals, and Mr. Claitt also stated on the record that he received "promises" from the Commonwealth. [Exhibit 1]

Therefore, there should be no question that D.A. Minehart was aware that Mr. Claitt was testifying falsey when he said he received no "promises" or the like from the Commonwealth at defendants trials.

In fact D.A. Minehart went on to somewhat contradict his position as with regards to the deals Mr. Claitt received at defendants fire bombing trial in October 1985. At defendants fire bombing trial Mr. Minehart admitted that there were all kinds of deals with Mr. Claitt but still maintained that there was no promises, refusing to take a strong position as to one fact or the other. At no time did Mr. Minehart show even an attempt to correct Mr. Claitts false testimony. [Exhibit 12]

Additionally, Dt. Gerrard testified on behalf of the Commonwealth and admitted that there were deals made with Mr. Claitt prior to 1980. And that Mr. Claitt detainers were lifted and he was allowed to sign his own bail. Thus contradicting Mr. Minehart position as well, and what makes Dt. Gerrard testimony regarding what Mr. Claitt received is more believable given the fact that Mr. Claitt was released from jail and various indictments of his own were dismissed by the Commonwealth.

Furthermore, Mr. Claitt provided testimony at defendants co-defendant Mr. Rose fire bombing trial in 1985 as well. At Mr. Rose trial the Commonwealth D.A. Mr. Minehart again admitted that there were deals but immediately contradicted himself by stating there were no deals. [Exhibit 16; pg 82-83]

Moreover, because of the veracity of Mr. Claitt various testimonies and of the D.A. Office contradictory positions regarding the deals made with Mr. Claitt it is difficult to know when Mr. Claitt is telling the truth or not.... or whether he received a deal or not. And know conviction should even in part, be allowed to stand on such veracity. The Commonwealth has a obligation to make it clear to the court, jury, and the defense , whether a witness is receiving something in exchange for his testimony.

It is clear that Mr. Claitt is a career criminal and a habitual liar, who's credibility is meager at best and has a history of not being charged in homicide cases despit his admitted participation in them.

Basically the states case, as in, U.S. v. Foster, 874 F.2d 491 (8th Cir. 1988); "Boiled down to a question of the credibility of the witnesses." U.S. v. Foster, 874 F.2d 491 (8th Cir. 1988).

See e.g., Napue v. Illinois, 360 U.S. 264, 79 S. Ct. 1173, 3 L. Ed. 2d 1217 (1959). "Held: The failure of the prosecutor to correct the testimony of the witness which he knew to be false denied petitioner due process of law in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment." Napue supra, 360 U.S. Id. "First, it is established that a conviction obtained through use of false evidence, known to be such by the representatives of the State, must fall under the Fourteenth Amendment, quoting: Mooney v. Holohan, 294 U.S. 103, 112, 55 S.Ct. 340, 342, 79 L.Ed. 791 (1935). "The same result obtains when the State, although not soliciting false evidence, allows it to go uncorrected when it appears." Also in Napue the Court stated that "The jury's estimate of the truthfulness and reliability of a given witness may well be determinative of guilt or innocence, and it is upon such subtle factors as the possible interest of the witness in testifying falsely that a defendant's life or liberty may depend." Id.

Furthermore, in Napue at 269, quoting People v. Savvides, 1 N.Y. 2d 554, 557; 136 N.E. 2d 853, 854-855; 154 N.Y.S. 2d 885, 887:

"It is of no consequence that the falsehood bore upon the witness' credibility rather than directly upon defendant's guilt. A lie is a lie, no matter what its subject, and, if it is any way relevant to the case, the district attorney has the responsibility and duty to correct what he knows to be false and elicit the truth.... That the district attorney's silence was not the result of guile or a desire to prejudice matters little, for its impact was the same, preventing, as it did, a trial that could in any real sense be termed fair."

See supra, United States v. Bigeleisen, 625 F.2d 203 (8th Cir. 1980).

This is not a case in which the witness' bias becomes irrelevant because the witness' testimony is fully corroborated, nor is this a case in which the witness' testimony has been thoroughly impeached and proof of his bias would be merely cumulative. See, e.g., McCleskey v. Kemp, 753 F.2d 877, 885 (11th Cir. 1985).

The disclosure of Mr. Claitt' expectations from the state in return for his testimony against defendant, however, would not have been merely repetitious, reinforcing a fact already knew; instead, "the truth would have introduced a new source of potential bias." Brown v. Wainright, 785, F.2d 1457, 1466

(11th Cir. 1986). See also United States v. Sanfilippo, 564 F.2d 176, 178 (5th Cir. 1977) ("A jury may very well give great weight to a precise reason to doubt credibility when the witness has been shown to be the kind of person who might perjure himself.").

One might argue that Mr. Claitt false testimony was not perjured. Under those circumstances the defendant directs the courts attention to Dupart v. United States, 541 F. 2d 1148, 1150 (5th Cir. 1976); Where it was held "where testimony, even though not perjurious, would surely be highly misleading to the jury...."

Finally, this case is before the court on a subsequent motion under the Post-Conviction-Relief-Act (PCRA). As such, the defendant has demonstrated that a grave miscarriage of justice has been committed against him by the Commonwealths intentional systematic failures to correct false testimony at the homicide trial and the fire bombing trial. Therefore, as supported by the evidence presented and the supporting case citations the defendant is entitled to a new and fair trial which is guaranteed to him under the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution and the Post Conviction Relief Act (PCRA) as stated in POINT ONE.

See, Brady which requires the prosecution to disclose in pertinent materials that are material to the defense of the accused with a purpose to influence the state's possession materially favorable to the accused defense." The prosecution failed to do such here. See also, Commonwealth v. Tillery, 125 Pa. App. 328, 331 (1988): "even if the prosecution's failure to disclose such information to the prosecution would be relevant to the witness credibility and the jury should have been informed of it."

Mr. Mickins continued his testimony against Tillery as a bargaining tool to get favorable treatment from the Commonwealth on his own criminal matters.

As seen, in or about November of 1985, after defendant's conviction, Mr. Mickins wrote to his own sentencing judge [viz, Judge Eugene Clark] asking for help in getting him released from prison on a Home Furlough. And by using his history as a Commonwealth witness in several murder trials including Mr. Tillery's, as a bargaining tool, he was successful in obtaining furloughs, with a favorable recommendation of the D.A. Miss Barbera Christie, who again, has a history of using false witnesses. Mr. Mickins also clearly admitted in his letter that the court only sentenced him to 2-5 years in Northampton county prison instead of up state where prison sentences are often served.

See e.g., Blankenship v. Estelle, 545 F.2d 510 (5th Cir. 1977); Where it was discussed in pertinent part: "This court has recently made clear that we will not tolerate prosecutorial participation in technically correct, yet seriously misleading, testimony which serves to conceal the existence of a deal with material witnesses."

If defendant would have been made privy to this evidence, it would have given the defense more damaging evidence to show that Mr. Mickins had great reason to want to curry favor for the Commonwealth. And that reason was not to receive the full sentence eligible for the rape/robbery charges. Charges that shoes Mr. Mickins character as being a weak individual to want to prey on defenseless woman. Such evidence goes directly to the credibility of the Commonwealth on additional witness to the crimes and Mr. Tillery's alleged involvement. See, United States v. Sanfilippo, 564 F.2d 176, 178 (5th Cir. 1977) ("A jury may very well give great weight to a precise reason to doubt credibility when the witness has been shown to be the kind of person who might perjure himself.").

In fact Mr. Mickins was allowed to testify that he only plead guilty to an "open plea", and that sentencing was up to his sentencing judge [viz, Clark] with no recommendations from the Commonwealth.

In the case sub judice, when Mr. Mickins testified that there was no agreement [Ex. 4D pg 25]; the Commonwealth clearly knew that there was an agreement and should have immediately corrected such false testimony. It's failure to do so gave the false impression to the jury that Mr. Mickins had no reason to want to curry favor for the Commonwealth by lying against defendant. Even though, Mr. Mickins had every reason in the world to want to curry favor for the Commonwealth, and that reason was to stay out of prison, whether by Home Furloughs, or "Use Immunity" on the homicide indictment. or the very lenient sentence he received for rape/robbery.

See supra, Napue at 269, quoting People v. Savvides, 1 N.Y. 2d 554, 557; 136 N.E. 2d 853,854-855; 154 N.Y.S. 2d 885, 887:

"A lie is a lie, no matter what its subject, and, if it is any way relevant to the case, the district attorney has the responsibility and duty to correct what he knows to be false and elicit the truth.... That the district attorney's silence was not the result of guile or a desire to prejudice matters little, for its impact was the same, preventing, as it did, a trial that could in any real sense be termed fair."

Again as stated in the matter of, United States v. Bigeleisen, 625 F.2d 203 (8th Cir. 1980); "[t]he duty to correct false testimony is on the prosecutor, and that duty arises when the false evidence appears."

This is not a case in which the witness' bias becomes irrelevant because the witness' testimony is fully corroborated, nor is this a case in which the witness' testimony has been thoroughly impeached and proof of his bias would be merely cumuative. See, e.g., McCleskey v. Kemp, 753 F.2d 877, 885 (11th Cir. 1985).

If the truth would had been disclosed "it would have introduced a new source of potential bias." Wainwright, 785, F.2d 1457, 1466. United States v. Sancho, 11th Cir. 1985. A jury may give great weight to the testimony of a person who might perjure himself.

One might argue that Mr. Mickel was not injured. Under those circumstances the defendant directs the court to Dupart v. United States, 541 F.2d 1150 (5th Cir. 1976). The testimony, even though it is hearsay, should be given weight.

Therefore, in light of the evidence and the arguments presented before the Court, the defendant is entitled to a new trial and a full acquittal. The defendant's false testimony of Mr. Mickel is a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution.

Appeal from the PCRA Order of September 9, 2008,

Criminal Division at No. CP-51-CR-0305681-1984

BEFORE: GANTMAN, KELLY and COLVILLE*, JJ.

MEMORANDUM:

FILED JULY 15 , 2009

This case is an appeal from the order dismissing Appellant's petition under the Post Conviction Relief Act ("PCRA"). Finding Appellant's petition untimely, we affirm the dismissal.

Facts

Appellant was convicted of murder and related offenses. On appeal, this Court affirmed his judgment of sentence. Commonwealth v. Tillery, 563 A.2d 195 (Pa. Super. 1989) (unpublished memorandum). On March 5, 1990, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied his petition for allowance of appeal. Commonwealth v. Tillery, 593 A.2d 841 (Pa. 1990).

*Retired Senior Judge assigned to the Superior Court.

J. S40031/09

In a separate case, Appellant was convicted of, inter alia, arson. This Court affirmed his judgment of sentence on March 15, 1989. Commonwealth v. Tillery, 560 A.2d 830 (Pa. Super. 1989) (unpublished memorandum). He did not file a petition for allowance of appeal.

In 2007, Appellant filed the instant PCRA petition, his second on each case.¹ In his petition, Appellant claimed the Commonwealth withheld exculpatory and/or impeachment information from him prior to trial. More specifically, Appellant contended that, in return for testifying against him, certain Commonwealth witnesses were to receive, or had already received by the time of his trial, favorable treatment from the Commonwealth. The favorable treatment included immunity from prosecution and/or reduced sentencing on the witnesses' own criminal charges. Appellant's position was that the favorable treatment constituted undisclosed exculpatory or impeachment material. Similarly, Appellant also contended the Commonwealth allowed one or more of the witnesses to testify falsely by denying or understating the extent of the favorable treatment.

¹ The petition addresses both of Appellant's cases. While Appellant should have filed separate petitions, one at each case number, the PCRA court accepted his petition as filed and dismissed the petition through a single order now on appeal before us. Given the PCRA court's acceptance of the petition as filed and the fairly evident untimeliness of Appellant's PCRA requests, we see no reason to remand this matter to have the two cases treated separately.

J. S40031/09

In his petition, Appellant cited to numerous documents such as transcripts from various proceedings and letters from the Commonwealth (e.g., a letter to the judge who was to sentence one of the aforesaid witnesses). The documents supposedly demonstrated the favorable treatment, the Commonwealth's failure to disclose it and the witnesses' false testimony about the favorable treatment.

Proceeding under Pa.R.Crim.P. 907, the PCRA court issued a notice of intent to dismiss the petition as being untimely. Subsequently, the court dismissed the petition on that basis. Appellant then filed this appeal.

Legal Principles

In order to be timely, a PCRA petition, including a second or subsequent one, must normally be filed within one year of when a defendant's judgment of sentence becomes final. 42 Pa.C.S.A. § 9545(b)(1). A judgment of sentence becomes final at the end of direct review, including discretionary review in the Pennsylvania or U.S. Supreme Court, or at the expiration of time for seeking such review. Id. at (b)(3).

The time period for seeking review in the Pennsylvania Supreme Court is thirty days from the entry of our order sought to be reviewed. Pa.R.A.P. 1113(a). Ninety days is the period for petitioning the U.S. Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari after the Pennsylvania Supreme Court enters an order disposing of a case. SUP.CT.R. 13.

J. S40031/09

Despite the normal one-year deadline, the PCRA provides three statutory exceptions to the time bar. See 42 Pa.C.S.A. § 9545(b)(1) (setting forth exceptions based on governmental interference, newly discovered facts and/or a newly announced retroactive constitutional right). The exception for newly discovered facts requires the petitioner to plead and prove that "the facts upon which the claim is predicated were unknown to the petitioner and could not have been ascertained by the exercise of due diligence." Id. at (b)(1)(ii). Where a petitioner invokes one or more of the aforesaid exceptions, the PCRA petition must be filed within sixty days of when the claim could have been brought. Id. at (b)(2). Ultimately, if a PCRA petition is untimely, the PCRA court lacks jurisdiction to entertain it. Commonwealth v. Hawkins, 953 A.2d 1248, 1252 (Pa. 2006).

When considering a PCRA court's denial of relief, our standard of review is limited to determining whether the court's ruling is supported by the record and is free of legal error. Commonwealth v. Treadwell, 911 A.2d 987, 989 (Pa. Super. 2006). An appellant has the burden to persuade us that the PCRA court erred and that relief is due. Commonwealth v. Wrecks, 931 A.2d 717, 722 (Pa. Super. 2007).

Analysis

Appellant's judgment of sentence on his murder case became final in June 1990 when the time for seeking a writ of certiorari in the U.S. Supreme Court expired. On his arson case, his judgment of sentence became final in April 1989, thirty days after the entry of our affirmance. The instant PCRA petition was not filed until 2007 and was, therefore, facially late.

J. S40031/09

To overcome this untimeliness, Appellant attempts, as he did in the PCRA court, to invoke the exception for newly discovered facts. In particular, he claims that, within sixty days before he filed his petition, he discovered the transcripts and Commonwealth letters on which he relies to substantiate his claims. However, those documents all appear to be from the 1980s. Even to the extent Appellant might not have known about the facts contained therein until recently, he fails to show us why he could not have discovered those facts by due diligence at some earlier date. As such, he fails to convince us he is entitled to a time-bar exception under 42 Pa.C.S.A. § 9545(b)(1)(ii).

Accordingly, Appellant has not persuaded us of any legal or factual error in the PCRA court's dismissal of his petition on the grounds that the petition was late and that the court therefore lacked jurisdiction. Consequently, we will not disturb the court's ruling and we affirm the dismissal.

Order affirmed.

PETITION FOR POST- CONVICTION RELIEF And PRELIMINARY MEMORANDUM OF LAW

Petitioner, MAJOR G. TILLERY, pro se, respectfully petitions this Court for relief pursuant to the Post-Conviction Collateral Relief Act (PCRA), 42 Pa. C.S. & 9541 et. seq., and in support thereof avers the following:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. This is a case of factual innocence and gross prosecutorial misconduct violating Petitioner Major Tillery's right to due process and a fair trial.

The actions of the Commonwealth resulted in a fundamental miscarriage of justice that shocks the conscience and warrants reversal of his conviction and dismissal of charges against Petitioner Major Tillery.

2. Newly discovered evidence proves the Commonwealth knowingly and intentionally manufactured and presented false evidence to convict Petitioner. Jailhouse informants were coerced and promised favors to lie and testify that Petitioner Major Tillery was involved in the shooting homicide of Joseph Hollis and assault of John Pickens. This falsified testimony was the only evidence presented against Petitioner. Petitioner has spent over thirty years in prison for crimes he did not commit.

3. Petitioner Major Tillery was convicted of homicide, assault, weapons and conspiracy charges in May 1985 for poolroom shootings that left Joseph Hollis dead and John Pickens wounded on October 22, 1976, purportedly over disputes between drug dealers. Career informant Emanuel Claitt also identified Petitioner as an official in the Nation of Islam and that the Nation of Islam ran the Black Mafia.

4. Petitioner is serving a sentence of life imprisonment without the possibility of parole. William Franklin, the operator of the poolroom, charged as a co-conspirator in the shootings, was tried and convicted in December 1980.

5. Pickens, the survivor of the shootings, gave a statement to police detectives that identified the shooters as individuals other than Petitioner and Franklin. Pickens did not testify at either trial.

6. There was no evidence against Petitioner linking him to these 1976 shootings except for the testimony of two jailhouse informants: that of Emanuel Claitt obtained in spring of 1980 and the other from Robert Mickens obtained in the fall of 1984.

7. Claitt and Mickens were incarcerated with open felony charges and faced decades of state prison time. During their trial testimony both Claitt and Mickens repeatedly swore that they had received no promises, agreements or deals in exchange for their testimony. The trial prosecutor Barbara Christie insisted to the Court and to the Jury that these witnesses were not given any plea agreements or sentencing promises. This was false.

8. The newly discovered evidence in this Petition are the sworn declarations of these witnesses, Emanuel Claitt [Exhibit A, B] and Robert Mickens [Exhibit C] that their testimony was entirely false, and that this false testimony was manufactured by the prosecution with the assistance of police detectives and secured by threats, coercion and favors including dismissal of felony charges, minimal or no state time on pleas and access to sexual encounter while in the police custody.

9. Petitioner is factually innocent of the homicide of Joseph Hollis and the assault on John Pickens, but he was prevented from providing that defense at trial because the Commonwealth concealed its actions presenting false evidence and withheld material exculpatory evidence in violation of Brady v. Maryland and Napue v. Illinois, and the due process principles for which they stand.

II. ELIGIBILITY FOR RELIEF

10. This PCRA petition presents claims of actual innocence and the denial of due process and a fair trial by the Commonwealth's intentional manufacture and presentment of false evidence against the Petitioner, and suppression of the information that it has done so. This petition also presents other claims pursuant to Brady v. Maryland and its progeny for the suppression of exculpatory impeachment evidence.

11. Petitioner states that he is entitled to relief pursuant to the following provisions of the PCRA:

- a. Petitioner's conviction resulted from "a violation of the Constitution of Pennsylvania or laws of this Commonwealth or the Constitution of the United States, which, in the circumstances of the particular case, so undermined the truth-determining process that no reliable adjudication of guilt or innocence could have taken place." 42 Pa. C.S. §9543(a)(2)(i).
- b. Petitioner's conviction resulted from "the unavailability at the time of trial of exculpatory evidence that has subsequently become available and would have changed the outcome of the trial" if it had been introduced." 42 Pa. C.S. §9543(a)(2)(vi).

12. Specifically, the claims set forth herein are based upon violations of Petitioner's right to due process of law guaranteed to him by the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and Article I, § 9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

C.S. § 9543(a).

14. Petitioner has been convicted of crimes under the laws of this Commonwealth and is actively serving a sentence of life imprisonment without the possibility of parole as a result of his convictions. Therefore, Petitioner is entitled to relief pursuant to the provisions of the PCRA.

III. THIS PCRA PETITION IS TIMELY

15. A PCRA petition, including any subsequent petition must be filed within one year of the date the judgment becomes final. 42 Pa.C.S. §9545(b)(1).

16. Petitioner is fully aware that his instant petition, his third PCRA petition, is outside that time limitation. However, this petition is timely pursuant to the exceptions to the time constraints imposed. 42 Pa. C.S. §9545(b)(1)(i), (ii), as relevant here provide:

(i) The failure to raise the claim previously was the result of interference by government officials with the presentation of the claim in violation of the Constitution or laws of this Commonwealth or the Constitution or laws of the United States;

(ii) The facts upon which the claim is predicated were unknown to the petitioner and could not have been ascertained by the exercise of due diligence;

(2) Any petition invoking an exception provided in paragraph (1) shall be filed within 60 days of the date the claim could have been presented.

17. Petitioner presents several claims in this petition that are based upon newly discovered facts that the Commonwealth manufactured false evidence against the Petitioner and knowingly and intentionally presented this false evidence to the Jury and the Court. The prosecution suppressed the fact of its fabrication of the evidence against Petitioner as well as suppressed exculpatory impeachment evidence of plea deals and agreements. The Commonwealth committed a fraud on the Court and the Jury and undermined the fundamentals of due process.

18. This case falls squarely under the considerations of Mooney v Holohan, 294 U.S. 103 (1935). Due process is violated “if a State has contrived a conviction through the pretense of a trial which in truth is but used as a means of depriving a defendant of liberty through a deliberate deception of court and jury by the presentation of testimony known to be perjured.”

19. This case is also governed by the holdings and considerations in Napue v. Illinois, 360 U.S. 264 (1959), Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83, 87 (1963), Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150, 154 (1972), Kyles v. Whitley, 514 U.S. 419 (1995) and their legal progeny.

20. The newly discovered evidence is contained in the sworn declarations from the two prosecution fact witnesses, Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens, who provided the entirety of trial evidence against Petitioner.

21. Claitt and Mickens now establish that their testimony was manufactured by the prosecution and police who coerced and threatened them with false charges and provided favors including plea agreements, dismissal of charges as well as allowing sexual favors while incarcerated to these witnesses as inducement and in exchange for their false testimony. These witnesses were coached to testify falsely.

22. Claitt and Mickens understood that the Commonwealth would penalize them if that did not lie on the witness stand and that they would be rewarded if they did.

23. Commonwealth representatives told the Court and the Jury that these witnesses had no reason to falsify their testimony and asserted there were no plea agreements, knowing this was false. The witnesses' false statements that there were no plea agreements were not corrected.

24. On April 18, 2016 Robert Mickens provided a sworn declaration in which he stated for the first time that his testimony at trial was fabricated and coerced by then Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie, Detectives John Cimino and James McNeshy. Mickens swore that he was promised a very favorable plea agreement and treatment in his pending criminal cases. He was promised protection in prison against prisoners who viewed him as a "snitch." Mickens was granted sexual favors in exchange for his false testimony.

25. On May 4, 2016 Emanuel Claitt provided a sworn declaration, supplemented by another sworn declaration on June 3, 2016 stating that his testimony against Petitioner was fabricated and coerced and coached by ADAs Leonard Ross, Barbara Christie, along with ADA Roger King with the assistance of Detectives Larry Gerrard, Ernest Gilbert, Lubiejewski and Lt. Bill Shelton. As part of the coercion to convince Claitt into falsely testifying he was threatened with false murder charges as well as given promises and agreements of favorable plea deals and sentencing. He was also given sexual favors.

26. The Verified Declarations of Robert Mickens and Emanuel Claitt contain newly discovered facts that each testified falsely based on evidence fabricated by the prosecution and police.

27. The facts upon which Petitioner bases his claims raised here became known to Petitioner within the last 60 days. This Petition is filed within 60 days of the date these claims could have been presented, meeting the jurisdictional time period set forth under 42 Pa. C.S. §9545(b)(2).

A. Government Interference 42 Pa. C.S. §9545(b)(1)(i)

28. Here the new evidence is the fact that it was the government itself that knowingly and intentionally fabricated and presented false evidence against Petitioner. The Commonwealth concealed and suppressed the facts of its actions.

29. As set forth below infra, the prosecution denied that its witnesses were not truthful and made affirmative statements to the Court upholding the veracity of its witnesses and attacking the efforts of Petitioner to uncover the fundamental falsity of these witnesses' testimony: That neither witness was present at the time of the crime, and in the case of Claitt, also not present at the meetings two days before the shooting.

30. The prosecution additionally falsely stated on the record that the Commonwealth had no agreement, no deals with these witnesses regarding their respective pending cases.

31. Underlying the entirety of the Commonwealth's prosecution was interference with the right of the Petitioner to due process by falsifying evidence and concealing that falsification. That misconduct interfered and prevented Petitioner from earlier discovering this new evidence. See, Banks v. Dretke, 540 U.S. 668, 696 (2004).

B. After Discovered Facts and Due Diligence:

32. It is averred that the facts revealed in these declarations were previously unknown to Petitioner and could not have been previously discovered through the exercise of due diligence.

33. It was not within the power or capacity of Petitioner to obtain the truth that Robert Mickens' and Emanuel Claitt's false testimony was actually manufactured by the Commonwealth. The Commonwealth concealed that fact.

34. Petitioner maintained his innocence from the time he learned he was being accused of shooting Joseph Hollis and John Pickens. Because Petitioner was not involved in that shooting, he knew that what Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens testified to was false.

35. Nonetheless Petitioner did not and could not obtain, no matter how much he tried, evidence of the fact the Commonwealth fabricated the evidence and coerced Claitt and Mickens into falsely testifying.

36. Similarly there was no way for the Petitioner to obtain the factual evidence that Commonwealth representatives allowed and assisted these witnesses to have sex with girlfriends in the Round House interview rooms, and in Claitt's case to be provided with hotel rooms prior to the willingness of these witnesses to come forward.

37. Petitioner had no control over, nor could he by his exercise of due diligence obtain this new evidence until such time as these witnesses were willing and ready to come forward to clear their consciences and overcome fear of retaliation by the prosecution and police. It rested with Robert Mickens and Emanuel Claitt to decide to come forward. Their respective declarations state that they are only now willing to provide this information.

38. Due diligence does not require the Petitioner to act on the assumption that Commonwealth withholds Brady material, that Commonwealth witnesses are committing perjury and the Commonwealth improperly permits them to do so. See Commonwealth v. Selenski, 994 A.2d 1083, 1089 (2010), Commonwealth v. Davis, 86 A.3d 883 (P.A. Super. 2014).

39. Moreover, throughout the over thirty years Petitioner has been imprisoned for crimes he did not commit, he has repeatedly challenged his conviction under extremely difficult circumstances. For twenty of those thirty-plus years, Petitioner was in solitary and disciplinary custody with severe restrictions on phone communication, personal visits and access to legal materials.

40. Petitioner was transferred almost two dozen times to prisons in the Federal system, New Jersey as well as within the PA Department of Corrections. His own legal records were taken from him and delayed in being returned to him during each of these transfers. In 2011 his legal files, including transcripts and prior legal pleadings were destroyed by water damage at SCI Pittsburgh.

41. Petitioner has had several serious medical emergencies, liver and bowel problems that incapacitated him for periods of time. In addition Petitioner was and is hampered by lack of funds and adequate legal assistance. This made it extremely difficult to conduct the investigation needed to pursue the new evidence presented here.

42. These explanations are provided to this Court to explain the objective circumstances that impeded Petitioner's attempts to uncover and present to the Court the Commonwealth's falsification of evidence against him, the suppressed evidence of his innocence and other materially favorable evidence pursuant to Brady et. al.

43. There is authority for the proposition that second or subsequent petitions will not be entertained unless a strong prima facie showing is offered to demonstrate that a miscarriage of justice may have occurred. See Commonwealth v. Szuchon, 633 A.2d 1098, 1099 (1993) (citing Commonwealth v. Lawson, 549 A.2d 107 (1988)).

44. This standard is met if the petitioner can demonstrate either: (1) that the proceedings resulting in the petitioner's conviction were so unfair that a miscarriage of justice occurred which no civilized society can tolerate; or (2) that the petitioner is innocent of the crimes charged.

45. This Petition surely meets these tests. Petitioner is factually innocent. The gross intentional prosecutorial misconduct in fabricating witness testimony, coercing and inducing witnesses to present false testimony and suppressing materially favorable evidence is clearly a miscarriage of justice that shocks the conscience.

46. To the extent the Commonwealth contests Petitioner's diligence in the discovery of any of the facts related to these claims, Petitioner requests an evidentiary hearing at which he will prove that he has acted with the requisite diligence. (See below p.53, the Court Must Provide an Evidentiary Hearing.)

47. Moreover, in light of the Brady violations enumerated in this Petition, Petitioner is entitled to review of previously raised Brady claims. That is because the Brady claims require an evaluation of the cumulative impact of the Brady violations. See e.g. Kyles v. Whitley, 514 U.S. 419, 421 (1995) (materiality of Brady violation "turns on the cumulative effect of all such evidence suppressed by the government"). In short, the new evidence of due process violations must be assessed with the old evidence on the same points.

IV. RELEVANT CASE HISTORY

48. Petitioner pro se Major Tillery AM9786 is serving a sentence of life without parole in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. He is incarcerated at SCI Frackville, 1111 Altamont Blvd., Frackville, PA 17931.

49. On May 29, 1985, following a jury trial in the Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas, Petitioner Tillery was convicted of first-degree murder, aggravated assault, criminal conspiracy and weapons offenses arising out of the October 22, 1976 shooting death of Joseph Hollis and the wounding of John Pickens. Post-trial motions were denied by the Hon. John E. Geisz and Petitioner was sentenced to life imprisonment without possibility of parole on December 9, 1986. At trial Petitioner was represented by attorney Joseph Santaguida. At post-trial motions and the filing of appeals before the Superior Court and PA Supreme Court, Petitioner was represented by attorney James S. Bruno.

50. The Pennsylvania Superior Court affirmed Tillery's conviction on May 30, 1989, Commonwealth v. Tillery, 563 A.2d 195 (Pa. Super. 1989), and the Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied allocatur (Petition for Allowance on Appeal) on March 5, 1990, Commonwealth v. Tillery, 593 A.2d 841 (Pa. 1990).

51. On September 20, 1996, Tillery filed a petition under Pennsylvania's Post-Conviction Relief Act (PCRA) asserting ineffective assistance of trial counsel because of a conflict of interest after he discovered that his trial counsel, Joseph Santaguida, Esq., had also represented Tillery's alleged victim, John Pickens, with respect to the Commonwealth's charges against William Franklin, Tillery's alleged co-perpetrator in the 1976 shooting. Franklin was tried in November-December 1980. The Court of Common Pleas dismissed Tillery's petition as procedurally defaulted and without an evidentiary hearing on January 13, 1998, and the Superior Court affirmed the dismissal on April 21, 1999.

Commonwealth v. Tillery, 738 A.2d 1058 (Pa. Super. 1999). Petitioner was represented by attorney Richard P. Hunter.

52. Tillery then filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus with the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania on December 22, 1999, in which he again contended that his trial counsel operated under an actual conflict of interest. On October 30, 2000, the District Court dismissed Tillery's petition.

53. The Third Circuit Court of Appeals by Order dated August 23, 2003, directed the district court to hold an evidentiary hearing, after which the District Court by Order dated July 29, 2003, reaffirmed the dismissal of Tillery's petition. On July 29, 2005 in Tillery v Horn 432 Fed Appx 66 (2005) the Third Circuit affirmed the District Court's judgment of dismissal. Petitioner was represented by attorney Michael Consusione.

54. On August 13, 2007 Petitioner filed a Second PCRA petition pro se. The central claim of that PCRA petition was the prosecution's suppression of exculpatory impeachment evidence, specifically a favorable plea deal. The Commonwealth filed a Motion to Dismiss via a letter brief on May 8, 2008. The PCRA court received a letter brief in opposition to the Motion to Dismiss on June 13, 2008. The letter was submitted by Brian J. McMonagel, Esq. on Petitioner's behalf, but an Amended PCRA was never filed. No evidentiary hearing was held.

55. The Petition was dismissed by the Hon. John J. Poserina, Jr. on September 9, 2008 as untimely filed. A pro se Notice of Appeal was filed on October 1, 2008. A formal Opinion was filed by the Hon. J. Poserina on December 11, 2009 affirming the denial of the petition as untimely filed. On July 15, 2009 the Superior Court affirmed the dismissal of Petitioner's Second PCRA. On December 9, 2009, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied a Petition for Allowance of Appeal.

56. During the entire period of the preparation and pendency of his pro se Second PCRA petition, Petitioner was incarcerated at New Jersey State Prison in the Special Management Unit.

57. Petitioner's right to due process of law is guaranteed to him by the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution and Article I, § 9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

58. The constitutional errors and newly discovered exculpatory evidence described herein have been neither previously litigated nor waived. See 42 Pa. C.S. § 9543(a).

59. Petitioner has been convicted of crimes under the laws of this Commonwealth and is actively serving a sentence of life imprisonment without the possibility of parole as a result of his convictions. Therefore, Petitioner is entitled to relief pursuant to the provisions of the PCRA.

IV. STATEMENT OF FACTS RELEVANT TO PETITIONER'S CLAIMS

A. Overview and Evidence Relevant to Guilt

60. The facts of the case as presented in the Superior Court decision denying Petitioner's appeal from his December 9, 1986 judgment of sentence of the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas, Commonwealth v. Tillery, 563 A.2d 195 (Pa. Super. 1989), begin with the following:

"The facts of this case have a rather long and tortuous past. At approximately 10:00 p.m. on October 22, 1976, Philadelphia police received a call to the address at Huntingdon and Warnock Streets in North Philadelphia. At that corner they broke down the locked door of a poolroom operated by William Franklin and discovered the dead body of John [Joseph] Hollis. A medical examination later revealed that Hollis died of a gunshot wound to the trunk of this body. Inside the poolroom, the police found live and spent .38 caliber ammunition and a set of car keys. Around the corner from the poolroom at 2527 North 11th Street, police officers found John Pickens bleeding from a gunshot wound. He was treated at a hospital and survived his injuries. Both Pickens and Hollis were shot by different guns.

"For more than three years, the shooting of Pickens and Hollis remained unsolved. However, in the spring of 1980, police detectives investigating the homicide of Samuel Goodwin, visited a Philadelphia prison to determine if Emanuel Claitt, and inmate who had known Goodwin, could provide any information about Goodwin's death. The information Claitt provided went far beyond the Goodwin case. Claitt described in detail the operation of what he labeled the "black mafia" a crime syndicate run by black Muslims in Philadelphia. His information described a vivid picture of the events culminating with the shootings of Pickens and Hollis.

"Claitt testified that from 1976 until 1980, he engaged in drug dealing and extortion as a member of the Philadelphia "black mafia". The organization divided the city into sections for business purposes. Alfred Clark was he leader of the North Philadelphia branch. He held the rank of first lieutenant and had "the last word" for all business in the city. Sylvester White directed the West Philadelphia branch. Johns Pickens also dealt drugs in West Philadelphia. During the 1970s's, appellant had the rank of first lieutenant and had 'had control of the entire city as far as methamphetamines is concerned' Claitt received his heroin supply from Clark and his methamphetamine supply from appellant. Clark and appellant were partners in the heroin and methamphetamine trade. Claitt characterized appellant as Clark's 'right hand man.'"

"Based on Claitt's information, the police obtained an arrest warrant on May 23, 1980, for appellant's arrest. William Franklin was charged as well for the same offenses and went to trial in November 1980, was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

"However, for three years the police were not able to serve the warrant because appellant could not be located. A detective in California finally arrested appellant in November, 1983. Appellant was returned to Philadelphia on December 8, 1983, to stand trial."

61. No physical evidence from the scene was presented as evidence against Petitioner. Fingerprints were not taken. NT 10:83.¹ Car keys found in the poolroom were identified as belonging to Fred Rainey, but he was not charged for anything having to do with the shootings. NT 13:12. A large plastic bag containing a controlled substance was found on the pool table. NT 13:8. Coats, a hat and glasses were found in the poolroom, but not linked to anyone. NT 13:33. Alfred Clark was detained after a car stop shortly after the shooting, but he was not charged. NT 13:43-44. Eighteen hundred dollars was confiscated but was later released to Clark. NT 13:31.

62. Shortly after the shooting, while in the hospital, surviving victim John Pickens made a statement to a homicide detective² NT 13:56, but no charges were brought against Petitioner, or anyone else. NT 13:57. Pickens never testified, not at William Franklin's trial in Nov-December 1980 nor at Petitioner's trial in May 1985. The prosecution didn't try to subpoena Pickens as a witness.

63. The Commonwealth's evidence against Petitioner that he was inside the poolroom and one of the shooters of Hollis and Pickens came solely from career jail informant Emanuel Claitt in May 1980.³

64. According to Claitt, Petitioner threatened Hollis after Hollis pistol-whipped Clark during a dispute about drug selling in West Philadelphia on October 20, 1976. NT 14:30. Petitioner was involved in making arrangements for a meeting at the poolroom between Hollis and Clark with others. NT 14:32, 39.

65. Claitt said that it was arranged that everyone would meet at the mosque and go from there to the poolroom, but before the service was over Petitioner and Franklin got up and left. NT 14:42.

66. After the service, Claitt drove over to the poolroom with Clark and others, and was asked by Clark to guard the door inside the poolroom. NT 14:49. Claitt didn't see Petitioner and William Franklin at the poolroom until they came from behind a barrier and shot at Hollis and Pickens. NT 14:59.

² Pickens gave a verbal and written statement to homicide detective McGrath that "Dave" and "Rickie" committed the shooting. (Exhibit D)

³ Between January 1980 and Petitioner's 1985 trial Claitt provided information to and/or testified for the prosecution against Robert Lark, William Franklin, James Brand, George Rose, Fred Rainey, Major Tillery and Larry Frazier

67. Claitt said after Pickens was shot “he ran through this door which had a glass centerpiece in it.”⁴ NT 14:73.

68. Claitt was not charged in anyway in connection with the shootings.

69. The other prosecution fact witness was Robert Mickens, also a jail house informant. Mickens did not testify at Franklin’s trial in 1980 and became a prosecution witness against Petitioner in a statement given to detectives on September 26, 1984, eight years after the shootings.

70. Mickens testified that while walking down the street in front of the poolroom shortly before 10 pm on the night of the shooting, he was asked by Petitioner to be an outside “lookout” to watch for patrolling police cars. NT 21:36.

71. Mickens said Petitioner was on the poolroom steps with Franklin and Alfred Clark. NT 21:35,60.

72. Mickens did not witness and did not know what happened inside the poolroom, but heard shots.

73. Mickens also testified that he was asked to and agreed to be an alibi witness for Petitioner back in 1976, a few days after the shootings. NT 21:15.

74. Mickens was a surprise witness for the prosecution, kept secret from Petitioner until he was called to the witness stand. The Commonwealth had obtained a protective order prior pursuant to Rule 305 F⁵. The Commonwealth disclosed over Mickens' September 24, 1984 statement (C-41) just minutes before he testified. [Exhibit E]

B. Witnesses' Arrests and Plea Agreements with the Commonwealth

75. Both Claitt and Mickens were prosecution witnesses with a criminal history, pending cases and were incarcerated during Petitioner Tillery's trial. The testimony of Claitt and Mickens was repeatedly challenged on the grounds they had received possible favorable plea deals in exchange for their testimony against Petitioner.

Claitt Testimony That He Had "No Plea Deals"

76. In April 1980 homicide detectives questioned Emanuel Claitt who was incarcerated on a probation violation and had 8 or 9 open cases. NT 14:8.

77. Claitt was questioned about the homicide of Samuel Goodwin NT 15:8 and provided information on that homicide, as well as others, including the homicides of Alfred Clark (April 1979) and Joseph Hollis (October 1976) and firebombings committed by him and others. NT 14:8.

78. Claitt's open charges included auto theft, possession with intent to distribute drugs, weapons charges and conspiracy.

⁵ Petitioner objected to the in camera proceeding that led to the protective order that concealed the fact that Robert Mickens was going to be a prosecution witness on the grounds that there was no basis for a finding that Mickens needed protection from Petitioner. The court overruled the objection and preserved the record of the exparte petition. NT 21:2-13.

79. On May 20, 1980, Claitt gave a 6-page statement on the 1976 shootings of Hollis and Pickens, “Investigation-Interview Record,” taken by Det Lawrence Gerrard (Com. Exh-31).⁶ NT 15:8. This inculpatd Petitioner and William Franklin.

80. Following Claitt’s statement an arrest warrant was issued for Petitioner.

81. Per Claitt, at the time of that statement he had “no agreement” regarding plea deals on his pending 8 or 9 cases. NT 14:78. The only “understanding” Claitt had with the Commonwealth was that after his testimony at preliminary hearings he would get help to be released on bail and he would have to fight his cases on his own “with no helping [sic] from the District Attorney’s office.” NT 14:83.

82. On June 4, 1980, Claitt testified at Franklin’s preliminary hearing and at the separate preliminary hearing against George Rose.⁷

83. On June 10, 1980, Claitt was released from jail after the Commonwealth went to Judge Kubacki to lift Claitt’s detainer on violation of probation on firearms charges. NT 14:81.

84. On July 9, 1980—a month later—while out on bail, Claitt was arrested on new charges for car theft. When back in prison, the Commonwealth

⁷ Rose was charged with the murder of Alfred Clark but acquitted after a jury trial. NT 14:81.

also placed firebombing charges against him as well as Petitioner, George Rose and James Brand. NT 14:82.

85. Claitt made bail for firebombing charge, and was out on the streets when he testified against Franklin at trial Nov-early Dec 1980. NT 14:79, 82.

86. On November 29, 1980, during the Franklin trial, Claitt pled guilty to 3 of the pending charges, the firebombing and the 2 drug charges before the Hon. Judge Leon Katz. NT 14:83.

87. Claitt testified this was an “open plea...I pled guilty to the charges with no recommendation from the District Attorney’s office...the Judge would decide my fate as to sentence.” The only request to Judge Katz would be a recommendation that the sentences run concurrent. NT 14:5, 6.

88. On January 5, 1981 the ADA Leonard Ross sent a letter to Judge Katz. NT 14:19. (Exhibit F) Claitt testified this letter was to inform Judge Katz that he had “cooperated with the District Attorney.”

89. Claitt also said that the “agreement” he had with the District Attorney was that in view of this cooperation they [the District Attorney] would nolle pross three of his cases, but “would not recommend a sentence, they would leave it up to the judge.” NT 14:86.

90. On Sept 18 1981 Claitt was sentenced by Judge Katz. On the three charges he pled guilty to he received concurrent sentences of one and a half to seven years, one and a half to five years and a matter of months.⁸ NT 14:83.

91. Claitt was acquitted of two cases and the District Attorney nolle prossed three cases. NT 14:20.

92. This sentence gave Claitt a total of one and half to seven years in prison and 5 and a half years under the supervision of the parole board. NT 14:80.

93. On November 22, 1982 Claitt was released on parole. NT 15:24.

94. Claitt served a year and a half in prison. NT 15:22.

95. On April 21, 1983 Claitt was arrested on new charges of robbery and aggravated assault. 14:94 This robbery charge put Claitt in violation of state parole and put him back in custody. NT 14:94.

96. On February 29, 1984 Claitt was released on the parole violation and able to sign his own bond on the robbery case immediately after testifying against Petitioner at his preliminary hearing.⁹ NT 14:95.

97. Claitt was re-incarcerated for violation of parole for reporting to his parole officer with a knife in his sock. NT 14:99.

98. On May 14 and 15, 1985 Claitt testified against Petitioner, while incarcerated in violation of parole and with pending robbery and aggravated assault charges. NT 14:25, 93.

99. At the time of his trial testimony against Petitioner, Claitt had spent 8 ½ months in Philadelphia Detention Center, Isolation Unit, Protective custody. NT 14:3.

100. Claitt testified there was no sentencing agreement on the pending open robbery case, which was scheduled for trial June 24, 1985 before the Hon. Judge John J. Chiovero. NT 14:6, 94.

101. When questioned by ADA Christie if there was an understanding or agreement with the Commonwealth concerning the disposition of those open charges. Claitt said:

“As to Agreement, the District Attorney merely mentioned that they did all they were going to do for me at that point but they would make Judge Chivoero aware of my prior cooperation and that I would be testifying in other trials in the near future.” NT 14:94.

102. ADA Barbara Christie told the Hon. John A. Geisz as part of her objections to Petitioner’s attorney continued questions to Claitt about possible plea agreements:

“The witness has testified to his understanding of the Agreement. And now the witness has indicated that there is no agreement with regard to sentencing on the open robbery. There is no agreement. He goes to trial on that. He has a parole date of September 85 and that he is currently in custody for violating his parole. And his understanding of any agreement he has with the commonwealth is that the Commonwealth will make the parole board aware of his cooperation in this and the other cases. NT 14:98.

103. On May 28, 1985 ADA Christie gave her Summation to the Jury saying there was “no set deal” and that the Com would only enter into an “open plea” agreement with Claitt. NT 28:60. She further stated:

“Claitt talked to the police in May 1980, with no deal but with a great desire, great desire for protection for himself and his family, particularly after he went public in court and testified in June 1980 at a preliminary hearing and December 1980 at the Franklin trial.

“Yes, Claitt was in and out of custody. He pled guilty to 3 crimes. He stood trial on 2 and he awaits trial on a third.”¹⁰ NT 28:90.

Mickens Testimony That He Had “No Plea Deal”

104. In February 1984 Robert Mickens was arrested on rape, assault and robbery charges and remained incarcerated through the May 1985 trial of Petitioner. NT 21:23, 54.

105. In September 1984 Mickens was taken to police headquarters at 8th and Race for questioning about the homicide of Ronald Johnson and volunteered information to the homicide detective about other homicide cases. NT 12:29.

106. On September 26, 1984 Mickens gave police a statement regarding what he knew of the homicide by shooting of Joseph Hollis, recorded in a 6-page Investigation-Interview Record (Com Exh 41). NT 21:106-7. [Exhibit E]

¹⁰ This 1983 robbery case from 1983, pending during Tillery trial was nolle processed by the Commonwealth December 16, 1987. {See Exhibit G}

108. Mickens testified in in preliminary hearings two separate murder cases against George Brown and Kenneth Purnell, on December 8, 1984 and January 3, 1985. NT 21:27.

109. Mickens was identified in the prison as a snitch and placed in areas of protective custody in a Philadelphia prison and then transferred to a prison outside the Philadelphia area. NT 21:101,105

110. On May 16, 1985 Mickens pled guilty to criminal conspiracy and rape before the Hon. Eugene Clarke Jr. and was scheduled to be sentenced on July 18, 1985. NT 21:24.

111. Mickens testified it was an “open plea” with no plea bargaining, 21:24 that his sentencet would be up to the judge. NT 21:25.

112. Mickens was advised that he could get 10-20 years on the rape case, 5 to 10 on the conspiracy and that the sentences could run concurrent or consecutive. NT 21:26.

113. His only “understanding” with the District Attorney’s office was that it would let Judge Clark know about his cooperation and that the other charges would be nolle prossed. NT 21:26.

114. In her summation, ADA Christie told the jury that Mickens “awaits sentence on a guilty plea to a rape charge and conspiracy. That could net him 15 to 30 years at the decision and discretion of the sentencing judge.” NT 28:91.

115. When sentenced before the Hon. Eugene Clark, Jr. on October 10, 1985, Mickens received probation.

IV. Newly Discovered Evidence and Exculpatory Evidence the Commonwealth Has Concealed For the Past Thirty-one Years That Proves Major Tillery is Innocent and that the Commonwealth Knowingly Presented False Evidence of his Guilt

116. Petitioner has within the last sixty days discovered new evidence from the two Commonwealth fact witnesses, Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens. These newly discovered facts are contained in sworn declarations of Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens. [Exhibits A, B and C]

117. Claitt and Mickens each swear that their testimony inculpatory of Petitioner was a lie, manufactured by the Commonwealth, resulting from coercion and promises of plea deals and sexual favors.

118. The significance of this new evidence is that it proves that the entirety of the prosecution's case against Petitioner was based on false testimony, manufactured and presented by the Commonwealth.

119. This new evidence proves Major Tillery's innocence. Without the testimony of Emanuel Claitt the District Attorney could not have prosecuted Petitioner. Had the facts of the coercion and promises made to these witnesses to compel them to falsely testify been known to the jury, Petitioner would have been acquitted at trial.

120. This newly discovered evidence was unavailable to Petitioner despite his exercise of due diligence. Claitt and Mickens were previously unwilling to come forward with the truth and provide this evidence to Petitioner because they feared retaliation by the police and prosecution.

Below, Petitioner presents the contents of these verified declarations.

Newly Discovered Evidence From Emanuel Claitt, May 4 and June 3, 2016

121. Without the testimony of Emanuel Claitt there is no case, no evidence of Major Tillery's involvement in the shootings of Joseph Hollis and John Pickens.

122. Prior to Claitt's statement to police detectives May 20, 1980 there were no suspects in the October 22, 1976 shootings of Hollis and Pickens. It was only after Claitt's statement that an arrest warrant was issued for Petitioner.

123. Verified Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, May 4, 2016

I submit this declaration stating that I lied when I testified at the trial of Major Tillery in May 1985 for the murder of Joseph Hollis and attempted murder of John Pickens on October 22, 1976.

I wasn't in the pool hall when Joseph Hollis was shot and killed and John Pickens shot and injured.

I wasn't anywhere near Joseph Hollis and John Pickens when they were shot.

I lied when I testified that Major Tillery and William Franklin were in the pool hall and shot Hollis and Pickens.

I was in prison in 1980 on serious charges and I was approached by Philadelphia detectives Larry Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert. They threatened to charge me with the murder of Samuel Goodwin. I had eight or nine open cases, at least three of them were felonies with a lot of years of prison time.

I was threatened about the murder of Samuel Goodwin. The detectives really wanted information to get Major Tillery for murder.

Detectives and prosecutors ADA Lynn Ross and Barbara Christie promised if I said that Major Tillery and William Franklin were the shooters in the 1976 murder of Joseph Hollis and the attempted murder of John Pickens I wouldn't get state time in my many pending criminal charges and I wouldn't be charged in the murder of Samuel Goodwin, that I had nothing to do with.

I was threatened that I would get maximum prison time if I didn't cooperate to get Tillery and Franklin.

I was also allowed to have sex with my girlfriends (four of them) in the homicide interview rooms and in hotel rooms, in exchange for my cooperation.

Detectives Larry Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert, and Lt. Bill Shelton with the knowledge and direction of ADAs Lynn Ross, Roger King and Barbara Christie, promised me leniency, threatened me and allowed me private time for sex with girlfriends in the homicide interview rooms and hotel rooms.

Major Tillery couldn't be found when the prosecution wanted to arrest him and Franklin. So Franklin was tried in December 1980 and I falsely testified against William Franklin at his trial for the 1976 murder of Hollis and attempted murder of Pickens. In truth, I wasn't in or near the pool hall when the shootings happened.

After Franklin's trial I tried to recant but Lt. Shelton threatened me and said I would be framed on another murder.

At Major Tillery's trial in 1985, I testified about a meeting and an argument that supposedly took place on October 20, 1976 between Alfred Clark the leader of North Philadelphia drug selling and those in charge of drug selling in West Philadelphia, including Joseph Hollis and John Pickens. This argument supposedly took place in the home of Dana Goodman. I testified that Major Tillery was there and after an argument and pistol slapping of Clark by Hollis, Major Tillery said that "Hollis would have to die for what he did."

This was not true. I was not at any such meeting and I didn't have any personal knowledge of this supposed argument and threat made by Major Tillery.

I also testified at Major Tillery's trial that after the argument in Goodman's house a group that included me as well as Clark and Major Tillery met at a mosque in North Philadelphia and drove a few blocks to a poolroom owned by William Franklin to demand Sylvester White, the head of the West Philadelphia drug selling, arrange a meeting with Hollis and Pickens.

None of this testimony was true. I had no involvement, if any of this actually happened.

I falsely testified that on October 22, 1976, I was standing by the door inside the pool hall during the meeting to prevent anyone from entering or leaving and that both Franklin and Pickens were in the pool hall.

I lied when I testified I heard gunshots in the pool hall, saw Pickens and Hollins shot and that Major Tillery and Franklin were in the pool hall and that they were the shooters.

At Major Tillery's trial I was forced by ADA Barbara Christie to testify about the "black mafia" and that they were run by Black Muslims in Philadelphia.

Before Major Tillery's trial, detectives instructed me to persuade Robert Mickens to become a witness against Major Tillery.

I was put in a police van to ride alone with Mickens back and forth from homicide up to the county holding prison on State Street, to make it clear to Mickens that he really had no choice, except to testify against Major Tillery.

I knew Robert Mickens before this and lied at Major Tillery's trial when I testified I had never met or spoken with him.

I also falsely accused Major Tillery of placing a fire bomb on the front porch of Frank Henderson on Church Lane.

Everything I testified to at Major Tillery's trial and William Franklin's trial about witnessing an argument between Alfred Clark and Joseph Hollis, threats made by Major Tillery against John Pickens and the shootings at the pool hall a few days later was false.

My testimony was made up while being questioned by homicide detectives Gerrard and Gilbert and being prepped by ADAs Ross, Christie and King to testify against Major Tillery and William Franklin.

Detectives Larry Gerrard, Ernest Gilbert and ADAs Barbara Christie, Len Ross, Roger King interviewed me, and worked over my testimony to make sure Major Tillery and William Franklin were convicted of murder and attempted murder.

In exchange for my false testimony many of my cases were not prosecuted. I got probation. I was sentenced to just 18 months for fire bombing and was protected when I was arrested between the time of Franklin's and Tillery's trials.

After Major Tillery's trial I was told I hadn't done good enough, that I "straddled the fence." In 1989 I was convicted of felony charges and spent 13 ½ years in prison for something I didn't do and framed by the ADA.

In 2014 I was given help by the prosecution in getting all my bond judgments dismissed on cases going back over 23 years.

I am now giving this verified declaration because I want to free my conscience. I need to be able to live with myself. It is vital I correct this.

I testified falsely against Major Tillery and William Franklin because I was threatened by the police and prosecutors with a murder prosecution for a crime I didn't commit. I was promised no state time for crimes I did commit if I lied.

I am ready to testify in court for Major Tillery and William Franklin and tell the truth that I lied against them at their trials, coerced by police and prosecutors.

124. Verified Supplemental Declaration of Emanuel Claitt, June 3, 2016

I submit this supplemental declaration about my false, manufactured testimony against Major Tillery and William Franklin in the November 1980 and May 1985 trials for the murder of Joseph Hollis and attempted murder of John Pickens on October 22, 1976.

The police detectives and prosecutors I met with knew I didn't have any personal knowledge that Major Tillery and William Franklin were involved or part of those shootings. They manufactured the lies I gave against Tillery and Franklin and coached me before the trials.

It was clear they knew I didn't have any direct knowledge about the shootings at the poolroom on October 22, 1976, that I wasn't there then or at the argument at Dana Goodman's house or meetings before the October 22, 1976 shootings.

For example: In our meetings I said you know I wasn't there – you have to fill in the blanks. Detectives Gerard, Gilbert, Lubiejewski, Lt. Shelton and ADA Ross would tell me, "you've got to say it this way." I was told "we've got to bring him down—you've got to help us." That meant I should lie." Barbara Christie told me: "You're the best. You should have been a lawyer." That meant I knew how to lie.

The prosecutor against William Franklin in 1980 was Leonard Ross. I met with him as well as ADAs who worked with Barbara Christie soon after I met with Lt. Bill Shelton and Detectives Gerrard and Gilbert and Lubiejewski. I met with ADA Roger King also who had me lie in another case.

I was coached by ADA Barbara Christie before Major Tillery's trial. She was worried about my first statement that John Pickens had gone through a glass door. She coached me to testify about a second door leading out of the poolroom and that it had been a glass door.

ADA Christie coached me how to answer the defense attorney's questions about whether I had plea deals or any agreements for leniency in sentencing for all the charges I faced back in 1980 when I first gave a statement about the shootings of Hollis and Pickens and since then.

ADA Christie coached me on this like ADA Lynn Ross did before I testified against William Franklin.

Back in 1980 when I testified at Franklin's trial I lied when I said that the only plea agreement was that my sentences on three cases would run concurrently. But I had been promised the DA's recommendation to receive no more than 10 years. In fact I got one and a half-years.

When I was questioned about this at Major Tillery's case I repeated the lie that I had no plea deal about length of sentencing. ADA Christie knew that wasn't true.

I was scheduled to go to trial on my robbery case soon after the Tillery trial was over. ADA Christie coached me to stick to saying that the robbery case was "open" and that there were no agreements about leniency and sentencing.

She coached me to just say I knew the judge would be told about my cooperation in Major Tillery's case and other cases. That's what I stuck to.

But my testimony that there was no plea deal was a lie and ADA Christie knew that. She told me the robbery charge and other charges would be nolle prossed. And they were.

It was also a lie, known to ADAs Ross, Christie, King that Major Tillery and George Rose were involved in bombing -firebombings in 1979 and 1980 that I testified to in August 1985.

It was also a total fabrication that Major Tillery pulled a gun on me and threatened to shoot me in Philadelphia in early 1983.

I wasn't willing to tell the truth about the lies I testified to at these trials and that my false testimony was manufactured by the ADAs and police until now.

It has taken me all these years to be willing and able to deal with my conscience and put aside my fears of retaliation by the police and prosecution for telling what really happened at those trials.

I am now ready and willing to testify in court for Major Tillery and William Franklin and tell the truth that I lied against them at their trials, coerced by police and prosecutors.

125. These declarations of Emanuel Claitt establish that the testimony he gave at trial was false. As most succinctly stated from Claitt's declarations, "I wasn't in the pool hall when Joseph Hollis was shot and killed and John Pickens shot and injured...I lied." (May 4, 2016)

126. Emanuel Claitt provides new evidence that the Commonwealth knowingly presented false inculpatory testimonial evidence against Petitioner. "The police detectives and prosecutors knew I didn't have any personal knowledge that Major Tillery and William Franklin were involved or part of those shootings. They manufactured the lies I gave against Tillery and Franklin and coached me before the trials." (June 3, 2016)

127. Claitt describes meetings with police and prosecutors in which they worked over what he would say, "filling in the blanks." Police and prosecutors knew that Claitt didn't have any personal knowledge of the poolroom shootings and what led up to that.

128. Claitt tried to recant after Franklin's trial but was threatened by a police lieutenant with being framed on a murder.

129. Claitt describes being set up to meet with Robert Mickens in a police van making a phony trip back and forth from the Roundhouse to the State prison in order talk to Mickens and pressure him to also testify against Petitioner, because he had “no choice.”

130. Claitt states that ADA Christie worked him over and coached him to remedy a “problem” in his testimony that John Pickens fled the poolroom after being shot, running through a glass door.

131. It was made up for Claitt to testify that Petitioner pulled a gun on him and threatened to shoot him in 1983.

132. Claitt further states he was forced to testify that the Nation of Islam ran the “black mafia” controlling drug dealing in Philadelphia and to testify to everyone’s Muslim names.

133. Claitt states that his false testimony was based in part on the threats from police detectives that he would be charged with murders he did not commit if he refused to become a witness against Petitioner.

134. Emanuel Claitt provides new evidence that the Commonwealth made numerous plea deals with Claitt to induce his false testimony, and then coached Claitt to deny those plea deals were made.

135. Claitt testified at trial with the knowledge that he would be able to get out on bail, signing his own bonds and have parole and probation detainers lifted. This is supported by the letters from the District Attorney’s office to judges and the PA Parole Board.

136. Claitt was given repeated “get out of jail” passes despite his numerous parole violations and the commission of new felonies each time he was released.

137. Although Claitt testified that there were “no deals” and “open pleas,” he was secure and confident that the District Attorney’s office would protect him, nolle prosequere numerous felony charges and arrange for him to get minimal sentences.

138. That these plea deals existed is corroborated by the facts that for the 8 or 9 pending felonies in 1980, for which he faced 25-50 years on the three cases he pled guilty to, Claitt spent just a year and a half in prison.

139. There is also the matter of the undisclosed 13 charges from May 16, 1980 including robbery, assault and firearms that were pending against Emanuel Claitt when he testified at Franklin’s trial. These were nolle prossed by the prosecution before Judge Levy Anderson on April 13, 1982. See CP-51-CR-1107131-1980.[Exhibit G]

140. ADA Barbara Christie did not disclose this history to Petitioner Tillery at his trial, nor did Emanuel Claitt testify about this..

141. Additionally the “open” robbery charges from 1983 that Claitt was questioned about at Petitioner’s trial were nolle prossed after Petitioner’s post-trial motions were denied. This was the very same charges that ADA Christie assured the Court and the Jury were “open” and that the prosecution had made no plea deals with Claitt.

142. Claitt also reveals in his declarations that while incarcerated police arranged visits between Claitt and different girl friends in homicide interview rooms in police headquarters and at hotels for him to have sex.

143. Claitt's understanding and agreement with the Commonwealth was the plea deals and sexual favors were given in exchange for his false testimony to get a murder conviction against Petitioner. These agreements and arrangements were made possible only by the conscious action of the Commonwealth.

144. Emanuel Claitt provides new evidence that the Commonwealth failed to correct the false testimony he gave on Petitioner's guilt and that there were no plea deals, but suppressed plea arrangements and favors asked of Judges and the Parole Board but suborned Claitt's false testimony.

Newly Discovered Evidence Provided by Robert Mickens

145. Robert Mickens was a surprise witness at Petitioner's trial. His testimony was intended to corroborate Emanuel Claitt that Petitioner was in the poolroom when shots were fired. Mickens was not a witness to the shootings.

146. Verified Declaration of Robert Mickens, April 18, 2016:

In May 1985 I falsely testified as a witness for the Philadelphia County District Attorney in the prosecution of Major George Tillery (CP-51-CR-0305681-1984) on murder charges.

The testimony I gave at that trial was false, manufactured by the prosecutor, Assistant District Attorney Barbara Christie.

I was coerced and promised favors if I falsely testified against Major Tillery.

I was arrested on February 28, 1984 on charges of robbery and rape and faced twenty-five years of imprisonment if convicted.

ADA Christie told me that if I “worked with [her] on the Major Tillery case” she “guaranteed” I wouldn’t be sent upstate on my robbery and rape case and would be “protected.”

ADA Christie and her homicide detectives, John Cimino and James McNeshy, repeatedly brought me in for questioning on a number of robbery and murder cases, asking me to become a prosecution witness against Major Tillery.

On one occasion ADA Christie showed me what looked like a paper signed by Major Tillery saying that I was going to be an alibi witness for him. I told her I was.

I was brought down by homicide detectives to tell me that co-defendants Kenneth Pernell and Darry Workman were accusing me of being involved in the murder of Abe Green, a neighbor of the men.

When I agreed to become a witness against them, because Darry Workman had confessed to me that he had shot Abe Green, I was transferred out of the Philadelphia area to a prison in Easton, PA, Northampton County Prison for my protection.

Before the preliminary hearing and my cooperation with the prosecution was publicly known, this information was released and an article appeared in the Philadelphia Daily News saying that I was a witness against Pernell and Workman. This put me at risk as a known “snitch.” I complained to ADA Christie and she promised to take care of me.

I was brought down from Easton, supposedly to meet with the homicide detectives in Philadelphia. Instead I was put in a police van with Emanuel Claitt, who already testified against Major Tillery’s co-defendant. I rode back and forth from police headquarters to the county prison on State Street with Claitt, but never taken from the van.

Claitt told me I was “pretty hemmed up” and that Major Tillery was a “slime,” that Major Tillery had been spreading the word that I was a snitch and that I should testify against Major Tillery.

I told detectives Cimino and McNeshy that I missed my girlfriend Judy Faust. I was given an hour and a half private visit with her in an interview room in the police headquarters so that we could have sex.

I was a secret witness for the prosecution at trial.

My identity as a prosecution witness was kept from Major Tillery and his lawyer before I was called as a witness at the trial on the false grounds that I needed a protective order to protect me from Major Tillery.

That was not true. I had told Major Tillery that I would be a witness for him at the murder trial of John Hollis. He had no reason to think I would be a witness against him. I had no contact with Major Tillery once I was sent to Northampton County Prison. I did not fear him or ask for protection from Major Tillery.

At the trial I falsely testified that I was a look-out during the shooting of John Hollis and John Pickens. That was totally false. My entire testimony was scripted and rehearsed by ADA Barbara Christie.

I agreed to give this false testimony because I was I promised no prison time on the rape and robbery charges and that I would be protected by the prosecution. I was given sexual favors in exchange for my false testimony.

When I was sentenced on October 10, 1985 after my guilty plea of rape and criminal conspiracy, I didn't get prison time. I was sentenced to five years probation.

I didn't come forward earlier to recant and explain because of my own guilt for falsely testifying against Major Tillery and my fear of retaliation by the prosecution and police.

Much in my life has changed. I want to make amends for falsely testifying against Major Tillery. I am willing and ready to be a witness in any proceeding brought to challenge his conviction.

147. Robert Mickens swears in his declaration that his trial testimony was "totally false ...scripted and rehearsed by ADA Barbara Christie." He explains the police and prosecution coerced him to testify falsely against Petitioner, to say he was asked by Major Tillery to be a look-out for police outside the poolroom, that Petitioner was him to be an alibi witness for him and he feared for his life and that of his family if he wasn't.

148. Mickens now exposes that his testimony was lies. He was not a lookout outside the poolroom, no one asked him to be lookout and that Petitioner hadn't asked him to be an alibi witness and Petitioner hadn't threatened him.

149. It was the Commonwealth that threatened to bring false murder charges against Mickens, while promising him no prison time on rape and robbery charges if he testified against Petitioner. They set Mickens up with Emanuel Claitt, their career informant, to convince him he had no choice but to lie against Petitioner.

150. The police and prosecution arranged and allowed him to have sexual tryst with his girlfriend in police headquarters while he was in custody to induce his false testimony.

151. Mickens feared retaliation if he came forward earlier and told the truth about his lying testimony.

152. The new evidence provided by Mickens in his declaration supports the fact that the Commonwealth manufactured the testimonial evidence against Petitioner, knowingly presented this falsified evidence, suppressed materially favorable evidence and failed to correct Mickens false testimony.

V. CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

153. The above quoted declarations provide previously unavailable and newly discovered evidence showing that Petitioner is an innocent man. They show that Petitioner is the victim of gross prosecutorial misconduct in the Commonwealth's manufacture and presentation of known false testimony inculcating Petitioner.

154. The Commonwealth also suppressed exculpatory information, i.e., information that either challenged the credibility of Commonwealth witnesses or the Commonwealth's trial presentation, and that demonstrate that Petitioner was not involved at all in the shootings of Joseph Hollis and John Pickens. Petitioner now places these verified declarations in their proper legal framework showing that Petitioner is entitled to relief on the following grounds.

CLAIM I.

Newly Discovered Evidence Demonstrates Petitioner's Innocence

155. Petitioner has always asserted his innocence. There is no physical or forensic evidence of the perpetrators from the crime scene in October 1976. There is no physical evidence presented linking Petitioner in any way to this crime. No guns found linked to the bullets. No fingerprints event taken. The keys found in the poolroom were not Petitioner's, the $1800 was not Petitioner's, the drugs were not Petitioner's, the items of clothing found in the poolroom were not Petitioner's. His car was not on the scene.

156. The surviving victim John Pickens gave police a statement shortly after he was shot that names other men, not Petitioner or William Franklin, as the shooters. Pickens did not testify at either Franklin's 1980 trial or Petitioner's in

1985. [Exhibit D]

157. Without the testimony of Emanuel Claitt, there was no evidence against Major Tillery. It was only the testimony of Emanuel Claitt who put Petitioner inside the pool hall, pulling out a gun and shooting Joseph Hollis. It was Claitt who put Petitioner at a meeting where Petitioner supposedly made threats against Hollis's life and helped arrange the poolroom meeting where Hollis was killed and Pickens wounded. There was no other evidence against Petitioner. That testimony was a lie.

158. Robert Mickens was brought in for Petitioner's trial, to provide some corroboration to Claitt's testimony by testifying that Petitioner asked him to be a lookout for police outside the poolroom. This is the only evidence, other than Claitt's testimony, that puts Petitioner at the poolroom that night. As Mickens declares, his testimony was a lie. No one, not Petitioner, Clark or Franklin asked him to be look-out that night. He did not see Major Tillery near the poolroom.

159. In further support of this claim, Petitioner incorporates supporting paragraphs of this petition regarding facts and law.

160. The newly discovered facts support Petitioner's claim that he is factually innocent. These new facts require the vacation of Petitioner's conviction.

161. The legal standard governing a post-conviction claim of newly discovered evidence is well-known. A petitioner must: establish that: (1) the evidence has been discovered after trial and it could not have been obtained at or prior to trial through reasonable diligence; (2) the evidence is not cumulative; (3) it is not being used solely to impeach credibility; and (4) it would likely compel a different verdict. Commonwealth v. Washington, 927 A.2d 586, 595-96 (Pa. 2007). Petitioner new evidence of innocence meets each of these prongs.

CLAIM II.

The Commonwealth Manufactured and/or Presented False Inculpatory Evidence and Suppressed Material, Exculpatory Evidence in Violation of Petitioner's Sixth and Fourteenth Amendment Right to the United States Constitution and Article One, Section Nine of the Pennsylvania Constitution

162. Petitioner's right to due process, right to a fair trial, and right to present a defense were violated as the Commonwealth manufactured and/or intentionally presented false testimony and evidence of Petitioner's guilt and withheld from Petitioner and his counsel material, exculpatory evidence, including impeachment evidence, in violation of Petitioner's Fifth and Fourteenth Amendment rights to the United states Constitution and Article I, §9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

163. The newly discovered evidence in this case exposes a fundamental miscarriage of justice, violating the right to due process by the Commonwealth against Petitioner Major Tillery by suborning the truth, and committing fraud on the Court and jury with the intentional presentation of false evidence manufactured by the Commonwealth against Petitioner Major Tillery. The false evidence so manufactured and presented at Petitioner's trial constituted the sole evidence of his culpability – that he shot and killed Joseph Hollis and wounded John Pickens-- as well as materially favorable impeachment evidence, the existence of plea deals that induced and coerced these witnesses to lie.

164. It is long established that a conviction obtained through use of false evidence, known to be false by government representatives, must fall under the Fourteenth Amendment. Mooney v Holohan, 294 U.S. 103 (1935) held in a historic decision that due process is violated “if a State has contrived a conviction through the pretense of a trial which in truth is but used as a means of depriving a defendant of liberty through a deliberate deception of court and jury by the presentation of testimony known to be perjured.” See also, Pyle v. Kansas, 317 U.S. 213 (1942); Curran v. Delaware, 259 F.2d 707 (3rd Cir. 1958).

165. This case is also governed by the holdings and considerations in Napue v. Illinois, supra, Brady v. Maryland, supra, Giglio v. United States, supra, Kyles v. Whitely, supra, and their legal progeny.

166. In Napue v Illinois, 360 U.S. 264, 269 (1959) the United States Supreme Court confirmed the principle that “a State may not knowingly use false evidence, including false testimony to obtain a tainted conviction.”

167. The Pennsylvania courts have ruled strongly and similarly following Napue. The Commonwealth’s intentional presentation of false evidence is a miscarriage of justice that no civilized society can tolerate.

168. “It is of course, an established principle that a conviction obtained through the knowing use of materially false testimony may not stand; a prosecuting attorney has an affirmative duty to correct the testimony of a witness which he knows to be false.” Commonwealth v. Carpenter, 472 Pa. 510, 372 A.2nd 806, 810 (1977) ((citing Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972), quoted in Commonwealth v. Hollowell, 477 Pa. 232, 236-37, 383 A.2nd 909, 911 and Commonwealth v. Romansky, 702 A.2nd 1064, 1066 (Pa. Super. 1997).

169. Napue created a three-part test to determine whether a conviction of this kind of case violates due process: that the testimony was false, the prosecutor knew it was false, and the false testimony was material.

170. With the requirement that false testimony be “material,” the Supreme Court meant that there must be “a reasonable likelihood that the false testimony could have affected the judgment.” Napue. “Where the prosecution obtains a conviction through the use of false or perjured testimony, a strict standard of materiality must applied.” Commonwealth v. Romansky, 702 A.2d 1064, 1068 (Pa.Super. 1997), appeal denied, 555 Pa. 699, 723 A.2d 670 (1998). “[T]he false testimony is considered material if it could in any reasonable likelihood have affected the verdict.” Id. When making the materiality determination, “the state of mind of the prosecutor is not material, but rather, the important issue is whether the accused received a fair trial.” Id.

171. In Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963), the United States Supreme Court held that “the suppression by the prosecution of evidence favorable to an accused upon request violates due process where the evidence is material either to guilt or punishment.” Id. at 373 U.S. 87. “Impeachment evidence

... as well as exculpatory evidence, falls within the Brady rule.) United States v. Bageley, 473 U.S. 667, 676 (1985). The prosecution has an affirmative “duty to disclose such evidence ... even though there has been no request (for the evidence) by the accused.” Strickler v. Greene, 527 U.S. 263, 280 (1999) (citing United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97, 107 (1976)). That responsibility “encompasses evidence ‘known only to police investigators and not to the prosecutor.’” Id. at 280-281 (quoting Kyles v. Whitley, 514 U.S. 419, 438 (1995)). It is well established that the state violates a defendant’s right to due process under Brady when it is withheld. Smith v. Cain, --- U.S. ----, 132 S. Ct. 627, 630

172. To establish a Brady violation, Petitioner must prove three elements: “[1] the evidence (at issue) was favorable to the accused, either because it is exculpatory or because if it impeaches; [2] the evidence was suppressed by the prosecution, either willfully or inadvertently; and [3] prejudice ensued.” Commonwealth v. Chmiel, 30 A.3d 1111, 1130 (Pa. 2011). The evidence withheld by the Commonwealth, as detailed above, ensured “[t]hat no reliable adjudication of Petitioner’s guilt or innocence could have taken place.” Commonwealth v. Strong, 761 A.2d 1167, 1175 (Pa. 2000) (reversing conviction for Commonwealth’s failure to comply with Brady obligations).

173. Additionally, the Commonwealth failed to correct testimony given by Emanuel Claitt it knew to be false, in violation of Napue v. Illinois, 360 U.S. 264, 269 (1959) (Holding that the State commits a Fourteenth Amendment violation when “although not soliciting false evidence, [it] allows it to go uncorrected when it appears.”).

174. Knowledge of information in the possession of any law enforcement actor that has a connection to a particular prosecution is chargeable to the prosecutor. Kyles v. Whitley, 514 U.S. 419, 437, 482 (1995) (“prosecutor is responsible for any favorable evidence known to the others acting on the government’s behalf in the case, including the police”; “prosecutor has a duty to learn of any favorable evidence known to others acting on the government’s behalf”). Thus, knowledge by any of the police officers working on this case is chargeable to the prosecutor, as is knowledge by any one of the prosecutors.

175. Under Brady and its progeny, a “showing of materiality [prejudice] does not require demonstration by even a preponderance that disclosure of the suppressed evidence would have resulted ultimately in the defendant’s acquittal.” Kyles, 514 U.S. at 434. Instead, the “touchstone of materiality is a ‘reasonable probability’ of a different result.” Id.; Commonwealth v. Strong, 761 A.2d 1167, 1171 (Pa. 2000) (“As Brady and its progeny dictate, when the failure of the prosecution to produce material evidence raises a reasonable probability that the result of the trial would have been different if the evidence had been produced, due process has been violated and a new trial is warranted.” citing United States v. Bagley, 473 U.S. 667 (1985)). A reasonable probability of a different result existed “when the prosecution’s evidentiary suppression ‘undermines confidence in the outcome of the trial.’” Kyles, Id.; see also Hull v. Kyler, 190 F.3d 88, 110 (3d Cir.

176. In assessing materiality, the Court considers how effective counsel could have used the suppressed information at trial and through pre-trial investigation and development of other evidence. Kyles, 514 U.S. at 441 (finding prejudice where “disclosure of the suppressed evidence to competent counsel would have made a different result reasonably probable”); Id. at 441-49 (reviewing ways in which competent counsel could have used and developed withheld information to impeach prosecution witnesses and undercut police investigation); United States v. Bagley, 473 U.S. 667, 676 (1985) (materiality analysis considers whether suppressed information, “if disclosed and used effectively” by the defense, may have made a difference); Id. at 683 (materiality inquiry considers “any adverse effect that the [suppression] might have had on the preparation or presentation of the defendant’s case” and “the course that the defense and the trial would have taken had the defense not been misled”); Wilson v. Beard, 589 F.3d 651, 659, 664 (3d Cir. 2009) (same).

177. In assessing materiality, the Court considers how effective counsel could have proceeded in the absence of the due process violations both at trial and in pre-trial investigation and development of other evidence. Kyles, 514 U.S. at 441; United States v. Bagley 473 U.S. 667, 676; Wilson v. Beard, 589 F.3d 651, 664 (3d Cir. 2009); Simmons v. Beard, 590 F.3d 223, 231 (3d Cir. 2009); Breakiron v. Horn, 642 F.3d 126 (3rd Cir. 2011).

178. In this case, the “absence of due process violations” would have meant no prosecution of the Petitioner, because in the absence of due process violations, there was no “evidence” against the Petitioner.

1. The Commonwealth Manufactured and/or Presented the False Testimony of Emanuel Claitt that Petitioner was Involved in the Homicide of Joseph Hollis and Assault on John Pickens

179. Emanuel Claitt’s declarations establish that his testimonial evidence was false and that the Commonwealth knew it was false. The presentation of false evidence by a prosecutor constitutes the most fundamental violation of due process.

180. This is not a case of falsification or prosecutorial suppression of a particular aspect of the prosecution’s case. This false evidence was the entirety of the evidence against Petitioner. This false evidence is unquestionably material to the conviction of Petitioner.

181. Petitioner was convicted solely on the basis of witness testimony. It was Emanuel Claitt alone who provided testimonial evidence that Petitioner Tillery was in the poolroom and shot the victims.

182. Petitioner incorporates the factual allegation and legal argumentation included in the paragraphs above in support of this claim.

183. Claitt’s declaration also provides proof of the Commonwealth’s intentional manufacture and presentation of false testimony against Petitioner. It also provides evidence of the prosecution’s efforts to suborn perjury by Robert Mickens, by disclosing the phony transport of Claitt and Mickens from the Round House to the jail on State Road for Claitt to pressure Mickens into testifying against Petitioner.

184. Since the prosecution's case did not exist without that Claitt's testimony there is no question that this new evidence is material.

2. The Commonwealth Manufactured and/or Presented False Testimony of Robert Mickens that Tillery was at the Poolroom When Hollis and Pickens were Shot

185. Robert Mickens provided testimonial evidence that Petitioner Tillery had asked him to be a police lookout outside the poolroom and that Tillery went into the poolroom shortly before he heard shots. Mickens also provided testimony that Petitioner was attempted to establish a false alibi.

186. Mickens' trial testimony provided corroboration to Claitt's testimony that Petitioner was in the poolroom when Hollis and Pickens were shot.

187. Mickens trial testimony served to prop up Claitt's testimony, which was weakened or compromised by his extensive and continued arrest record and the accusations that his testimony was induced by plea deals.

188. Mickens' declaration establishes that trial testimony was false and that the Commonwealth knew it was false because it was the Commonwealth that manufactured it. Mickens' declaration disclosed the Commonwealth's conscious efforts to coerce him into falsely testifying against Petitioner.

189. The new evidence provided by Mickens that his trial testimony was a lie, coerced and induced by the prosecution eliminates that his trial testimony corroborating Claitt.

190. Mickens declaration also corroborates the Commonwealth's intent to convict Petitioner, whatever the cost to truth. It confirms the Commonwealth's manufacture of false evidence by threats of false prosecution and providing plea deals, protection, and sexual favors. The new evidence provide by Mickens is material.

3. The Commonwealth Presented False Testimony that Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens Had No Plea Agreements with the Commonwealth and that False Testimony was Not Corrected by the Commonwealth

191. Petitioner repeats and incorporates paragraphs above for relevant facts and legal argument.

192. The new evidence provided by Claitt and Mickens proves that the Commonwealth had made plea deals in exchange for their testimony inculpatng Petitioner. The new evidence proves that both Claitt and Mickens lied in testifying that they had serious pending criminal charges with "open" sentences. This fact was known to the Commonwealth, and not corrected. In fact this falsification was supported by the prosecution in its statements to the Court and to the Jury.

193. The existence of plea deals in exchange for testimony is material to the veracity of these witnesses, witnesses who provided the only evidence linking Petitioner to these crimes. It is material evidence, the falsification of which and failure to correct requires reversal of the conviction.

4. The Commonwealth Suppressed Evidence of the Commonwealth's Threat to Falsely Charge Claitt with Crimes If he Didn't Provide False Testimony Against Tillery

194. Petitioner repeats and incorporates paragraphs above for relevant facts and legal argument.

195. It is a violation of due process to coerce a witness into falsely testifying by threatening to charge him with a crime he did not commit.

196. It is material evidence that Emanuel Claitt's testimony, which was the sole evidence directly inculpatng Petitioner was induced by the Commonwealth's threat to falsely charge him with a murder he didn't commit if he didn't testify falsely inculpatng Petitioner.

5. The Commonwealth Suppressed Evidence of that the Commonwealth Provided Sexual Favors to Claitt and Mickens to Induce False Testimony

197. Petitioner repeats and incorporates paragraphs above for relevant facts and legal argument.

198. Both Claitt and Mickens reveal in their sworn declarations that a component of the favors and inducements, provided to them by the Commonwealth to be false witnesses against Petitioner, was allowing and arranging for them to have sexual relations with girlfriends. This was arranged while each of them was in state custody, and took place either in a homicide interview room or in Claitt's case, sometimes in a hotel.

199. Testimony induced by providing sexual trysts is not unknown by the Philadelphia police. In Com. v. Arthur Lester, 572 A2nd 694 (Pa. Super. 1990) the court found it coercive and a violation of due process and reversed a conviction based on Lester's confession that was induced by he promise of sexual favors. The named homicide detectives involved in 1983 were Lawrence Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert, the same detectives who were central to the handling of both Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens.

200. Claitt's and Mickens' revelations that their false testimonies were induced by the Commonwealth providing them with sexual favors constitutes separate and independent grounds for reversal of the Petitioner's conviction.

6. Petitioner's Claims are Supported by the New Evidence and Mandate Reversal of Petitioner's Conviction, if Not Dismissal of the Charges on the Grounds that his Conviction Constituted a Fundamental Miscarriage of Justice That Shocks the Conscience

201. In conclusion, Petitioner returns to historic and fundamental principles that are supposed to apply in a criminal trial. In Mooney v Holohan, supra, the U.S. Supreme Court found due process is violated by the government's "deliberate deception of court and jury by the presentation of testimony known to be perjured."

202. In Berger v. United States, 295 U. S. 78, 88 (1935) the U.S. Supreme Court mandated disclosure of evidence to a defendant, stating:

"Such disclosure will serve to justify trust in the prosecutor as the representative . . . of a sovereignty . . . whose interest . . . in a criminal prosecution is not that it shall win a case, but that justice shall be done."

203. In Kyles v Whitley, supra., at 339-40, the U.S. Supreme Court reaffirmed the import of Brady, and the prosecution's constitutional obligation to disclose favorable evidence to a defendant:

“And it will tend to preserve the criminal trial, as distinct from the prosecutor’s private deliberations, as the chosen forum for ascertaining the truth about criminal accusations. See Rose v. Clark, 478 U. S. 570, 577–578 (1986); Estes v. Texas, 381 U. S. 532, 540 (1965); United States v. Leon, 468 U. S. 897, 900–901 (1984) (recognizing general goal of establishing “procedures under which criminal defendants are ‘acquitted or convicted on the basis of all the evidence which exposes the truth’ ” (quoting Alderman v. United States, 394 U. S. 165, 175 (1969))).

204. Moreover, the government has special obligations when it comes to their cooperating informants. See, Commonwealth v. Strong, 761 A.2d 1167, 1175 (2000), observing that a tentative commitment from a prosecutor might be more likely to encourage false testimony from a cooperating witness than a firm promise, since the witness will have a greater incentive to curry favor with the prosecutor if a specific agreement has not yet been reached.

205. Courts have established that a “prosecutor who does not appreciate the perils of using rewarded criminals as witnesses risks compromising the truthseeking mission of our criminal justice system.” Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands v. Bowie, 236 F.3d 1083, 1089 (9th Cir. 2001).

206. This obligation stems from two sources: first, the government enlists and controls and rewards its informants and is therefore in a unique position to evaluate their reliability. The second is that the prosecutor, as the representative of the sovereign, has an ethical obligation to ensure that the defendant is given a fair trial. See Bowie, 236 F.3d at 1089 (citing Berger v. United States, supra, at 88.)

207. In the instant case, the Commonwealth abandoned all concern and its constitutional obligations to the defendant to due process and a fair trial. The quest for a conviction at all costs, regardless of the veracity of “evidence,” has resulted in a gross miscarriage of justice such that it shocks the conscience. The appropriate remedy is to dismiss the indictments and release Petitioner, and failing that to grant him a new trial.

VI. PREVIOUS LITIGATION OF ISSUES RAISED

208. The issues raised herein have not been previously litigated.

VII. COURT MUST PROVIDE AN EVIDENTIARY HEARING

209. This Court must afford Petitioner an evidentiary hearing. It has long been the standard that post-conviction hearings are appropriate when a petitioner pleads facts entitling him to relief. Townsend v. Sain, 372 U.S. 293 (1963). Where, as here, the post-conviction pleadings “raise material issues of fact” and evidentiary hearing is required. Pa. R. Crim. P. 908(A) (2); Commonwealth v. Williams, 732 A.2d 1167, 1189-90 (Pa. 1999) (“Clearly, a material factual controversy exists ...; therefore, we hold that the PCRA court erred in dismissing [the] ground for relief without conducting a factual hearing.”) (citing former Pa. R. Crim. P. 1509(b)).

210. A hearing cannot be denied unless this Court “is certain of total lack of merit” of the petition. Commonwealth v. Bennett, 462 A.2D 772, 773 (Pa. Super. 1983) (quoting Commonwealth v. Rhodes, 416 A.2d 1031, 1035-36 (Pa. Super. 1979)); accord Commonwealth v. Korb, 617 A.2d 715, 716 (Pa. Super. 1992) (remanding for evidentiary hearing where “[i]t appears that appellant has presented a claim of ineffective assistance of counsel which contains at least arguable merit”) (citing Commonwealth v. Copeland, 554 A.2d 54, 60-61 (Pa. 1988)). Even in “borderline cases Petitioners are to be given every conceivable legitimate benefit in the disposition of their claims for an evidentiary hearing.” Commonwealth v. Pulling, 470 A.2d 170, 173 (Pa. Super. 1983) (remanding for evidentiary hearing) (quoting Commonwealth v. Strader, 396 A.2d 697, 702 (Pa. Super. 1978) and Commonwealth v. Nahodil, 239 A.2d 840 (Pa. Super. 1968)).

211. A post-conviction hearing is particularly appropriate where the merits of a petitioner’s claims revolve around the credibility of witnesses for whom the petitioner has provided an affidavit. A court may not judge the credibility of a recantation witness, or similar witness, based solely on an affidavit. Commonwealth v. D’Amato, 856 A.2d 806, 825-826 (Pa. 2004) (“This Court has also emphasized, however, that even as to recantations that might otherwise appear dubious, the PCRA court must, in the first instance, assess the credibility and significance of the in light of the evidence as a whole.”); see also, Commonwealth v. Johnson, 966 A.2d 523, 539 (Pa. 2009) (“one of the primary reasons PCRA hearings are held in the first place is so that credibility determinations can be made; otherwise, issues of material fact could be decided on pleadings and affidavits alone. The PCRA court here obviously appreciated this fact in part, since it made a controlling credibility determinations respecting Cook's recantation testimony.") and id. at 541-42 (in D'Amato, the PCRA court failed to mention, let alone pass upon, the credibility of the recantation testimony in its opinion. This Court held that the PCRA court had defaulted on its duty to assess the credibility of the recantation and its significance in light of the trial record, and we remanded the matter to the PCRA court for the limited purpose of making such determination.").

212. At a minimum, Petitioner must be afforded an opportunity to prove the timeliness of his Petition. He has pled with specificity that he has met the exceptions to the PCRA time bar. Therefore, this Court must give him an opportunity to prove these facts. Indeed, the petitioner in Commonwealth v. Bennett, 930 A.2d 1264, 1272, 1274 (Pa. 2007) also invoked the time bar exceptions pled by Petitioner and the Pennsylvania Supreme Court noted the requirements for an evidentiary hearing. See also Commonwealth v. Lasky, 934 A.2d 120, 123 (Pa. Super. 2007) (remanding to lower court "for the conduct of an evidentiary hearing by the lower court in order to determine (1) when certain procedural facts became known to Appellant, (2) whether the exercise of due diligence on Appellant's part would have revealed these facts to Appellant sooner, and ultimately (3) whether Appellant now has made a viable claim that one of the exceptions articulated at 42 Pa.C.S.A. § 9545, i.e. (b)(1)(ii), to the one year time limit for filing a PCRA petition”).

213. Based on the above, Petitioner is entitled to, and therefore requests that an evidentiary hearing be held.

VIII. PETITIONER IS ENTITLED TO DISCOVERY

214. Discovery in post-conviction proceedings is governed by Pa.R.Crim.P. 902 (E) (1), which permits discovery upon leave of Court and upon a showing of exceptional circumstances. Petitioner proffers that he shows such exceptional circumstances.

215. The circumstances of this case are indeed exceptional. Petitioner requests immediate discovery of all reports of police and prosecution interviews, meetings and any communication relating to witnesses Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens.

216. Petitioner requests leave to file a more detailed and specific discovery request.

IX. CONCLUSION AND REQUEST FOR RELIEF

For all of the above reasons and the attached affidavits and exhibits,

Petitioner requests the following relief:

- A. That Petitioner be granted permission for leave to proceed in forma pauperis.
- B. That the Commonwealth be required to respond to this petition.
- C. That the Court permit Petitioner to file such amendments, supplements or briefs as required in the interest of justice.
- D. That the Court permits oral arguments on any and all dispositive issues.
- E. That the Court permit discovery as requested above.
- F. That following discovery, the Court conduct evidentiary hearings on all material disputed issues of fact.
- G. That the Court vacates Petitioner's conviction and sentence and award him a new trial.
- H. In the interest of justice given the gross violations of due process in this case, that the Court vacates Petitioner's conviction and sentence and dismiss the charges.

CONCLUSION

For all the above reasons and for those set forth in this pro se PCRA Petition and based on the entire record of this case, Petitioner MAJOR G. TILLERY seeks vacation of his conviction and the attendant relief requested.

PETITIONER'S SUPPLEMENTAL PCRA PETITION

Petitioner, MAJOR G. TILLERY, pro se, respectfully submits this Supplemental PCRA Petition:

On June 15, 2016 petitioner filed a PCRA petition pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S. § 9541 et. stating, "this is a case of factual innocence and gross prosecutorial misconduct violating Petitioner Major Tillery's right to due process and a fair trial. The actions of the Commonwealth resulted in a fundamental miscarriage of justice that shocks the conscience and warrants reversal of his conviction and dismissal of charges against Petitioner Major Tillery."

The Petition is pending before this Court and this Court filed a Notice of Intent to Dismiss pursuant to P.A.R.Crim. P. 907 on August 19, 2016. Petitioner is simultaneously filing his Response in Objection to Notice of Intent to Dismiss.

Petitioner continued his investigation subsequent to the filing of his PCRA in June 15, 2016 and has obtained new evidence and facts that were not previously known to him that corroborate the fact of the Commonwealth's misconduct, further supporting Petitioner's claims of actual innocence and violations of his right to due process.

Petitioner submits to this court the videotape of Emanuel Claitt recorded on August 3, 2016. [Exhibit A] In this videotape Emanuel Claitt reaffirms his sworn declarations of May 4 and June 3, 2016. This videotape is submitted to preserve the evidence provided by Emanuel Claitt that his entire trial testimony was falsified, the product of coercion and inducements by the Commonwealth including concealed plea deals and being providing sexual favors.

This videotape was recorded by Rachel Wolkenstein who is assisting Petitioner. Her sworn declaration is attached and is incorporated into this Petition.

As set forth in the Wolkenstein declaration, Petitioner now has evidence corroborating Emanuel Claitt's statement that he received sexual favors while in custody by being allowed to have private sexual encounters with girlfriends in the Roundhouse, assisted by homicide detectives Lawrence Gerrard and Ernest Gilbert:

- (1) Emanuel Claitt has provided the names and contact information for two of the woman that were brought to him by homicide detectives, H and D.
- (2) H acknowledged that she had sex with Emanuel Claitt in the Roundhouse homicide interview rooms and that arrangements were made with detectives who brought her up to him.
- (3) Roundhouse log-in page 192 for December 14, 1983, has Emanuel Claitt's signature along with Det. Gilbert and his girlfriend D signed in under Det. Gerrard for an overlapping time period. [Exhibit C]

Petitioner intends to present H, D as witnesses at an evidentiary hearing. Witness certifications are attached.

Timeliness of Supplement

Petitioner reasserts the facts and legal argument set forth in the Petition and his Response In Objection to the Notice of Intent to Dismiss regarding timeliness. He makes the following additional points.

The new facts presented in this Supplement are timely filed pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S. § 95459(1) (i), inasmuch as the Commonwealth's failure to discharge its constitutional obligation to provide the defense Brady material constituted “governmental interference” with the presentation of this claim. See Banks v. Dretke, 540 U.S. 668, 696 (2004).

Petitioner has satisfied the requirements of 42 Pa. C.S. 9545(ii) in that he has exercised the requisite diligence to uncover the undisclosed Roundhouse record and the activity of the detectives involved in this; and to investigate and obtain additional and corroborative evidence from witnesses whose possible relevance and involvement in this case only became known to Petitioner with the information provided by Emanuel Claitt on August 3, 2016.

Petitioner requests this Court order discovery of all reports, notes and correspondence in the possession of agents of the Commonwealth pertaining to this case.

Petitioner also requests that if this Court grants leave to Petitioner to file an amended complaint that the additional facts presented here be incorporated into said amended complaint.

Respectfully submitted,

v.

GEORGE M. TILLERY

LEON W. TUCKER, J.

This appeal comes before the Superior Court following the dismissal of a Post Conviction Relief Act (“PCRA”)¹ petition filed on October 6, 2014. On September 26, 2016, this court dismissed the PCRA petition for the reasons set forth below.

I. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

George M. Tillery (hereinafter referred to as “Petitioner”) was arrested and subsequently charged with homicide and related offenses stemming from the shooting death of John Hollis and the non-fatal shooting of John Pickens in October 1976 in the city of Philadelphia.

On May 29, 1985, following a jury trial presided over by the Honorable John Geisz, Petitioner was convicted of first-degree murder, aggravated assault, two counts of criminal conspiracy, and possessing an instrument of crime. After post-verdict motions were denied, the trial court imposed a sentence of life imprisonment on the murder conviction and lesser terms of incarceration on the remaining convictions. Following a direct appeal, Petitioner’s judgment of sentence was affirmed by the Superior Court on May 30, 1989, and the Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied allocatur on March 5, 1990.²

On September 16, 1996, through private counsel, Richard P. Hunter, Esquire, Petitioner filed his first PCRA petition. The PCRA court denied the petition on January 13, 1998. The Superior Court affirmed the PCRA court's order denying relief on April 21, 1999.³ The Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied allocatur on August 18, 1999.⁴

Petitioner filed his second PCRA petition on August 13, 2007. On September 9, 2008, the PCRA court dismissed his petition as untimely. The dismissal of Petitioner's PCRA petition was affirmed by the Superior Court on July 15, 2009.⁵ The Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied allocatur on December 9, 2009.⁶

On October 6, 2014, Petitioner filed the instant, pro se, collateral petition, his third.⁷ Petitioner filed supplemental petitions on December 9, 2014 and June 15, 2016. Pursuant to Pennsylvania Rule of Criminal Procedure 907, Petitioner was served notice of the PCRA court's intention to dismiss his petition on August 19, 2016. Petitioner submitted responses to the Rule 907 letter on September 7 and September 21, 2016. On September 26, 2016, the PCRA court dismissed his PCRA petition as untimely.⁸ On October 20, 2016, the instant notice of appeal was timely filed to the Superior Court.

II. DISCUSSION

A. Petitioner's current PCRA petition was manifestly untimely.

Petitioner's petition challenging the constitutionality of his conviction and legality of his detention was facially untimely. As a prefatory matter, the timeliness of a PCRA petition is a jurisdictional requisite. Commonwealth v. Robinson, 12 A.3d 477 (Pa. Super. 2011). A PCRA petition, including a second or subsequent petition, shall be filed within one year of the date the underlying judgment becomes final. 42 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 9545(b)(1). A judgment is deemed final "at the conclusion of direct review, including discretionary review in the Supreme Court of the United States and the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, or at the expiration of time for seeking the review." Id. § 9545(b)(3).

Petitioner's judgment of sentence became final for PCRA purposes in June 1990 after the Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied allocatur and time period for filing a petition for writ of certiorari in the United States Supreme Court expired. See id.; U.S. Sup. Ct. R. 13 (effective January 1, 1990). Petitioner's pro se petition, filed on October 6, 2014, was therefore untimely by approximately twenty-three years. See 42 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 9545(b)(1).

B. Petitioner was ineligible for the limited timeliness exceptions found in 42 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 9545 (b)(1)(i), (ii).

Despite the one-year deadline, the PCRA permits the late filing of a petition where a petitioner alleges and proves one of the three narrow exceptions to the mandatory time-bar under

42 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 9545(b)(1)(i)-(iii). To invoke an exception, a petition must allege and the petitioner must prove:

- (i) the failure to raise the claim previously was the result of interference by government officials with the presentation of the claim in violation of the Constitution or laws of this Commonwealth or the Constitution or laws of the United States;
- (ii) the facts upon which the claim is predicated were unknown to the petitioner and could not have been ascertained by the exercise of due diligence; or
- (iii) the right asserted is a constitutional right that was recognized by the Supreme Court of the United States or the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania after the time period provided in this section and has been held by that court to apply retroactively.

Id. § 9545(b)(1)(i)-(iii).

In attempt to overcome the PCRA's statutory time-bar, Petitioner argued that his petition fell within the "governmental interference" exception, § 9545(b)(1)(i),⁹ and the "newly-discovered evidence" exception, § 9545(b)(1)(ii).¹⁰

According to Petitioner, the new information triggering both exceptions was found in signed recantations from Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens, Commonwealth witnesses who provided extensive inculpatory testimony at Petitioner's trial. Both witnesses now assert that they were not present during the commission of the crime and fabricated the entirety of their detailed testimonies. See PCRA petition, 6/15/16 at exhibits A, B, C. According to Claitt and

⁹ The "governmental interference" exception, § 9545(b)(1)(i) requires a petitioner to plead and prove: (1) the failure to previously raise the claim was the result of interference by government officials and (2) the information on which he relies could not have been obtained earlier with the exercise of due diligence. Commonwealth v. Williams, 105 A.3d 1234, 1240 (Pa. 2014) (citing Commonwealth v. Abu-Jamal, 941 A.2d 1263, 1268 (Pa. 2008)).

¹⁰ The timeliness exception set forth in Section 9545(b)(1)(ii) requires a petitioner to demonstrate he did not know the facts upon which he based his petition and could not have learned those facts earlier by the exercise of due diligence. Commonwealth v. Bennett, 930 A.2d 1264, 1271 (Pa. 2007). Due diligence demands that the petitioner take reasonable steps to protect his own interests. Commonwealth v. Carr, 768 A.2d 1164, 1168 (Pa. Super. 2001). A petitioner must explain why he could not have learned the new fact(s) earlier with the exercise of due diligence. Commonwealth v. Breakiron, 781 A.2d 94, 98 (Pa. 2001).

Mickens, a cabal of prosecutorial agents – assistant district attorneys and members of law enforcement – implemented a scheme of coercion and incentives to obtain fabricated testimony against Petitioner. Id.

Notwithstanding Petitioner has previously raised these claims in a prior PCRA,¹¹ his failure to demonstrate that the witnesses' statements could not have been obtained earlier by exercising due diligence was fatal to proving either statutory exception. Rather than detailing any specific efforts to contact Claitt or Mickens in the thirty-one years between his conviction and the filing of his instant petition, Petitioner instead argued that i) the circumstances of his confinement prevented communication and ii) irrespective of his inability to communicate, Claitt's and Mickens's decisions to recant could not have possibly been fostered at an earlier time. Neither argument is persuasive.

In support of his first assertion, Petitioner detailed a litany of general impediments to his ability to contact the witnesses. See PCRA petition, 6/15/16 at 10. Petitioner claimed, for example, that for twenty of the past thirty-plus years, his access to communication channels was "severely restricted." PCRA petition, 6/15/16. Even if Petitioner substantiated this claim with supporting evidence, and the court excluded those years from scrutiny, Petitioner failed to articulate any attempts to locate the witnesses during the remaining decade. Furthermore, although Petitioner cited instances of illness and frequent transfer between correctional facilities, he did not specify whether these incidents occurred during the non-restricted period of incarceration, and if so, for what duration. PCRA petition, 6/15/16 at 10-11. Petitioner's attempt to explain his inability to act for over thirty years was therefore patently insufficient to demonstrate due diligence.

¹¹ See PCRA petition, 8/13/07.

Alternatively, Petitioner relied upon the Superior Court's decision in Commonwealth v. Davis, 86 A.3d 883 (Pa. Super. 2014) and en banc decision in Commonwealth v. Medina, 92 A.3d 1210 (Pa. Super. 2014) in arguing that waiting for Claitt and Mickens to feel comfortable recanting was sufficient to meet his burden of due diligence. See 907 response, 9/7/16 at 7-11.

In Davis, the defendant was convicted of murder based, in part, on the testimony of Commonwealth witness Jerome Watson. Davis, 86 A.3d at 885–86. More than thirty years after the conclusion of Davis's trial, Watson recanted his trial testimony and revealed he made an undisclosed deal with the assistant district attorney. Id. at 888. The Superior Court held that since there was no indication at trial of any deal or expected leniency, it would have been unreasonable to require that Davis conduct a search prior to receiving Watson's affidavit detailing possible governmental interference. Id. at 890–891.

In Medina, the defendant was convicted of murder based, in part, on the testimony of two Commonwealth witnesses. Medina, 92 A.3d at 1213. More than a decade after the conviction, the witnesses recanted their trial testimonies. Id. at 1213–1214. The Superior Court upheld the PCRA court's finding that Medina satisfied the newly-discovered evidence exception to the statutory time-bar. Id. at 1218.

In both Davis and Medina, the Superior Court's due diligence analysis centered on the fact that neither Davis nor Medina had reason to believe they could elicit exculpatory information from the respective witnesses. Davis, 86 A.3d at 890; Medina, 92 A.3d at 1218–1219.

Here, Petitioner would have been aware that Claitt and Mickens falsely inculpated him at trial. Furthermore, in 2007, nine years before acquiring the affidavits supporting the instant petition, Petitioner claimed to have uncovered evidence that the witnesses perjured themselves regarding undisclosed preferential treatment from the Commonwealth in exchange for their testimonies. See PCRA petition, 8/13/07. Based upon Petitioner's purported discovery of the Commonwealth's role in suborning Claitt and Mickens, Petitioner had reason to believe that the witnesses may be amenable to disclosing their fabricated testimony.

Not only were the instant facts distinguishable from those in Davis and Medina, the Superior Court in Davis also evaluated whether Davis exercised due diligence in discovering proof that the witness fabricated his murder confession, a fact that would have been immediately known to Davis. Davis, 86 A.3d at 890–91. In concluding that Davis did exercise due diligence, the Superior Court relied upon Davis's affidavits detailing attempts by family members and friends to contact the witness after trial to convince him to admit that he lied on the stand. Id. at 891. Again, Davis is of no benefit to Petitioner, who failed to demonstrate any efforts by either himself, or anyone on his behalf, to contact either witness prior to 2016.

Ultimately, Petitioner argued that because Claitt's and Mickens's statements indicated that they only recently desired to "clear their consciences," any effort on his part to urge their emotional cleansing would have been fruitless.¹² See PCRA petition 6/15/16 at 10 ("It rested with Robert Mickens and Emanuel Claitt to decide to come forward."). In other words, Petitioner suggested that known, untruthful witnesses may be reasonably afforded an indefinite time for reflection, free from pleas from aggrieved petitioners. The PCRA court does not agree. Petitioner's attempt to circumvent his duty to act diligently by speculating that any interaction prior to 2016 would have been futile was unavailing.

¹² The fact that both witnesses chose to "clear their consciences" immediately upon speaking with Petitioner's attorney, Rachel Wolkenstein, in 2016, weakens Petitioner's intimation that the witnesses were previously impervious to persuasion. See Supplemental petition, 9/7/16 at 12.

IV. CONCLUSION

This court has once again evaluated an untimely collateral petition (his third) filed by Mr. Tillery. Petitioner failed, however, to plead and prove an exception to the timeliness provision found in either subsections 9545 (b)(1)(i) or (ii). Additionally, Petitioner was not entitled to habeas corpus relief.¹³ Accordingly, for the reasons stated herein, the decision of the court dismissing the collateral petition should be affirmed.

BY THE COURT:

LEON W. TUCKER, J. /NV

¹³ Petitioner erroneously contended that the Department of Corrections (“DOC”) lacked legal authority for his continued detention due to the lack of a written sentencing order, in contravention of 42 Pa. Cons. Stat. § 9764(a)(8) and 37 Pa. Code § 91.3. See Joseph v. Glunt, 96 A.3d 365 (Pa. Super. 2014) (concluding that the PCRA did not subsume an illegal-sentence claim based on the inability of the DOC to produce a written sentencing order). Upon review, the Honorable John Geisz entered sentencing orders in this matter on December 9, 1986. Additionally, upon reviewing the criminal docket through the Common Pleas Case Management System, Petitioner’s sentence was accurately docketed by the Clerk of Courts of this court. The Superior Court has held that even when the DOC lacks possession of a written sentencing order, it has continuing authority to detain a prisoner. Id. at 372.

MAJOR GEORGE TILLERY

Appellant

No. 3270 EDA 2016

Appeal from the PCRA Order September 26, 2016
 In the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County
 Criminal Division at No(s): CP-51-CR-0305681-1984

BEFORE: GANTMAN, P.J., PANELLA, J., and DUBOW, J.

MEMORANDUM BY PANELLA, J.

FILED JUNE 11, 2018

Major George Tillery¹ appeals from the order entered in the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas, denying his untimely third petition filed pursuant to the Post Conviction Relief Act ("PCRA"), 42 Pa.C.S.A. §§ 9541-9546. We affirm.

Briefly, Appellant was convicted of first-degree murder, aggravated assault, possessing an instrument of crime, and two counts of criminal conspiracy following a jury trial in 1985. The court sentenced him to life imprisonment. This Court affirmed, and the Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied allowance of appeal.

¹ Appellant indicates his name is incorrectly listed on this appeal as "George M. Tillery." See Appellant's Brief, at 1. Previous court documents confirm Appellant has been referred to as "Major George Tillery" throughout associated proceedings. We have corrected the error.

Thereafter, Appellant filed his first PCRA petition, which was unsuccessful. In 2007, Appellant untimely filed his second PCRA petition. In it, he claimed a timeliness exception to the PCRA based on newly discovered evidence. Appellant alleged two of the Commonwealth's witnesses at his trial, Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens, received previously undisclosed favorable plea deals in exchange for their false testimony. Appellant contended these plea deals, previously unknown to him, gave the witnesses motive to lie about Appellant's involvement in the murder. The PCRA court denied the petition as untimely, and this Court affirmed.

Appellant filed this petition, his third, on June 15, 2016. The PCRA court denied the petition without holding an evidentiary hearing. This appeal is now properly before us.

Appellant argues the PCRA court erred in dismissing his petition as untimely. We review an order dismissing a petition under the PCRA by examining whether the court's determination is supported by the evidence of record and is free of legal error. See Commonwealth v. Halley, 870 A.2d 795, 799 n.2 (Pa. 2005). We will not disturb the court's factual findings unless there is no support for them in the certified record. See Commonwealth v. Carr, 768 A.2d 1164, 1166 (Pa. Super. 2001). Moreover, a court may decline to hold a hearing on a petition if it determines the petitioner's claim is patently frivolous and is without a trace of support either in the record or from other evidence. See Commonwealth v. Jordan, 772 A.2d 1011, 1014 (Pa. Super. 2001).

The timeliness of a post-conviction petition is jurisdictional. See Commonwealth v. Hernandez, 79 A.3d 649, 651 (Pa. Super. 2013). Generally, a petition for relief under the PCRA, including a second or subsequent petition, must be filed within one year of the date the judgment is final unless the petition alleges, and the petitioner proves, an exception to the timeliness requirement. See 42 Pa.C.S.A. § 9545(b)(1)(i)-(iii). A PCRA petition invoking one of these statutory “exceptions must be filed within sixty days of the date the claims could have been presented.” Hernandez, 79 A.3d at 652 (citing 42 Pa.C.S.A. § 9545(b)(2)). Finally, exceptions to the PCRA’s time bar must be pled in the petition. See Commonwealth v. Burton, 936 A.2d 521, 525 (Pa. Super. 2007). See also Pa.R.A.P. 302(a).

Appellant’s judgment of sentence became final on June 3, 1990, when his time for filing a writ of certiorari with the United States Supreme Court expired. See 42 Pa.C.S.A. § 9545(b)(3); U.S. Sup. Ct. R. 13. Appellant filed this petition on June 15, 2016—more than 26 years after his judgment of sentence became final. It is, as he concedes, patently untimely. See Appellant’s PCRA Petition, filed 6/15/16, at 5. Thus, the PCRA court lacked jurisdiction to review Appellant’s petition unless he was able to successfully plead and prove one of the statutory exceptions to the PCRA’s time-bar.

Appellant attempts to plead both the governmental interference exception and the newly discovered facts exception. He proffers the same evidence for both claims: signed affidavits from two witnesses in his case, Emanuel Claitt and Robert Mickens. In their affidavits, the men aver they received favorable plea deals and other favors from the Commonwealth in exchange for their testimony, and that they lied when asked about any potential plea deals during Appellant's trial. Claitt and Mickens also allege various police detectives and the Assistant District Attorney prosecuting Appellant's case repeatedly threatened them with criminal charges, which coerced them to provide testimony falsely incriminating Appellant.

To demonstrate the governmental interference exception, "the petitioner must plead and prove the failure to previously raise the claim was the result of interference by government officials, and the information could not have been obtained earlier with the exercise of due diligence." Commonwealth v. Abu-Jamal, 941 A.2d 1263, 1268 (Pa. 2008) (citation omitted). To claim the newly discovered facts exception, a petitioner must plead and prove that "the facts upon which the claim is predicated were unknown to the petitioner and could not have been ascertained by the exercise of due diligence[.]" 42 Pa.C.S.A. § 9545(b)(1)(ii). "[D]ue diligence requires neither perfect vigilance nor punctilious care, but rather it requires reasonable efforts by a petitioner, based on the particular circumstances, to uncover facts that may support a claim for collateral relief." Commonwealth v. Brown, 141 A.3d 491, 506 (Pa. Super. 2016) (citation omitted).

Appellant devotes much of his brief to disputing the PCRA court's dismissal of his petition, on the grounds that Appellant failed to prove he acted with due diligence. Appellant contends he had no way of knowing before he received these affidavits that the Commonwealth orchestrated a conspiracy to keep him in jail, and requiring him to have investigated this matter in the 31 years between his trial and the filing of this PCRA petition placed an unreasonable burden on him. Appellant also argues the conditions of his incarceration prevented him from filing a PCRA petition sooner. Appellant chronicles his movements between various prisons, as well as stints in solitary confinement, as evidence that he was unable to file this petition at an earlier date.

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court previously evaluated the argument that prison conditions constitute a timeliness exception to the PCRA, and rejected it. See Commonwealth v. Albrecht, 994 A.2d 1091, 1095 (Pa. 2010) (holding inmate's failure to show restricted conditions of incarceration were illegal prevented him from obtaining timeliness relief under PCRA's governmental interference exception).

Also, Appellant's contention that he was unable to obtain this information sooner is belied by his second PCRA petition, filed in 2007. In it, Appellant accuses the Commonwealth of suborning perjury from Claitt and Mickens, and he provides various transcripts and letters as proof. While Appellant's 2007 petition lacks the signed affidavits from Claitt and Mickens attached to his current petition, he raises substantially the same arguments in each. The claims here merely expand on the arguments in the 2007 petition, and he offers only vague speculation that Claitt and Mickens would have been unwilling to provide such information before. We find such explanations unavailing.

Consequently, we find Appellant has failed to prove he acted with due diligence in discovering these allegedly new facts and governmental interference. Accordingly, we affirm the order dismissing his PCRA petition as untimely.

Order affirmed.

No. 3263 EDA 2017

Appeal from the PCRA Order September 12, 2017
In the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County Criminal Division at
No(s): CP-51-CR-0605611-1980

MEMORANDUM BY BOWES, J.:

FILED NOVEMBER 16, 2018

William Franklin appeals from the September 12, 2017 order dismissing his pro se PCRA petition pursuant to Pa.R.Crim.P. 907 as untimely. After thorough review, we vacate the order and remand for an evidentiary hearing.

Appellant was arrested and charged in the 1976 murder of Joseph Hollis and attempted murder of John Pickens, and tried before a jury in 1982. This Court summarized the trial court's account of the facts as follows:

The relevant crimes were committed during a meeting on October 22, 1976[,], which occurred between two rival syndicates engaged in illegal narcotics operations, the "North Philadelphia" and "West Philadelphia" groups. The purpose of the meeting allegedly was to reconcile differences between the two syndicates[,], which had arisen two days earlier when Hollis insulted Alfred Clark, the leader of the North Philadelphia organization, by questioning his credentials as a "real gangster" and slapping him in the face with a gun.

J-S46011-18

The meeting on October 22, 1976 was attended by approximately ten people. During the meeting, [A]ppellant and Major Tillery, a member of the North Philadelphia syndicate, drew weapons from underneath a pool table and shot Hollis and Pickens; Hollis died as a result of the shooting. Emmanuel Claitt, also a member of the North Philadelphia group, testified that he had no prior knowledge of the shooting and that he was standing by the door during the meeting to prevent anyone from entering or leaving. Based on information supplied by Claitt, [A]ppellant was arrested four years later. Claitt's evidence was given in return for leniency from the Commonwealth relating to other open cases.

Commonwealth v. Franklin, 580 A.2d 25, 27 (Pa.Super. 1990).

At the conclusion of the jury trial, Appellant was convicted of first-degree murder, conspiracy, possessing an instrument of crime ("PIC"), and aggravated assault. He was sentenced on July 7, 1982, to a mandatory term of life imprisonment without parole for the murder, and concurrent terms of five to ten years imprisonment for aggravated assault and conspiracy, and a concurrent term of two and one-half to five years imprisonment on the PIC conviction.

Appellant's judgment of sentence was affirmed by this Court on direct appeal, and the Supreme Court denied allowance of appeal. Commonwealth v. Franklin, 488 A.2d 1163 (Pa.Super. 1984) (unpublished memorandum) (app. denied June 24, 1985). Appellant filed a timely first PCRA petition, counsel was appointed, and an amended petition was filed. After an evidentiary hearing, the petition was dismissed. This Court affirmed the dismissal, Commonwealth v. Franklin, 580 A.2d 25 (Pa.Super. 1990), and allowance of appeal was denied. Commonwealth v. Franklin, 593 A.2d 415 (Pa. 1991).

Appellant filed the instant PCRA petition, his second, more than thirty years after his judgment of sentence became final. He alleged that his petition was timely based upon the timeliness exceptions for governmental interference and newly-discovered facts. The pertinent newly-discovered fact was the recent declaration of Emanuel Claitt, the sole witness against Appellant, "that his testimony was entirely false," and that "it was manufactured by the prosecution with the assistance of police detectives and secured by threats, coercion and favors." PCRA Petition, 7/18/16, at ¶8. In support of the governmental interference exception, Appellant pled that he was prevented from demonstrating his innocence at trial "because the Commonwealth concealed its actions presenting false evidence and withheld exculpatory evidence in violation of Brady v. Maryland[, 373 U.S. 83 (1963),] and Napue v. Illinois[, 360 U.S. 264 (1959),] and due process principles[.]" Id. at ¶9.

Appellant averred further that Claitt made a sworn declaration on behalf of Appellant's co-defendant Major Tillery on May 4, 2016, and a supplemental sworn declaration on behalf of Appellant on June 3, 2016, recanting his trial testimony implicating Appellant in the murder. These facts became known to him within sixty days of the filing of the petition when Tillery's attorney forwarded the declaration to him. He pled further that Claitt's recantation was unknown to him and could not have been ascertained earlier with the exercise of reasonable diligence. Appellant attached to his petition the declaration by Claitt dated June 3, 2016. Appellant also filed a supplemental PCRA petition in which he provided witness certifications for Helen Ellis and Denise Certain, as well as homicide unit logs and correspondence, that he alleged corroborated Claitt's claims that the Commonwealth gave him favorable treatment and sexual favors in return for his perjured testimony.¹

Although Appellant invoked the newly-discovered fact exception to the timeliness bar, and offered declarations and witness certifications in support of the timeliness of his petition, the PCRA court issued Rule 907 notice of its intent to dismiss the petition as untimely.² The court stated therein that the PCRA petition filed July 18, 2016, based on Claitt's declaration recanting his testimony dated May 4, 2016, was filed more than sixty days after he could

¹ Appellant filed a witness certification that he intended to call Helen Ellis to testify at the evidentiary hearing. He provided her address and date of birth. He represented that Ms. Ellis would testify that "she had sex with Emanuel Claitt in the Roundhouse homicide interview room and that arrangements were made by detectives who brought her up to him." Certification of Helen Ellis as a Witness, 10/28/16, at 1.

The witness certification for Denise Certain also contained her identifying information, and the substance of her proffered testimony was virtually identical. In addition, however, Appellant represented that Ms. Certain would identify her signature on the Roundhouse login sheet for December 14, 1983. See Certification of Denise Certain as a Witness, at 1.

² Pennsylvania Rule of Criminal Procedure 907(1) provides in pertinent part:

If the judge is satisfied from this review that there are no genuine issues concerning any material fact and that the defendant is not entitled to post-conviction collateral relief, and no purpose would be served by any further proceedings, the judge shall give notice to the parties of the intention to dismiss the petition and shall state in the notice the reasons for the dismissal have first presented the claim, and hence, untimely. Furthermore, Appellant's failure to contact Claitt during the intervening thirty-five years, despite having every reason to question and investigate that witness, did not meet the requisite showing of due diligence. The court also found that witness certifications from Claitt and two other witnesses were legally insufficient, and that affidavits were required to support the claim. Finally, the court stated that Appellant had failed to demonstrate how the government had suppressed evidence of the two witnesses, Ms. Ellis and Ms. Certain, and additionally, that he had not filed the petition within sixty days of accessing this information.

Pa.R.Crim.P. Rule 907(1).

Appellant filed a response objecting to dismissal, in which he clarified that he filed the petition within sixty days of receiving Claitt's declaration. In support of that contention, he attached an affidavit from his co-defendant's attorney who had mailed the declarations to him. Appellant also challenged the court's affidavit requirement, citing authority that witness certifications were sufficient under the PCRA. Finally, Appellant cited Commonwealth v. Medina, 92 A.3d 1210 (Pa.Super. 2014) (en banc), Commonwealth v. Loner, 836 A.2d 125 (Pa.Super. 2003) (en banc), and Commonwealth v. McCracken, 659 A.2d 541 (Pa. 1995), wherein courts had rejected the notion that recantation could have been discovered earlier with due diligence, and which discussed the need for an evidentiary hearing. Nonetheless, on September 12, 2017, the court dismissed the petition as untimely without a hearing.

Appellant timely appealed, and he presents three issues for our review:

J-S46011-18

- I. Whether the PCRA court erred where it dismiss[ed] Appellant's PCRA petition without a hearing, where Appellant invoked an exception under 42 Pa.C.S. § 9545(b)(1)(i); 42 Pa.C.S. § 9545(b)(1)(ii)[,] and 42 Pa.C.S. § 9545(b)(2)?
- II. Whether the prosecution violated Appellant's state and federal constitutional rights to due process, a fair trial, and his right to present a viable defense?
- III. Whether the prosecution violated the rule pronounced in Brady v. Maryland, where the prosecution withheld material, exculpatory evidence from the Appellant?

Appellant's brief at 4.

On appeal from the denial of PCRA relief, our standard of review compels us to determine whether the ruling of the PCRA court is supported by the record and free of legal error. Commonwealth v. Lesko, 15 A.3d 345, 358 (Pa. 2011). We will review an order dismissing a PCRA petition in the light most favorable to the prevailing party at the PCRA level. Commonwealth v. Ford, 44 A.3d 1190, 1194 (Pa.Super. 2012).

Generally, a petition for post-conviction relief, including a second or subsequent petition, must be filed within one year of the date the judgment is final, unless the petitioner alleges and proves that one of the three exceptions to the time bar applies. "A judgment of sentence becomes final at the conclusion of direct review, including discretionary review in the Supreme Court of the United States and the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, or at the expiration of time for seeking the review. 42 Pa.C.S. § 9545(b)(3)." Commonwealth v. Hernandez, 79 A.3d 649, 650 (Pa.Super. 2013). The merits of a PCRA petition cannot be addressed unless the PCRA court has jurisdiction. Commonwealth v. Albrecht, 994 A.2d 1091, 1093 (Pa. 2010). Jurisdiction does not exist if the PCRA petition is untimely filed. Id.

Appellant conceded that his petition was facially untimely under 42 Pa.C.S. § 9545(b), but pled the applicability of the newly-discovered fact and governmental interference exceptions set forth in § 9545(b)(1)(i) and (ii):

- (i) the failure to raise the claim previously was the result of interference by government officials with the presentation of the claim in violation of the Constitution or laws of this Commonwealth or the Constitution or laws of the United States;
- (ii) the facts upon which the claim is predicated were unknown to the petitioner and could not have been ascertained by the exercise of due diligence;

42 Pa.C.S. § 9545(b)(1)(i) and (ii).

It is the petitioner's burden to allege and prove that one of the timeliness exceptions applies. See Commonwealth v. Smallwood, 155 A.3d 1054, 1060 (Pa.Super. 2017). Regarding the newly-discovered facts exception, "a petitioner must demonstrate that he did not know the facts upon which he based his petition and could not have learned those facts earlier by the exercise of due diligence." Commonwealth v. Brown, 111 A.3d 171, 176 (Pa.Super. 2015) (citations and quotation marks omitted). In addition, a petitioner must plead and prove specific facts demonstrating that his claim was raised within the sixty-day time frame.

As to the governmental interference exception, the petitioner must plead and prove that government officials interfered with his ability to present a timely PCRA claim. Appellant alleges that he only recently learned that the Commonwealth offered Claitt preferential treatment in pending cases and sexual favors to testify against Appellant.

The law is well settled that, “[q]uestions regarding the scope of the statutory exceptions to the PCRA’s jurisdictional time-bar raise questions of law; accordingly, our standard of review is de novo.” Commonwealth v. Robinson, 185 A.3d 1055, 1059 (Pa.Super. 2018) (en banc) (quoting Commonwealth v. Chester, 895 A.2d 520, 522 n.1 (Pa. 2006)).

In its Pa.R.A.P. 1925(a) opinion, the PCRA court found that Claitt’s favorable treatment in pending cases was thoroughly explored at trial. Furthermore, it characterized the recantation claim as “garden variety,” and found that Appellant had not exercised due diligence as he failed to contact Claitt in three decades. PCRA Court Opinion, 12/27/17, at 5. Moreover, the court maintained that the claims of misconduct were so “outlandish” and “unreliable” as to permit a credibility-based dismissal without an evidentiary hearing.³ Id. at 9. The court distinguished Medina and Commonwealth v.

³ The exception for newly-discovered facts only requires that a petitioner “prove that the facts were unknown to him and that he exercised due diligence in discovering those facts.” Commonwealth v. Bennett, 930 A.2d 1264, 1270 (Pa. 2001). Although the PCRA court based its ruling in part on a lack of due diligence, it also prematurely assessed the merits of the underlying

Davis, 86 A.3d 883 (Pa.Super. 2014), as “extremely fact specific, presenting unique circumstances.” PCRA Court Opinion, 12/27/17, at 7.

We find that Appellant properly pled exceptions to the time-bar and offered sufficient support to merit an evidentiary hearing on the timeliness of the petition. Our decisions in Medina and Davis are instructive in this regard. In Medina, the petitioner invoked the newly-discovered fact exception to the PCRA time bar based on recantation testimony from the primary Commonwealth witness, who was a child when he testified. Appellant filed the petition within sixty days as required. In that case, however, the PCRA court afforded the petitioner an evidentiary hearing on the timeliness issue, and thereafter concluded that he had presented credible evidence that his petition was timely filed. On appeal, the Commonwealth argued that the petitioner had not demonstrated due diligence. This Court concluded that the petitioner had no way of knowing that the two children had lied at trial because a detective had threatened them. Furthermore, we found that a reasonable investigation could not have revealed these circumstances since even the prosecutors claimed at the PCRA evidentiary hearing that they did not know of the detective’s conduct. We reasoned that if the prosecutors did not know, petitioner and his counsel had no reason to look for such evidence, and claim. See Commonwealth v. Cox, 146 A.3d 221 (Pa.Super. 2016) (rejecting notion that newly-discovered facts exception involves a merits analysis of the underlying claim).

concluded that the petitioner's efforts were reasonable under the circumstances. Id. at 1217.

In Davis, supra, the testimony of two witnesses contributed heavily to petitioner's 1972 conviction of robbery and first-degree murder. In 2008, the petitioner filed a PCRA petition in which he pled that he discovered facts establishing that the witnesses had testified pursuant to an undisclosed agreement with the Commonwealth, and that one of them had committed perjury. Id. at 886. The PCRA court found that the newly-discovered facts were publicly available in court transcripts with the exercise of due diligence, and that petitioner had failed to satisfy the timeliness exception of Section 9545(b)(1)(ii). We disagreed, holding that the petitioner's efforts were triggered when he received the affidavits signed by one of the witnesses. As to the undisclosed deal offered by the Commonwealth, which the witnesses had denied at trial, we held that the petitioner had no reason to seek out transcripts of the testimony of the witnesses in unrelated cases to look for such evidence. In other words, due diligence did not require the petitioner to assume that the witnesses were committing perjury sanctioned by the Commonwealth.

The primary issue herein with regard to the newly-discovered fact exception is whether Appellant exercised due diligence in learning that the prosecution's principal witness against him recanted his testimony.⁴ As we recognized in Commonwealth v. Burton, 121 A.3d 1063, 1070 (Pa.Super. 2015), the due diligence inquiry is fact-sensitive and dependent upon the circumstances presented. Furthermore, "due diligence requires neither perfect vigilance nor punctilious care, but rather it requires reasonable efforts by a petitioner, based on the particular circumstances, to uncover facts that may support a claim for collateral relief." Burton, supra, at 1071.

Herein, Appellant pled timeliness exceptions and supported their applicability with witness certifications and documentary evidence. The PCRA court erred in rejecting the proffered witness certifications as insufficient. See Commonwealth v. Pander, 100 A.3d 626, 639 (Pa.Super. 2014) (citing Commonwealth v. Brown, 767 A.2d 576 (Pa.Super. 2001)) (holding affidavit requirement is "flatly contradicted by and is in clear derogation of both the PCRA statute and the rules of criminal procedure"); see also Commonwealth v. Reid, 99 A.3d 427, 438 (Pa. 2014) (holding that procedurally, "a signed certification as to each intended witness stating the witness's name, address, date of birth and substance of testimony" is sufficient to obtain an evidentiary hearing on an ineffectiveness claim for a failure to present witness testimony).

We find that Appellant has raised genuine issues of material fact regarding the timeliness of the instant PCRA petition. An evidentiary hearing is warranted to permit him to establish governmental interference, or to prove that he was duly diligent in discovering the recantation, and that he filed this petition within sixty days of when the claims could first have been presented.

Accordingly, we vacate the order dismissing the petition and remand for an evidentiary hearing on the timeliness issue. We direct the PCRA court to consider Appellant's request that counsel be appointed, as well as his application for discovery.

Order vacated. Case remanded for further proceedings consistent with this memorandum. Jurisdiction relinquished.
